STRUNG UP TO A TREE.

A Midnight Mob Storms the County Jail at Ellensburg.

THE VINSONS TAKEN OUT.

Father and Son Then Choked to Death in the Heart of the City.

FIREBELLS GAVE THE SIGNAL

The Sheriff and His Deputies Resisted, But Were Speedily Overcome.

BOTH THE VICTIMS DIED GAME

They Were Killed as the Result of a Saloon Fight Last Sunday.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ELLENSBURG, Wash., Aug. 1.—At midnight a mob battered open the steel cell in the county jail, took out Sam and Charles Vinson, the two murderers of Sunday's killing affray, father and son, took them three blocks to the residence portion of the town and strung both up to one tree.

AN EXCITING STORY

SEATTLE, Aug. 1.—An Ellensburg special to the Post-Intelligencer says:

At 12 o'clock last night the fire bell rang and a crowd was at the county jail inside of three minutes battering on the steel cage.

For an hour and a half the blows of hammers resounded on the still night air and at 1:30 Sam Vinson and his son Charles, the murderers of Sunday, were led out by the mob, with ropes around their necks.

The victims were walked three blocks, and a small silver poplar, eight inches in diameter chosen.

The ropes were thrown over the first limb and father and son hauled up by willing hands.

Their feet were not over a foot from the ground, and the two men were choked to death with their faces within six inches of each other.

After the death of "Dutch John" this afternoon an uneasy feeling began to manifest itself, and as evening came on it grew in intensity.

At 9 o'clock, when the streets are usually deserted, knots of men could be seen all over town, and it was apparent that trouble was coming.

Sheriff Stinson was very active and had extra deputies on duty at the jail.

He had arrangements made that the ringing of the fire bell should be the signal that the mob was under way.

THE ATTACK ON THE JAIL.

Promptly at 12 o'clock the bell rang, and almost simultaneously the guards were overpowered and the outer jail doors soon passed.

The steel cage was stubborn but the mob was determined.

After the wretches were secured they assumed a dogged silence.

The old man never spoke, but Charles pulled back and struggled some.

Ropes were hustled along, however, and several telegraph poles were tried without snaking the leaders.

When near the fatal tree young Vinson spoke his only words, saying:

"I hate it on my mother's account. You'll be sorry for this."

The last word was uttered as the tightening rope checked off his breath.

The father was strung up a moment before the son, and some one in the crowd said, as Charles was swung up: "Your pa is up there. Go up and see him."

Both men were allowed to hang for some time and the crowd slowly dispersed without firing any shots into the bodies.

There were six other prisoners in the jail, but none were molested and nobody but the two murderers were hurt during the proceedings.

WHY THEY WERE LYNCHED.

Charles Vinson was the man who gave away his comrades with whom he conspired to hold up a Northern Pacific train last April.

The robbers were caught at their rendezvous, where they were ready for work.

A jury at Ellensburg refused to convict the robbers on Vinson's testimony.

Charles Vinson and Sam Vinson, his father, were drunk and raising a disturbance all last Sunday at Ellensburg.

About 6:45 o'clock in the evening they entered the Teutonic saloon and picked a quarrel, during which Charles shot Mike Kohlopp, one of the proprietors.

The ball entered the right breast and the victim died half an hour later.

John Bergman, well known as "Dutch John," went to the defense of Kohlopp, when the elder Vinson stabbed him in the right breast, inflicting a horrible wound from which Bergman died Tuesday.

After Kohlopp was shot he grappled young Vinson, threw him to the floor and dealt him several blows, but was forced to desist by failing strength. Samuel Vinson and his son came from Allen, Mason county.

The younger man had served a year in the penitentiary.

Dyspepsia cured by using Adam's Tutti-Frutti Chewing Gum after each meal.

A FEMALE SUICIDE.

She Made a Good Job of It and Accomplished Her End.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHARLESTON, Mo., Aug. 13.—Mrs. R. T. Martin the wife of a prominent farmer living near this place, committed suicide yesterday by hanging herself to a rafter in the smokehouse.

Before she hung herself she set fire to a lot of rubbish that was in the smokehouse and the flames burned the rope which she was hung with.

The body fell into the fire and was terribly burned.

Several cartridges that were among the rubbish were discharged by the fire.

The awoke her husband, but too late to save her.

A CHALLENGE TO ALL.

Offer to Match John R. Gentry Against All the Pacers.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Myron McHenry, the trainer of John R. Gentry, has issued the following challenge:

"I will match John R. Gentry against any pacer in the world for $500 a side.

"I will match Gentry against Joe Patchen and Robert J. in a three cornered race for $5000 a horse, the distance to be within fifty feet of the wire and the winner to take the entire $15,000 and the purse offered by the association under whose auspices the race is run.

"The race must be upon the track offering the most money."

OFF TO THE CAPITAL.

The Supervisors Armed and Ready for the Fray.

Arguments Against An Increase by the State Board.

There will be a large representation of Alameda county officials at the meeting of the State Board of Equalization at Sacramento tomorrow when the question of raising the county assessment will be heard. The notice from the State Board that was sent to the supervisors some days ago is construed to be a citation to the Board to appear and show cause why the assessment should not be raised.

Acting upon this interpretation of the notice the Supervisors decided to go before the State Board in a body and present their case. The supervisors will be flanked in their fight by County Assessor Dalton who will go to the scene of battle primed and loaded with a mass of argument to present against the proposed raise.

Accompanying Supervisors Bailey, Church, Johnston, Talbott and Pelouze, who left at noon today for San Francisco, where they will proceed to the capital on the afternoon boat was County Clerk Frank Jordan.

Assessor Dalton burned the midnight oil last evening with his attorney W. R. Davis getting the data and material into shape for his fight against the proposed raise. Dalton's contention is that the assessment of this year is $1,000,000 higher than that of 1894 which was left untouched by the State Board. He claims that there are no circumstances to warrant the State Board in touching his figures. He says the total raise over last year was $8,000,000 but as this was materially cut by the Board of Supervisors it left the net increase a little over $1,000,000.

The supervisors are not anxious for an increase and will make a strenuous fight to prevent any change in the rolls as they now stand.

It is asserted that there have been no great improvements in the county during the past year which would justify the State Board in imposing a heavier burden upon the taxpayers at this time.

An estimate based upon the assessment roll at $80,000,000 would if a 5 per cent raise is ordered make a very material increase that would impose a greater burden on the taxpayers than the situation seems to justify. That is the argument made by the supervisors and Dalton on this phase of the matter.

POISONED A WELL.

The Residents of an Indiana Village Taken Sick.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CROWN POINT, Ind., Aug. 14.—Excitement is at fever heat at Horsford Park, a little town near Ross Station, on the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway, seven miles north of this city.

Sheriff Hayes received a telegram that an attempt was made to poison the whole village and the sheriff with several deputies left at once for the scene.

The fifty inhabitants of that village attended a dance Monday night and as a result Charles Williams, Miss Reisig and two girls from Chicago, are not expected to live.

During the evening some person placed arsenic or strychnine in large quantities in the water pail.

The dancers drank freely of it and about twenty were poisoned before it was discovered.

They all commenced vomiting. Most of them are better this morning except the four, who will probably die.

The water was examined by a physician who pronounced the poison arsenic.

WILL WORK FOR GOD.

Miss Alice Sheffield to Join the Salvation Army.

A SACRIFICE FOR OTHERS.

She Gives Up a Fine Position Across the Bay.

CHURCHES TOO CONSERVATIVE

An East Oakland Girl Takes a Determined Step.

Miss Alice Sheffield, formerly entry clerk and stenographer for Borgstedt & Co. of San Francisco, has resigned her position to devote her life to the Salvation Army.

Miss Sheffield, or as she is called by her friends "Allie," lives with her parents in a cozy little home at 471 Fifth avenue, East Oakland. She is of the pure Anglo-Saxon type. A fair complexion with sunny hair and laughing childish eyes of blue. Her features are regular showing a determination of character which will carry her through the hardships of her chosen life where many would fail.

When asked if the report were true that she had joined the Salvation Army she answered:

"Yes, it is perfectly true, and as a step

MISS SHEFFIELD.

I have been preparing for some time. I have always been a member of the church and worked in the cause of religion. I attended Dr. Hobart's church; the First Baptist, and am a member of the Christian Endeavor and also had a class in the West Oakland mission. I had been with Bonestell & Co. for over six years, but on the 3d of this month I handed them my resignation. I could not hold my position with them and do the Army work too. I have filed my application with the Army, but as yet I have not heard from it. You have to send in your application, you know, accompanied by a recommendation from the officer in charge of the barracks from which you apply. If my application receives a favorable consideration I shall then have to submit to a medical examination and if I pass that I shall enter the garrison in San Francisco to obtain the proper education for the work that is before me. This schooling lasts for at least four months. With some, of course, it takes longer. None go through in less."

"Have you chosen the branch of service you will follow?" asked the reporter. "There is more than one branch, is there not?"

"Oh, yes, there are three divisions—what we call slum work, rescue work and mission work. At the training garrison the work is selected for you. They assign you to whichever division you appear most adapted. Now, of course I have my preferences, but, under those circumstances, don't you think I would be perhaps a little forward in telling you so that you can put it in a newspaper?"

The reporter assured her that no harm could come from her telling of it.

"Well, I won't tell you anyhow," she replied, "because I don't—well, yes, I will, too. I want to go into the Rescue Corps. I don't know whether or not they will assign me to that work, but I hope they will. My whole heart is wrapped up in it. If they think, however, that I am better fitted to some other branch, of course, I shall go into it and work as hard as I can."

"No," she continued in response to a question, "none of my family are members of the Salvation Army, but they did not object to my joining. They just allowed me to follow the dictates of my own heart and my heart is ahead of me in my work. I want to give my whole life to it and I hope they will accept my application."

The reporter, to divert her mind from an apparently painful thought, asked if she were successful in securing a lieutenancy in the Rescue Corps would she be assigned to duty in Oakland.

"That I do not know. I shall probably be sent away some time, and I want to go where I can do the most good. Wherever I am most needed I want them to send me," replied the little woman.

"Now that you have joined the Army, will you renounce your allegiance to the church?" was asked.

"No, not necessarily," she said. "You see I joined the Army because it reaches a class of people that never go to church and the church never goes to them. Churches are all right, but to completely cover the field both church and Army are necessary. The Army work is more active and that is what I want. I think I fully appreciated the life I am to lead before I made my application."

"Yes, that is my guitar and I am taking lessons on it now," continued Miss Sheffield in response to a question. "Music is part of the Army work. We are not supposed to deprive ourselves of everything that tends to enjoyment, but my taking lessons is more to fit myself for my coming duties than my own amusement. It seemed strange to march on the streets for the first time. I have been with the Army as a soldier several times. The costume seemed strange, but I soon grew to like it and now I am as proud of my bonnet as can be."

"Is this your photograph?" asked the reporter, calling her attention to a photograph in the room.

"Oh, that; yes, but I must put that away. See how I had my hair all fluffed on my forehead and see the silk puffs and lace trimmings on the waist. We are not supposed to dress showily now and that picture looks as though I might be vain. See my dress I have on. It has no extra frills and I combed my hair back," and she ran her hand over her hair that, though combed straight back, showed its curliness in little waves. "We don't try to dress fashionably; just comfortably and neatly. Our uniform shows almost the kind of work we try to do. It is a protection to us, too. We can go any place and be sure that we shall not be insulted as we might be if attired in the conventional garb of society," concluded the little woman who will give up home and all that most hold dear to fight the hard battles for the cross and charity.

ANOTHER RECRUIT.

But Miss Sheffield is not the only one who intends to spend her life in salvation work. Miss Ella Fisher of 1104 Broadway has decided to join the Army.

A call for Miss Fisher brought forth a young lady with dark hair and eyes and a pretty petite figure. Like Miss Sheffield, her hair was combed back from a well-shaped forehead and her dress was devoid of worldly trimmings. She is an orphan and lives with her cousin. Her application was filed and the board of officers have passed favorably upon it. In a few days she will go into the garrison to commence her studies for her future work.

"I have joined the Army," she said, "but I don't think I ought to tell it to you to print. It will seem as though we wanted to advertise the Army, and our work is our best recommendation. Miss Sheffield and I joined at the same time, but we have chosen different branches of work. I want to go into what we term slum work; that is, going and living right with the poor and helping them all I can. When they are sick we stay with them and act as nurses. When they are hungry we feed them and when they are poorly clad we clothe them. Of course you understand that is the work I prefer, but it rests with others to assign me, and if they think me better fitted for other kind of service I shall undertake it. Many choose missionary work and now the Salvation Army is known all over the world. In fact, I do not think there is a civilized country on the earth that we have not reached. Like Miss Sheffield, I have been a member of the First Baptist church ever since I have been in Oakland, which is almost five years. I have known her for some time and we joined the Army together."

"Yes, I appreciate that the work will be hard," she concluded, "but it is not work to me to be forever doing good; to know that I was always helping someone would be the greatest pleasure that this life could give."

The Amphitrite Defeats the Yampa and Wins Easily.

Accident to the Niagara During a Crack Contest at Cowes.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

COWES, Aug. 11.—In a westerly breeze this morning, R. S. Palmer's crack American schooner cruiser Yampa and Frederick Wills' English cruising schooner Amphitrite started in a race for a prize of £100 over the old Queen's course of 50 miles.

The contest grew out of the fact that the Yampa won Lord Iveagh's £200 cup Wednesday over the same course, the Amphitrite being second. Wills protested against the cup being awarded the Yampa on the ground that the latter carried nine men in her crew in excess of the number allowed by the rules governing the contest.

The Yampa allowed the Amphitrite 7 minutes, 41 seconds today.

At the start at 10 o'clock the American schooner had the weather berth but in the beat to the first mark at Lymington spit the Amphitrite drew ahead and rounded it with a lead of 12 minutes, 50 seconds.

At Ryde pier the Amphitrite had a lead of 13 minutes, 28 seconds.

The Amphitrite won easily without her time allowance. She was sailed by Captain Gomez of the Meteor.

THE RYDE RACES.

RYDE, Aug. 14.—In the regatta of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club today the Inoyni, Luna, Audrey, Niagara, Vinita, and Isolde, started in a race for twenty raters over a twenty-five mile course.

When the Niagara had lead on her competitors off Ryde, her sail was carried away and she was compelled to retire.

The Audrey won, Isolde second, Inoyni third.

A FALSE SYMPATHY.

F. R. Girard Protests Against a Vicious Maudlin Sentiment.

CRIMES OF THE CONTRA COSTA

An Appeal to the Manhood of Stockholders in the Company.

METHODS STRONGLY ATTACKED

Unscrupulous Competition Is Subjected to Criticism.

Editor Tribune—Sir: It is possible that the Contra Costa Water Company has overreached itself at last.

During many thrifty years it has profited by overreaching the citizens of Oakland, and so accustomed has the grasp of the corporation become to the throats of the people that rather than resign the pleasure of a grip which it now feels steadily but surely loosening, it has lifted a suicidal clutch to its own throttle.

It has been decried by the supersensitive and maudlin contingent who yelp at the heels of individual members of the corporation that any attack upon that immaculate aggregation of capital and gall must immediately result in "sympathy" for the poor, down trodden, persecuted ex-monopoly. Censure or criticism of the acts of the corporation must be incontinently construed as unwarranted, wanton, gratuitous and the martyred victim must receive aid, comfort and "sympathy" in consequence.

Human nature is the same in every age and under all conditions. The greatest criminals, the most depraved monsters have counted in their following "sympathizers" who went because a cruel, remorseless, relentless justice had seized upon these abnormal creatures and proposed to strangle them, to the end that their continued existence should not imperil the lives of other human beings fit to enjoy the blessings of this earthly residence.

Heretofore in recording the history of the Contra Costa Water Company whenever it has been necessary to charge delinquencies and crimes upon its management at this "sympathy" has arisen as a bar to further procedure—like the statute of limitations in legal robberies it has intervened to protect the pachydermatous hide of a soulless corporation from a continuous flogging at the hands of those who might be justly aggrieved against it.

It is possible, therefore, that in the present instance this "sympathy" will be invoked, and notwithstanding the flagrant character of the outrage that has been brought home to the corporation, there will be found people who will deprecate the indignant protest of the citizens who last Sunday witnessed the willful, wanton waste of millions upon millions of gallons of pure water at Alvarado.

It will be urged in defense of the Contra Costa baths and vandals that they have the right to waste this water because they have leased the wells and pay for the coal used in operating the pumps. The same apologists would contend that a man may beat his dog to death if he can show a title of ownership, or that he may, with a clear conscience and inhuman impunity, lay the lash upon the bare back of the child indisputably and unfortunately his own offspring.

But such specious argument will not convince men endowed with common humanity that the Contra Costa Company can acquire any such rights—the members of the corporation cannot beat their dogs or their children without at least a semblance of just cause, and they cannot be acquitted of criminal complicity in the wasting of this water on the salt marshes of Alvarado.

There must be some decency left among the stockholders of the corporation, even if the management of that concern has lost all sense of shame. It is not expected that the men who control the affairs of the company and who are directly responsible for all the crimes of the corporation would even blush to confess that they lay awake nights plotting new devilments for the discomfiture of their business rival, but among those who merely own stock in the concern there must be some who have the manhood to protest against the outrages that the management is continually perpetrating.

It is not expected that these stockholders could subordinate the gratitude they owe the source of their dividends to their sense of justice so far as to acknowledge openly that the cutting of a business rival's water pipes, the destruction of his flumes, the filtering of salt water into his supply and the wasting of mill ons of gallons of pure, fresh water in the absurd effort to injure the business of a legitimate competition are heinous offenses worthy of emphatic and indignant condemnation. These stockholders are but human, after all. The almighty dollar is the god at whose shrine they bow down and worship, never questioning how the mire and filth came upon the feet of their idol or what may be the unclean sources of the golden blessings bestowed in answer to their prayers.

But even these people, profiting by the villainies of their fiduciary sponsers, cannot in their hearts approve of the means that are being adopted to preserve the integrity of a tottering institution. The consequence cannot rest easy under the burden of the thought that they are beneficiaries of a concern that has merited the contempt and indignation of the best citizens of the community.

It is not often that the people are called upon to rebuke a corporation as they have decided to do in the present instance. But it cannot be urged even by "sympathizers" that such public discipline is too severe. The arrogance of this corporation as a monopoly and its contemptible condemnation of the competitor of an enterprise that is dealing fairly and honestly by the people deserves all the censure that has been leveled at it and all the indignation that will be expressed at the mass meeting tomorrow night.

The wasting of 3,000,000 gallons of water fit for human consumption is a matter that merits more than passing condemnation by individuals. Those who are guilty of this outrageous method of conducting their business should be made to feel that they have finally placed themselves outside the pale of the business community. They must be made to understand that they cannot with impunity carry their hatred and their spite to such an extreme as has been proved against the Contra Costa Water Company. It is no longer a question of patronage or supremacy; it is no longer a contest in between two companies struggling for public support; it is a matter that vitally interests and intimately concerns the personal welfare of every citizen and every lover of fair play, every honest, right-minded, justice-loving resident of Oakland will be in attendance at this assembly on Thursday evening to give moral support and countenance to a movement that will meet with the approval of the majority of the community irrespective of the "sympathy" that can find flimsy excuses for the bastardly actions of the present management of the Contra Costa Water Company.

GRAPE GROWERS GAY.

A Magnificent Crop Is to Be Harvested Up North.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Aug. 14.—Prospects are looking bright for the grape growers of Sonoma county this season.

Many wineries have been doubled in their capacity and arrangements are being made for a heavy run when the grape crushing begins.

At Windsor there are three big wineries, and all have been increased in capacity.

Twelve dollars per ton is being offered for grapes now and cash will be paid.

The grape crop will be a fair one, and it looks now as if the grape growers will realize better results than any other class of fruit growers in Sonoma county.

None of the canneries are yet running at full blast. Fruit is coming in very slowly.

The growers seem to be holding off for higher prices and the canners will not pay a high price.

GENERAL INDICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The official returns for August show that the prospective fruit crop of the country, taken as a whole, is much larger than for several years.

The report of the European agent of the agricultural department for August shows fair crops in most countries except Great Britain.

Muhlner Now Says He Made a Mistake About the Time.

The Dying Girl's Father Tells of the Prisoner's Actions.

HIS DESPERATE LOVE-MAKING.

Some Remarks Which Are Now Being Construed as Threats.

Jennie Lewis, the unfortunate young woman who was shot at the residence of Prof. [illegible] Mooar of the Pacific Theological Seminary, [illegible] Edwards street, last Monday evening, is still lying in a com[illegible] condition at the receiving hospital. It is the unconsciousness that will [illegible] to her death, though it can not [illegible] be told when dissolution will take place. The girl is regularly attended by [illegible] Jamison, who is assisted by [illegible] and [illegible] and receives the [illegible] attention from Steward Victor and Matron Bennet of the institution.

[illegible] care is supplemented by that of Mrs. Lewis, [illegible] mother, who arrived from San Rafael last night, her uncle, Chas. Garrison, who is a baggageman on the railroad between Tiburon and Ukiah; a cousin, Mr. Stepp of Tiburon, and a number of friends of the family of whom there are many in this city. There have been many callers at the hospital, mostly young ladies, all of whom have displayed the greatest solicitude for the condition of the wounded girl.

They have tendered their kind offices and expressed a willingness to aid the parents of the unfortunate girl in any way possible. These tenders of sympathy and assistance are gratefully received by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, both of whom are bearing up bravely under their misfortune. Mr. Lewis has had only two hours' sleep since the news of his daughter's shooting reached him in San Rafael. He is an intelligent little man, and though greatly troubled by the [illegible] act of the miscreant, still he displays no animosity toward Muhlner, the man who is now in jail suspected of shooting the girl. He believes, however that no person save Muhlner had anything to do with shooting Jennie, though he expresses himself in measured terms on the painful subject. He was interviewed by a Tribune reporter this morning, and in response to questions said:

"There is no doubt in my mind as to who shot my daughter. I believe it was Muhlner because of what I know of the relations which existed between him and Jennie and because of what I have heard since my arrival here. Muhlner was violently attached to Jennie. He wanted her to marry him and persisted in his requests almost whenever he met her. He was getting good wages at Point Reyes, perhaps $75 a month. He used to spend a great deal of this buying presents for Jennie, which he wanted her to accept or to wear for a time anyway, even if she were not disposed to accept them as the gift of a lover. But Jennie would not accept any of them and could not bear to have anything to do with his presents.

"One time Muhlner bought a gold watch valued at $75 or $80 and offered it to her in the presence of a number of people in the residence of P. Reinhold at Point Reyes. He wanted her to accept the watch and to then and there pledge herself to become his wife. But Jennie told him she could not accept the watch, that she could not consent to marry him, and that she did not want to discuss the subject with him. He put the watch in her hand and she put it back in his. She would not keep it. He had a diamond ring at the time. He put it on her finger and it fitted her well, I believe, and she handed that back to him also. He begged her to wear it for a time anyway, if only as a friend, but she would not keep the ring under any circumstances. Jennie acted in this way under my instructions because I have always told my children not to accept presents from gentlemen.

"When Muhlner found that Jennie had come here to friends he followed her, though she maintained the same distant relations with him that she did up in the country. She kept me informed of what was going on. But she was so kind hearted she could not hurt his feelings by throwing him off and compelling him to leave her alone. She used to think that if she did any more than tell him that she did not love him it would hurt his feelings. He continued however, to try and induce her to accept presents from him, but she refused them and she wrote me several times that she had come to fear him when it became necessary to decline his presents."

THE MONEY MATTERS.

The reporter then referred to the fact that one of Muhlner's letters to Jennie contained a reference to money as follows: "About the money, well you need not be uneasy about it. Keep it as long as you choose. I am in no hurry about it and never had any idea you got it just to fool me. I know you too well to be as mean as that."

"I will explain that as well as I can," said Mr. Lewis. "Muhlner used to insist upon Jennie getting her teeth fixed and I believe he offered her money to get them done by a dentist. She wrote to me about it and I told her that if it was necessary to have her teeth repaired I would work around and, after a while get the money for her, but that, as her teeth were not in bad condition, she might as well wait to have the repairing done until she had money enough herself to pay for the work. I believe she did have a little work done on her teeth, but whether the bill is all paid yet or whether Muhlner advanced money to enable Jennie to pay for the work I don't know. I don't know whether the dental work was done in this city or San Francisco."

THE THREATS.

On the subject of the alleged threats by Muhlner against Jennie, Mr. Lewis was disposed to be reticent. It was only after earnest persuasion on the part of the reporter that the father of the girl consented to touch on the subject at all.

"Muhlner threatened Jennie right in my own house in San Rafael. But I did not hear of it until after my arrival here and Jennie had been shot. Since my wife's arrival here, she has told her brother, Mr. Garrison and a lady, a cousin of Jennie's of the threats heard by the members of my family. My wife is now at a friend's house here for a short time.

"Last Saturday, on his way to this city, Muhlner stopped at my house in San Rafael. I was away from home that day. I did not return until late at night. Muhlner told my wife that he had learned that Jennie was going to a ball in Germania Hall in this city, that night. He said he had found it out in a certain manner and that he was going to Oakland and would 'fix Jennie in such a manner that she would never go to that ball.' He left San Rafael, came to this city and now Jennie is shot. My wife forgot to tell me about the threat, I guess, or else she was afraid that I might cause some trouble if I noticed that she had some fear that the threat would be carried into execution."

Muhlner arrived here Saturday afternoon, called on Jennie soon after his arrival and, according to his own story, learned from her that she was going to the ball with Charles Miller. He did not carry out his threat, however.

In this connection, it may be stated that since the publication of Muhlner's story in yesterday's Tribune, the suspect has seen fit to change the recital of his goings and comings to and from the Mooar residence on the day of the shooting. Muhlner is a crafty fellow. He has been reading the papers and, in the Tribune which appeared his story that he had called at the Mooar residence at 2:30 P. M., Monday and remained there until 2:45 P. M., he found published also the story of Miss Mooar that she had left home at 2:30 o'clock P. M. or thereabout and that Muhlner was not there at that time. That was one contradiction. Then there was the story that Professor Mooar had worked around the parterre in front and on the side of the house, until about 3 P. M. and that, up to that time, Muhlner had not been seen at the Mooar residence. The professor also left home in the vicinity of 3:15 P. M. going to the cars on Telegraph avenue en route to San Francisco, and at that time, his latest corrected time, Muhlner was not there.

Then P. J. Shafter says that Muhlner, whom he had known in the vicinity of Point Reyes, passed his (Shafter's) residence, going east on Edwards street toward the Mooar residence at 3:30 o'clock. Muhlner admits the fact of passing Shafter's but says that it was at a much earlier hour than that of which Shafter is positive.

That was Muhlner's story yesterday when he said he had passed the time between 2:30 and 2:45 P. M. at Mooar's, but now that he claims he left Jennie at 3:15 o'clock P. M., another change as to the time of his going thither must also be made.

These stories of Muhlner are intended to try and establish an alibi as are also the stories as to his having visited the Montana saloon at Ninth and Broadway and the Oak saloon at Seventh and Washington streets. In the first place, however, Muhlner is unknown and at the second place his presence there cannot be located more definitely than between 3 and 5 o'clock P. M. Shafter of course will be an important witness, as will also Letter Collector Leber, who, when collecting his mail opposite Shafter's house on Edwards street at 4 P. M. Monday, informed Shafter of the trouble at the Mooar residence.

The shooting took place somewhere between 3:30 and 4 P. M. and thus far none of the people to whom Muhlner has referred to corroborate his story as to his whereabouts between 3:30 P. M. and the time he alleges he took the 4 P. M. train for San Francisco have afforded him any assistance.

His later statements as to having played cards in San Francisco at 5 P. M. Monday may be true, but he could have been at the Mooar residence at 3:30 P. M. and even later and still have taken the boat so as to arrive in San Francisco in time to indulge in cards at the hour mentioned.

Another circumstance considered suspicious is the fact of his surrendering himself to the police so early Tuesday morning, the day after the shooting. Ordinarily, a man who is off on a vacation prefers to rest in the morning.

But Muhlner must have risen with the lark that morning because he surrendered at 5:45 o'clock A. M.

The fact of his surrender is construed by some friends to be an evidence of Muhlner's innocence, but the police say he brought his cunning into play, knowing that he could not escape the officers of the law who were watching for him everywhere, also that an attempt at escape would be proof of his guilt.

THE PRISONER'S ACTIONS.

Muhlner is placed beyond the visits of reporters under Chief Lloyd's order, and no one will be allowed to see him until further notice.

He was called on by his mother and his brother's sister Mrs. W. F. Muhlner yesterday evening. His mother's home is at 32 Fell street, San Francisco. She was overcome with grief when she met her boy in jail. Muhlner was sitting on a bench. When his mother met him and threw her arms around his neck he did not arise from his sitting position. The mother was given her son's watch and about $20 in cash which he had on his person when arrested. On his fingers at the time of his arrest Muhlner had two rings of the style generally worn by women. Each was of gold wire, one containing three small green stones in a band across the top of the finger. The other had a solitaire diamond. This is the ring, which, Jennie's father says, Muhlner wished her to wear.

The police, however refused to allow these rings to leave their possession, for the reason that they may have something to do with the case.

This morning Muhlner received a telephone message from Point Reyes. He was brought to the 'phone in the chief's office when the substitute in his position at Point Reyes consulted him as regards proposed improvements about six miles from the Point.

A GLIMPSE OF CONSCIOUSNESS.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon Jennie Lewis, while surrounded by her father, mother, Charles Miller, and the matron of the hospital, opened her eyes and looked in an intelligent manner at those near her. Everybody thought she was going to speak. After a gaze of about a minute the eyes of the girl closed again and the silence she has maintained since Monday evening remained unbroken.

THE OLD BOARD WINS.

Omaha's Police Tangle Will Be Settled by the Courts.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

OMAHA, Aug. 14.—The situation of the Omaha police muddle has not changed materially.

Since an early hour the City Hall has been surrounded by a large crowd, mostly curiosity-seekers.

No effort has been made to disperse them.

The A. P. A. commission met at 10 o'clock at the rooms reserved for their use by the City Council. The quarters were crowded by probably 200 sympathizers.

A letter was sent the old commission asking a conference, without, however, stating the object.

The old commission agreed and a meeting is now in progress in the mayor's office.

After an animated discussion the old fire and police commissioners refusing any compromise except on a basis of permitting the Supreme Court to pass on the situation the A. P. A. commission consented and it was agreed the old commission should continue to conduct the offices of the city until the decision is rendered.

This was considered a definite settlement.

Lyons on a Tear.

Inspector Lyons, who is in charge of a sewer that is being laid in North Oakland, took to omuch liquor yesterday, and entering Barbarias' saloon, discharged his pistol several times. The proprietor chased him with a hatchet, but the two subsequently effected a reconciliation on the promise that Barbarias would be recompensed for the damage to his place.

A PLOT THAT FAILED.

THEY WANTED TO BREAK JAIL.

Berry Wrote for Guns and Tools With Which to Escape.

MURDEROUS THREATS MADE.

Sheriff White Intercepted All the Letters in Time.

The drug store robbers' trial in Judge Frick's court developed a sensation this noon, when Assistant District Attorney Church introduced a letter in evidence which contained details of a scheme by which Berry Holland hoped to smuggle weapons into his cell and fight his way to liberty.

Holland had inveigled his wife Rose into the scheme and had laid out a course for her to follow in getting the pistols which he intended to use to effect his escape.

The plot was discovered by Jailer White, who has been making copies of all the mail matter sent out from the prison by the Hollands and Oppenheimer.

The following is a copy of a letter sent by Berry Holland to his wife. It was copied by Jailer Lane. The original was mailed and Mrs. Holland admitted on the witness stand she had received it.

The letter is as follows, immaterial matter being omitted:

"Aug. 4, 1895.

"Dear Rose: . . . I was sorry when you sent my clothes there was no date on the shirt, as I have been living in hopes all the last week. I suppose you know as well as I do that this is the only way I can get out, and if I don't make it this week I am good for life, which is not very pleasant to think of neither for you nor for me, for if I have to go to trial it will take all of our property to fight the cases and even then we are sure to go over for life after what Ross said, and it seems like a —— shame for us to go to States prison when those things only cost a few dollars, and even a child could send them in when all they have to do is to come up and tie them on a line. And we will do the rest. If it is not done in the next few days there won't be anybody to put the line out for them and it will be all over with us. I expected you to use part of that money to get them with and you would have enough left to live on until I get out, and I will have some money to send you to live on before I am out two days.

". . . Now you must get the things ready to get them in the next few days, the sooner, the better. And you must try and get in to see me as soon as possible so as to let me know the night so that I can have the line out. You must have a note written and in the note you must say that Mr. Lancaster from Berkeley will have some money for me on a certain day and that he wants me to make out a receipt for it to give to you for him and whatever date you put down I will know that is the night you are going to send the things in. . . Now don't forget. You have a diagram of the cells and wall where I am. If there ain't a string out of the cell I marked down, it will be out of the other cell window, in the same part of the jail, and it may be in the cell up near the office. You can feel the line by running your hand along the wall and there is no one in the office after it gets late in the night. There is no danger at all, if there is no noise made. It is the wall across from the mill where Alice Long works and faces Washington street. . . ."

A postscript says: "Dearest Rose whatever you do please don't drink anything this week as long as I am here, for they won't even let you in to see me if you do, and I want you to work for me, for you are the only one I can trust and they watch me like a hawk in here. You did not say anything to Dan, I hope, when you went to ask him for the tobacco. Please look out for yourself, now, for if you don't you may do me more harm than good and I am in a bad enough fix already. BERRY."

MORE PREPARATIONS.

Another letter written Tuesday morning following related further preparations of the plotter. It read:

"Dear Rose: For fear the jailers won't give me a note if you send it in I will tell you how you can let me know the night you are going to send the guns in. If it is Tuesday night you must bring me some round steak; Wednesday night, some pork chops; Thursday night, some mutton chops; Friday night, some fish of some kind; Saturday night, some raw sliced ham; Sunday night, some salt pork and a dozen eggs; Monday night a piece of cheese. . . . I hope I will soon be out of this place so that I can see you both once in a while, and before long I can have you both with me in another State. "BERRY."

As indicating the desperate character of the writer of the letters Jailer White was informed by one of the prisoners that Berry Holland had said he would kill every man on the floor of the jail and fight his way out over their dead bodies if an attempt was made to check his escape.

THE DAY'S EVIDENCE.

There were no other important features developed. Captain Wilson and ex-Chief of Police Schaffer testified as to masks, clothing, pistols and other property found in the possession of the Hollands when they were arrested in San Francisco. Several employes of the Standard lodging house of San Francisco testified that the Hollands had occupied the rooms in that house where they were arrested.

Clerk Crawford of the Police Court testified to one prior conviction of Berry Holland. Then Mrs. Holland, William Lane and Sheriff White testified as to the foregoing letter.

Mrs. Holland never attempted to carry out the plan. A close watch was kept, but she did not attempt to assist her husband. It was believed she became frightened because of the exposure of a prior plot.

The prosecution closed its case with the introduction of the letter.

Colonel T. F. Garrity waived an opening statement for the defense. His first witness was Mrs. Rose Holland.

BROKE THE RECORD.

The St. Louis Makes a Flying Trip Across the Atlantic.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SOUTHAMPTON, Aug. 14.—The American line steamer St. Louis arrived at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and has broken the best eastward record.

The St. Louis left New York August 7th, clearing Sandy Hook lightship at 1:11 P. M. of that day.

Her time passage was 6 days, 19 hours, 3 minutes.

The best previous eastward record was made July 3d last and was 6 days 22 hours minutes.

The best eastward record was held by the Fuerst Bismarck.

SNOW IS SATISFIED.

He Will Not Assess the Seventh Street Railroad Line.

City Assessor Snow is of opinion that the Seventh street railroad line should be assessed by him, in view of the fact that the State Board has already assessed it as part of the general system of the railroad company. The county assessor has assessed the line at $667,000, but Mr. Snow says no doubt the railroad will refuse to pay its taxes on the road in case he should assess it the second time. In that event the city would be obliged to buy in the road, as it would be sold for delinquent taxes. No doubt litigation would ensue which would prove extremely expensive for the city. Mr. Snow says he is satisfied from personal observation and experiment on his part that the road is part of the main line.

Superintendent Wilder, it will be remembered, testified that a ticket could be purchased at the ticket office near Seventh and Broadway to any point on the line of the road and that no extra charges would be made for permitting a person with such a ticket to ride to the mole. Mr. Snow recently put his contention to a test and found that Mr. Wilder was correct in his statement.

Brother Arrests Brother.

D. Kinner and his wife were taken into custody today for disturbing the peace. They called at a planing mill at Second and Washington streets and upbraided Sidney Kinner, the foreman and brother of the arrested man, accusing him of trying to defraud them of $500. The arrested man and his wife were somewhat under the influence of liquor at the time.

NO WRIT OF MANDATE.

A. D. Thomson Loses His Fight for the Livermore Road.

Judge Ellsworth Gives a Decision in Favor of the Board.

Attorney Sam Bell McKee and District Attorney Snook resumed their argument this morning before Judge Ellsworth in the matter of the application of Arthur D. Thomson for a writ of mandate to compel the Supervisors to accept his bid for a franchise for an electric road from Fruitvale to Livermore.

Judge Ellsworth asked the counsel many questions showing that he leaned to the opinion that all the bids in the case were illegal. He was inclined to the view that the proposition of both Thomson and Vandercook to pay a percentage of the income of the roads was uncertain in that the proposition did not stipulate the trips, passengers or traffic that would be done upon which to base the estimates of income. He saw it would be impossible to arrive at how much the county could realize from either bid. The statue, he thought, contemplated that the franchise should be awarded to the highest bidder, for so much money. The bids were identical as to the money consideration of $25, but the question then arose whether or not Thomson's second bid was legal.

"Was it in the power of the board to give one of the bidders," asked Judge Ellsworth "an opportunity to put in still another bid after the previous tenders had been read?"

It did not seem to the court that such a course would be fair in a private transaction.

Attorney McKee contended that the statue did not recite anything on that point. He said the law did not prescribe the bidders to make formal written tenders. They could, he contended, be made viva voce, if desired.

The argument, however, was mainly directed to the question whether the bids could be considered as cash offers on the basis of the percentage propositions. Judge Ellsworth inclined very strongly to the view that they were not and hence were illegal.

THE JUDGE DENIES.

This afternoon Judge Ellsworth denied the application for the writ of mandate on two grounds; first, that the Board of Supervisors has discretion in the matter of awarding franchises, and secondly because there must be a cash bid. He held that both Vandercook and Thomson had offered a cash bid, namely, $25 each, although the offer of Thomson was not made until after the original bids had been opened and read in the meeting of the Supervisors. These cash bids, the court held, negatived each other.

Sam Bell McKee, counsel for Thomson, gave notice of appeal. He says the court's decision, in effect, nullifies the requirement of the statute that the Supervisors in the matter of granting franchises must award the same to the highest bidder.

TO FORCE THE FIGHT.

An Attorney's Plan to Get Hawaii for Uncle Sam.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 14.—Captain Judson N. Cross, a prominent attorney, mailed President Dole this afternoon a letter containing the novel suggestion that Hawaii elect delegates to the American Congress and demand that they be seated on the same basis as territorial delegates.

Congress, Captain Cross says, would seat them.

The Siedentopf Case.

The Siedentopf case was taken up late this afternoon by Judge Ellsworth who had occupied the early portion of the day, in hearing arguments in the Shomson application for a writ of mandate.

GIRARDO'S TOMALE GROTTO

Made by an Expert Spanish Chef and manufactured daily from the Finest Materials. Not to be confounded with inferior Tomales that have been foisted on the Oakland public.

PRIVATE ROOMS FOR LADIES AND FAMILIES.

13th and Broadway---C. F. GIRARDO, Prop.

GIRARDO'S TOMALE GROTTO

A Resort That Will Gladden the Hearts of Epicures.

The Only Place in This City Where Good Tomales May Be Eaten and Seen Made.

The palate is sensitive to no keener enjoyment than that afforded by a succulent tamale, provided the delicious and fragrant morsel is cooked and made with first-class materials and by a competent chef who understands the subtle fascinations of Spanish cookery.

There is now one place in Oakland where such a tamale may be procured—Girardo's Tamale Grotto, located at the northwest corner of Broadway and Thirteenth streets.

Oakland is fortunate in having so competent a chef as Mr. Girardo. The vigorous and terrible preparations sold for years on the street corners of Oakland have disgusted [illegible] lovers of tamales, and they will be glad to know that an era of clean wholesome prime tamales has commenced.

Mr. Girardo has been a Spanish chef for twenty years in the principal seaside resorts of the East and California. He understands how to make those delicious stews which have glorified Spanish cookery, and without a doubt he makes the finest tamale ever sold in California. The tamale, as made by Mr. Girardo, is a dream, combining a mixture of the finest peppers and sauce with fragrant Spanish spices and the very best chicken. The tamales are manufactured only from 12 to 3 o'clock P. M., and the public is cordially invited to see the operation.

Although the Grotto has been open only a few days, it is already receiving an extensive patronage. Girardo's Grotto is becoming a feature of Oakland's restaurant enterprise.

There are cozy private rooms for ladies and families. Girardo's is the only place in Oakland where Spanish dishes are cooked by a first-class Spanish chef.

And withal the prices at Girardo's are reasonable, the service is perfect and everthing conduces to make the establishment an exclusive resort for the Oaklander who likes good living and Spanish cooking.

A FIRST-CLASS MAN.

Frank M. Leland Has Built Up the Hayward Road's Popularity.

Frank M. Leland, the well known superintendent of the Oakland, San Leandro & Haywards electric line, has resigned from that road with a view of broadening his scope of operations. Mr. Leland is an expert in his business. Under his supervision the Haywards line was built and the work was done in a first-class manner. Having built it he was made its superintendent and in that capacity quickly displayed his executive ability and clearheadedness. He ran the road in first-class style, got the best rolling stock, handled the men satisfactorily to the company and to themselves and gave the public a splendid service.

Mr. Leland was the first to use airbrakes on electric cars and the whistle which is heard on the Haywards road is the result of his genius. He also designed and built the electric locomotive used by the company in its express business. Another of his inventions is a motor to work an airbrake in the same manner that airbrakes are operated on steam roads. During his superintendency the road has enjoyed an immunity from accidents and has earned the goodwill of the people throughout the territory in which it plies.

MAY GET HIS $600 BACK.

Tax Collector Barber Tells Why He Put Up the Money.

Whidden's Friends Say That They Have Strong Cards to Play.

County Tax Collector Barber says there has been some misunderstanding of the reason why he paid $600 of the shortage which was discovered in his office when the final settlement of last year's taxes was made in July.

"The fact is," said Barber today, "that I felt it my duty to reimburse the county for all that portion of the $1100 deficit which could not be definitely traced to other sources than those over which I had control. The amount paid represents all the deficit that has not been traced. Although the money has been paid to the county, there is an opportunity for me to recover it, provided I locate the shortage in some other administration. If it is found that my end is all right, I shall have a just claim against the county for the return of the money."

Friends of Myron Whidden declare that the situation will not be so black for him after the investigation is commenced. They say there will be some developments at that time that will place an entirely different light upon the transaction which has been made public to date in connection with the scandal.

County Expert Davis has concluded all the arrangements for commencing work upon the books, but he will make no move until he receives instructions from the grand jury.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 14, 1895.

The land of 6,000 Bulgarians on a Turkish town, and the indiscriminate slaughter of the inhabitants, matches to some extent the raid of Turks and their comrades on Armenian towns. The Turks are still a long way ahead in these atrocities. Bulgarians, when driven to it, may be as savage as any border ruffians. Some day not far distant Europe may become so weary of the unspeakable Turk as to sink the dagger, and to hasten his retirement with force.

It will not give pleasure to most people to read that 501 crates of cantaloupes and 200 crates of water melons were this week thrown into the bay by the commission men of San Francisco, together with a lot of pears and plums, because the market had been overstocked. The poor of the city would have been glad of the fruit. A notice that they could have it gratis, would have cleaned out the market. But that was not business. It might have reduced the number of buyers of the next consignment. Trade knows nothing of the poor.

When Ferdinand, the nominal Prince of Bulgaria, had taken himself out of the way for a time in order that his former prime minister, who was offensive to Russia, might be murdered he supposed that he had so won the regard of that power that he would be confirmed in his office. He is now told substantially by Russia that he is not wanted, that he never had a valid title to the throne and never would have one. That is Ferdinand's reward for hypocrisy and treachery. It is that phase of humanity that even a throne does not elevate.

The projected railway to Mount Tamalpais has been advanced a step by the surveys and estimates that have been made. There is little doubt that this enterprise will be carried to completion. The Mount Low railroad in Southern California, ascends a much higher mountain than Tamalpais. It has met the expectations of its projectors. The road now to be constructed is within easy reach of half a million of people. It would always furnish one of the most attractive scenic mountain excursions in the world. Mount Diablo will some day invite a similar undertaking.

The rumor that Mrs. Stanford will employ 300 Japanese to gather grapes in the Vina vineyard is not a pleasant one. The employment of Asiatics would displace just about that number of white people who would be glad to have the employment. When the Central Pacific Railroad was constructed many thousands of Chinese were employed, and the profits were greatly enhanced by this cheaper labor. Some of these gains probably went into the Vina ranch. Of course it would be in the line of precedents if another force of Asiatics were now employed to gather the produce of these fields. But better things on behalf of white labor might just now be expected.

The Fruit Growers in the Toils.

If the fruit growers of California were of one mind there would be an end of the contest in Chicago and other cities as to closed auction houses for the sale of fruit. At present the jobbers seem to have things all their own way, because the fruit men are divided in opinion and practice. Both plans of open and closed auctions have been tried. The results ought to furnish a sufficient guide for the future. If the fruit growers would refuse to make a single consignment of fruit to any house that does not admit freely the competition of all buyers, there would be nothing further in the contest. There are millions involved in the proposition. If competition can be crushed out the jobbers will make these millions at the cost of the fruit growers. They will probably have fruit to sell below what it has cost to produce and ship it. There will be the old story of returns on the wrong side, while the jobbers have put a good margin of profit in their own pockets.

Santa Clara county is raising a fund of $20,000 for the purpose of advertising abroad the fruits of that county. That is well. There is not another county in the State that has on hand a similar undertaking. But if the fruit men are to be caught in the toils of the middle men of Chicago and constantly fleeced, what will be gained by spending more money in advertising the fruits of one or all other counties? It would be a still greater misfortune if the fruit growers, now in full sight of victory in this contest with the Chicago jobbers, should finally lose sight of it.

By the Fast Train.

When the first railroads were constructed in this country the rate of speed did not exceed twelve miles an hour. When the strap iron rails were exchanged for the more modern ones the speed was increased from fifteen miles to twenty miles an hour. It seemed to many that such swift traveling was next to flying. Then came the heavier rails and larger locomotives, with other improvements until it was possible to travel at the rate of sixty miles an hour. The average speed of express trains is now hardly less than forty miles an hour, shading down to thirty-five miles. The fact that a locomotive can be sent over steel rails at the rate of sixty miles an hour does not establish that as the maximum rate of travel. The wear and tear are greatly increased and the cost of transportation must necessarily be greater. There has never been a rate of speed over railroads too great for the public, provided the cost was not increased.

Now comes the proposition that within five years cars will move on railways at the rate of 150 miles an hour. The new Tesla electric motor is to do the business. This is a greater speed than the swiftest bird attains by more than twenty miles an hour. There will then be no call for flying machines when passengers can be whisked over the rails swifter than any creature that has ever had wings could go through the air. But there are no railroads in the country that could sustain such a concussion as would be involved. Nor are there any cars in existence that would stand the racket. But there is the promise of responsible manufacturers that safe cars will be constructed. These conditions having been established, the tourist might start from San Francisco early in the morning of a summer day and reach Chicago in time for his dinner; and if he wanted to push through to New York he could be landed there—provided he ever landed anywhere alive—in a little more than twenty-four hours from his time of starting on this side of the continent. A lawyer was once examining a locomotive engineer in a damage case as to what would be the difference in results to passengers in flying the track at thirty miles or fifty miles of speed. The engineer said he thought the lower rate of travel would do the business, so that it would not make any difference with the passengers. But if the new electric cars were to leave the track at the enormous rate of speed proposed, it is not likely that any of the passengers would ever be called on as witnesses.

There are, of course, economic considerations that will always have weight in regulating high rates of speed. No railway corporation will do business long for the fun of it. The old dream of flying is evidently to be revived. There is a wonderful fascination about it. If a railroad company were to offer to transport passengers from San Francisco to Chicago by daylight there would probably be a rush for the swift train. But at present, most conservative people must be content with sixty miles an hour, with the assurance that if they go off the track at that rate they will have little occasion to call for the flyers.

No Extra Session.

Some of the eastern journals are raising the question about the extra session of Congress, the occasion being the stronger outflow of gold to Europe and the vacancy on the Supreme bench. Neither of these facts, nor both together, would justify the calling of an extra session. The financial condition of the country is better than it was when Congress adjourned. In the first half of July the expenditure of the Government exceeded the receipts by about $18,000,000; but in the last half the receipts were brought up so that the deficit for the month was about $9,500,000. If that rate were kept up the deficit for the year would exceed a hundred millions. The income tax has been thrown overboard, and that of course has increased the gap.

The reserve has again been drawn down until it now does not much exceed $100,000,000. President Cleveland has not heretofore thought it expedient to call an extra session of Congress to meet any such crisis, but has ordered a sale of bonds to meet the case. He is vested with authority to do the same thing again. The decline of the gold reserve is not an encouraging fact. Congress will be in regular session in less than four months. There is no pressing exigency for the immediate appointment of another Federal Judge. The vacancy was made by a man who for years had been able to render very little service on the bench. The vacancy does not make matters much worse. No judge appointed by the President would consent to sit until he had been confirmed by the Senate. Unless a very great financial crisis should occur—and that is not expected—there will be little occasion for an extra session of Congress.

The Speaker in Parliament.

A Speaker of the English House of Commons has just been re-elected by that body, in which there is a large majority not of his own party. As a matter of fact, when a Speaker takes office he has no party. His politics must be absolutely colorless. The large Conservative majority could have elected a man from their own party. But they selected a Liberal from the minority on the ground of his superior qualifications. Such proceeding as the election of a speaker of Congress from an opposition minority was never witnessed in this country. The present Democratic House would not have elected a Republican speaker. The next House with its large Republican majority would not give the minority party the slightest chance for such an election.

There is another difference. The speaker of Congress is always a strong party man. He leads his party in the House. He has more power in this respect than the President. He appoints a majority of every committee from his own party. For the time being he shapes to a large extent the policy of the country. When his term expires he falls back into the ranks and nearly or quite disappears from public life. He does not carry the dignity nor the emoluments of his office into private life. The English speaker cannot shape the legislation of the country. He has little or no patronage. He satisfies the nation when he presides with absolute impartiality. After a term of honorable service he has a pension comportable with the dignity of his new title when he is elevated to the House of Lords.

Ex-Speaker Crisp, who witnessed the English election, must have found a striking illustration of the difference in the two offices. The American speaker may have even more ability, as he certainly has far more power for a time. But he cannot look forward to any pension, nor to any elevation to a higher office unless he may have some ambition to be President. The speakership does not lead in that direction. Thomas B. Reed may be the next speaker of Congress. It will be enough for him that he takes his politics into office, and that he will rule with such a strong hand as to sustain his title of "Czar" of the House.

If the report is true that there are now 1,000 laborers at work on the Panama canal and that there is money enough on hand to employ 10,000 men for two years, it would look as if the great work might yet be carried to completion. Of the $200,000,000 expended not more than half of that amount ever went into honest work on the canal. Another hundred millions would probably accomplish more than has been done up to this date. The fact that work has been resumed there may expedite work on the Nicaragua canal.

IN THE EYE OF THE WORLD

A translation into French is in preparation of the historical and critical essays of John Morley.

Princess Maud, the youngest daughter of the Prince of Wales, wears a monocle in her eye whenever she appears in public.

Persigny, the most unscrupulous of Napoleon's agents in bringing about the coup d'etat, left memoirs, which are soon to be published in Paris.

What was probably the last appearance of Gladstone in the House of Commons was made on March 1 1894, when he quitted the treasury bench.

Editor D. B. Cook of the Niles (Mich.) Mirror has been a printer 68 years. He is now 80 years old, but can stick type as rapidly as any compositor in his office.

In his life of Henry M. Stanley, Mr. Thomas George says that the explorer's real name is Howell Jones, and that he was born at Ispar, in Wales, Nov. 16, 1840. His father was a bookbinder.

Mme. Casimir-Perier has followed the example of her husband, the ex-President of France, has learned to ride on the bicycle. She practices daily with Mme. De Boqueney, the wife of the former "introducer of ambassadors."

John Burroughs, the essayist and naturalist, says the golden orioles bother him a great deal. These birds are regular topers in their love for grape juice. They stick their beaks into the grapes, suck up the juice, and three or four birds are able to ruin several tons of grapes in short time.

Mr. Fustarao Tokano thinks the contentment of the lower classes of Japanese a great misfortune. Their artistic simplicity which foreigners admire he considers a great obstacle to progress, and he thinks it the imperative duty of Japanese friends of humanity to agitate until Japanese labor becomes as discontented as American.

Descartes' works are to be published in a complete edition for the first time by a committee of French scholars, aided by the government. Printing will begin next year, and it is hoped will be finished by 1900. The committee asks for help in collecting copies of letters and manuscripts preserved in public libraries and private collections.

LOUISIANA'S MOLASSES.

Millions of Gallons Yearly That Planters Don't Get Rid Of.

At the last meeting of the Louisiana Sugar Planter's Association the old and vexatious problem of what to do with the surplus molasses which now accumulates with every cane crop was discussed and it was determined to make the fact known that the planters had this excess of molasses every year and would like to get rid of it for almost anything. The molasses is of a low grade, worth only a few cents a gallon, not enough to pay for the barrelling and shipping to market. Last year some planters dug immense ditches or ponds in their fields, in which the molasses was dumped, to be kept there in case any demand arose for it.

It was hoped at that time that it could be used in the manufacture of rum. A factory was established for the purpose, but it utilized only a very small part of the molasses; indeed, the Louisiana molasses crop would easily make 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 gallons of rum annually or far more than the country needs, enough to keep it drunk for months at a time. When the last cane crop was harvested and manufactured into sugar and molasses, there being no demand for the latter, it was largely dumped into the Mississippi and its tributary bayous. This made little difference to the Mississippi, but Bayou Teche, considered the most beautiful stream in Louisiana, and a favorite place of residence, has been almost ruined by molasses. Enough of the latter was poured into it to cause fermentation, kill the fish, and create odors worse than those which blow from Hunter's Point.

But in spite of the rum refinery, the dumping of millions of gallons of molasses into the river and bayous, and the use as fuel for the sugar houses and as food for stock, there are still some 25,000,000 gallons of molasses left over from last year's grinding which the planters are anxious to get rid of or to find some use for. They will soon begin grinding again and will turn turn out another 25,000,000 gallons of surplus molasses, and they have no room for it. The molasses is worth nominally 6 to 8 cents a gallon, or say, $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 for the crop. It was worth $6,000,000 or more a few years ago.—New York Sun.

Science and Industry.

The introduction of doors made of glass is a novelty originating, it appears, in Boston, and of which the following explanation is given by the papers of that city. A sheet of ground or plain glass is taken of any desired size and coated on one side with a liquid device of the proper color to represent any preferred wood, the dye being applied by means of a sponge in delineating the grain of the wood to be exhibited upon the surface of the glass, the shade being softened by the use of a badger brush. Photographer's varnish is then made to flow on the glass leaving the grain clear and fast, without resorting to any gelatinous substance, with its liability to crack and of course damage the whole effect. In completing the operation the glass is slightly heated, and the various shades of dyes applied for the particular wood to be represented are dexterously applied to it by means of a syringe. To prevent the fine shadings from merging into each other the glass is heated, the whole being then made of semi-transparent appearance by applying another coat of photographer's varnish, thus preventing the dyes from being effaced while the exterior surface exhibits all the characteristics of a highly polished and solid wood finish.

CALIFORNIA'S USEFUL BUGS.

Farmers Wonder What They Will Eat When the Parasites Go.

California is having great luck in her experiments of importing insects to prey on and exterminate the various parasitic pests that have caused so much damage to vines and orchards; but a few cautious people are the less bit worried over the voracious appetites of the imported insects and the possibilities of what they may turn to feed upon when all the parasites to their taste have disappeared.

The golden winged lady bird, imported from Australia a few years ago to eat up the cottony cushion scale, has completed that work in most of the southern counties of the State, and has turned its attention and appetite to the woolly aphis on the apple trees. Another beetle, imported to destroy the red and black scale, has also cleared the parasites from several counties, and lately has appeared in great numbers in the corn fields. Just what its mission there is has not been accurately determined. The experts believe, and the farmers hope, that it will destroy the larvae of a destructive bug which eats and destroys much of the sweet corn raised on the coast. What the farmers are beginning to pray fearfully is that the little beetles may not develop vegetarian appetites, and they are also beginning to wonder what the constantly increasing hordes of the new beneficial insects will live on when their natural prey is exterminated. They hope they will contract consumption or some other convenient disease, and reason that doubtless nature will kindly fix up the matter satisfactorily. Some of them bear in mind the fact that the mongoose was imported into the island of Jamaica to kill off the rats which ate up the sugar cane, but now the mongoose has eaten up almost every living thing in the island less than a lamb in size and the Government would give a year's revenue to be rid of the pest.—N. Y. Sun.

EAT SHRIMPS ALIVE.

Chinese Also Like Eggs in an Adolescent State.

The ambitious housekeeper has nothing to learn, apparently, in the gentle art of cookery from the Chinese, save one good principle and the theory of boiling rice, says the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette. The Chinese appetite so far as their cookery books have been investigated leans too far toward flesh and fruits that are an abomination to the stomach of a Westerner, and what they dredge out of the sea in the way of dainty edibles he would put into the garbage can with shivers of disgust. Then ways, as well, of approaching some species of food an American regards as little short of cannibalistic.

For example shrimp, that above all other sea products a Chinese esteems, at a well served table are brought on swimming about in a glass bowl of water flavored with oil and vinegar, which renders the creature hysterically alive. With an unerring thumb and forefinger, the Chinese diner-out plucks forth the struggling fish, nips off the tail at one bite and casts the useless head behind him. Shocking as it may seem to the moral New York housekeeper, the other the egg in China the more perfect from an epicurean standpoint does it become, for no Chinese who has a right regard for his palate eats a fresh one or a boiled egg. Fine fresh eggs are set to soak, after having been washed, in a tub of aromatic water. After a time they are removed and the water used in making a paste of lime and salt in which the eggs are packed in jars. These they hermetically seal and set away to stand for a month, when they are supposed to be fit for eating. Those left packed in the salt and lime for twelve months or more, when opened, are found to have a changed color, solidified partly, and are odorless.

The chief care of the Chinese is to eat nothing cold; warm or hot food they absorb in abundance, but rightly they maintain that cold food lowers the temperature of the stomach beyond the point where digestion can continue and so the whole health of the body is endangered.

Fashion Notes.

The dashing plaid silks will be much used this fall for waists to be worn with plain cloth skirts.

The much-admired box plait now forms part of the back of many of the fashionable skirts. Its graceful effect is due to an interlinig of fibre chamois.

Garden party hats are larger than ever. The daintiest are of white silk mull, trimmed with bunches of white daisies. Those of pink mull with clusters of pink rosebuds are also pretty.

The latest in sleeves is a modernized pishop, which is full from the shoulder to the wrist. It has a lining of fibre chamois to retain its graceful contour.

A new mohair with an almost corded weave will be one of the favorite fabrics for autumn gowns. All-wool Bedford cords will also be the vogue.

The summer girl is wearing a belt of Dresden ribbon which is interlined with fibre chamois. The belt never wrinkles and the ribbon may be changed according to one's fancy. The modish swing of the skirt is also effected by the interlining of fibre chamois.

A ROYAL SHOP.

There Is a Photographic Outfit at Windsor Castle.

There is a brand new project in the household of the Queen at Windsor, a royal department of astronomy having just been established. For several years past Her Majesty has been in the habit of having events that have taken place about the castle and in the grounds photographed that she might have on hand a sort of continuous historical record. This habit has grown very strongly upon her within the past few months, and so many pictures have been taken that the Lord Chamberlain has finally ordered the purchase of a camera and a full set of photographic apparatus. Several of the servants about the castle have had private lessons from a professional photographer on the art of taking pictures and developing them, and a wonderfully complete "dark room" has been fitted up.

Two objects have been accomplished in this way. The first is that privacy is assured and there is no risk whatsoever of the publication of the pictures taken. The Queen is morbidly sensitive in regard to this matter in general, though she does not mind the painting of pictures of herself and an occasional group.

The first pictures taken by the amateurs of the court were a series of photographs of certain farm products. These were a great success, and the Queen has expressed much satisfaction in this new departure. It is planned, as soon as all the details can be arranged, to have all the reports that come to Her Majesty from the various royal palaces of the kingdom accompanied with well mounted photographs.

Mr. Herreshoff's Offer.

Mr. Nat Herreshoff of Newport has made an offer to the Navy Department to build a torpedo boat capable of attaining twenty-seven and one-half knots an hour for $150,000. A short time ago Congress made an appropriation of $150,000 to be used in the construction of three torpedo boats capable of twenty-six knots an hour.

If Mr. Herreshoff's offer is accepted he will use in the construction of the new boat all the principles which have contributed to make the Defender a fast yacht.—Star.

A Chance for Fond Mothers and Fathers.

Every fond mother and proud father are anxious that the photographs of their little ones should be made to do fuller justice to the originals, and to accomplish this the best method is to employ the services of a competent artist. He makes life-size portraits in crayon, India ink, pastel and water color, uses the best materials and employs the highest artistic ability.

His prices are reasonable and his work speaks for itself. Crayon enlargements are made from $1.50, pastels from $5 and water colors from $8. He makes enlargements from photos or from life studies.

SPORTING NEWS

Clever Boxers to Give an Exhibition at the Acme Club.

LIVELY CONTESTS EXPECTED.

Football Boomers Are Already Starting on the Season.

NEWS OF THE LOCAL CLUBS.

The Umpire Trying Hard to Get Baseball Out of a Trance.

The Acme Club has made preparations for a great time on Thursday evening. The "gentlemen's night" promises to be a huge success.

The Reliance Club is arranging the itinerary for the football team's Eastern trip.

A ladies' cycling club has been organized at Berkeley.

The Young Men's Christian Association will hold a field day within a few weeks in conjunction with the Oakland High school.

The California Yacht Club had an enjoyable "jinks" last Saturday night.

THE UMPIRE.

It is very reliably reported that baseball will be seen this winter on the diamonds of at least three prominent California cities. John S. Barnes of St. Paul has secured a lease of Central park in San Francisco and negotiations are said to have been completed for the location of a team in Oakland and one in Los Angeles. There will unquestionably be some good ball playing, for the cream of some of the Eastern leagues will be drawn upon for material to compose the nines. My authority for this bit of interesting intelligence is a dispatch from St. Paul that is quoted by the Sporting News of St. Louis. It appears under the caption of "California to have winter baseball," and is as follows:

"Asked if he had completed arrangements for taking a hand in the winter baseball deal on the coast, John S. Barnes reached into his inside pocket and hauled forth a formidable document, saying as he did so, 'Here is the lease to Central park, San Francisco.' It is hardly likely that John S. will demand any exorbitant price from the managers of the other four teams which will take part in the tournament, because this evening he closed a deal with Comiskey, who wouldn't have closed had any 'squeezing' process been applied. He has, he says, a lease of all the parks of Los Angeles, and has an option on the ball park at Oakland. He will pick a team from the Western and National leagues and locate in San Francisco. Comiskey and his team will locate at Oakland, and Manning very probably at Los Angeles. Manning and Barnes will confer today, and settle their part of it one way or the other. Barnes is also negotiating to take two teams to England—one of white men and another colored."

* * *

The ball season closes in the East about September 15th. Powers of California fame says the year has been a good one for the game. "There has been heavy support accorded the game," says Powers, "by lovers of the sport on the one hand and on the other the management in each city has done its best to merit commendation, and the players have provided a quality of ball that has not been excelled in previous years." Tals speaks well for the future.

* * *

The Sunday question is agitating Eastern ball clubs. It has become a source of considerable agitation in baseball circles and things look very much as if there would be a decided split on that rock before another season opens. In a number of localities where the game is largely patronized the question is receiving so much attention from the authorities that ball playing on that day has ceased entirely. It looks as if there would be a geographical division on the subject. An Eastern baseball authority sizes up the situation in a way that gives grounds for the belief that there will be little Sunday playing next year in either the Eastern or Western clubs. It is stated in official circles that the Baltimore, Washington and Brooklyn clubs will refuse to play any Sunday games next year.

"That will leave Sunday baseball with the West alone," says the observant Critic, "and to a great extent will put an end to Sunday playing in the West. This will be due to the fact that the Eastern teams will refuse to permit games to be scheduled for Sunday dates while they are playing in the West. For instance, if Boston is scheduled to play in Cincinnati on Monday it will not agree to the transfer or arrangement of a game between Cincinnati and some Western team on the Sunday preceding the Boston date, for that would mean that the Sunday crowd would take away the patronage of the team following. As Pittsburg, of the Western teams, is opposed to Sunday baseball. It is apparent that the anti-Sunday sentiment will be very strong another season. While the Western teams are playing with each other it will be possible to arrange Sunday games between them. When the Eastern teams come to the West there will be no longer any attraction for the Sunday patrons."

With such conditions it looks very much as if something would drop in the big leagues before next year's schedules are built. The Sunday question has retarded much farther West and out as far as the Mississippi river the issue is being made.

* * *

The downfall of a once bright star in the baseball firmament is sadly recorded in the following story from a Sacramento correspondent:

Al Haberkan has been leading a rather dissolute life since the National game became unpopular. He has become a loafer, putting in the most of his time as the associate of disreputable women.

"Last night, on lower L street, he was arrested by Officers Bagley and Rutherford for committing a battery upon Sadie Clark, a woman with whom he had been living. The woman was arrested and charged with vagrancy.

"This morning in the police court Haberman was found guilty and sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the county jail. The Clark woman was sent to jail for four months."

* * *

Another local player of some repute has gone to his last account. Poverty and disease overcame Alfred Traynor and his body was taken from the county hospital to the morgue a few days ago. Traynor died from consumption. He was 27 years old and was some years ago a bright and popular ball player in this city.

* * *

Some of our old California friends are conspicuous.

Carsey is highly commended for his fine work in the box.

Treadway is making a big record as a heavy batter.

Stallings, now of the Nashvilles has declined an offer as manager of the Grand Rapids, Mich., club.

McGreevey, now of Quincy, Ill., was married last week.

Van Haltren has lost caste as a stealer of bases.

Jerry Denny, the old reliable third-baseman, is to locate in Norwich, Conn. He has deserted the diamond for a furnishing goods shop which is much frequented by old-time players.

THE UMPIRE.

THE PADDED RING.

Acmes Will Give a Clever Exhibition.

All is in readiness for the Acme's gentlemen's night to be held in the club rooms tomorrow night. The gymnasium has been especially prepared and everything completed to make the affair a splendid success. There are to be several sparring and wrestling bouts which promise to be exciting.

The event of the evening about which the most interest centers is the four round contest between James Delaney of the Acme Club and James McMahon of the Olympics for points. The P. A. A. has sanctioned the match and unless the unforeseen happens a lively battle will ensue. The men are evenly matched and are clever boxers. Who the victor will be is hard to predict.

The other matches are arranged as follows: Charles Slamberg, (Acme) vs. C. Frye (Acme); L. A. Rudolph (Acme) vs. F. Thurman (Acme); E. Sullivan (Olympic) vs. Carter (Olympic); G. Bates (S. F. A. C.) vs. Wiggins (S. F. A. C.); J. Drew (Acme) vs. J. Coyne (Acme); W. B. Hugh (Acme) vs. Van Buskirk (Olympic); J. Drew (Acme) vs. L. Lochren (Acme), S. Vieni (Olympic) vs. Morris Lee (unattached), J. S. Fox (Acme) vs. G. Payne (S. F. A. C.).

Jack Kitchen's great blind run is over although it will live a long time in the history of the club. After escorting Cornell and Loker as far as San Leandro they were headed to Oakland up and down the streets and finally out Broadway to Lake Temescal where they met the trampers. The latter had a great time and were in a mood to welcome their club mates. It was a hot day and plenty of ice had been taken along to keep the water cool. There being a surplus the boys utilized it by cooling each other's anatomy by that old time method of stuffing it down the back between the clothing and the skin.

After electing officers the outers spent the afternoon in games and yarns and sports.

The following were elected to take charge of the tramper's annex for the coming year. Captain, James Sharly; first lieutenant, Harry J. Rothetman; second lieutenant, Charlie Conlon, secretary, Fred Kohler, sergeant-at-arms, J. M. Bird; commissary commissioners, Fred Simmons, E. J. Erickson and H. J. Rothermon.

AMONG THE YACHTS.

A Jolly Gathering Last Saturday Night.

The California Yacht Club gave a delightful reception to the San Francisco Yacht Club last Saturday evening. Over a dozen yachts carrying about seventy-five persons came over the bay. At Goat Island they were met by Captain Von Schmidt and escorted up the creek to the club house. There speeches were made by Commodores Bruce and Gutte and other prominent yachtsmen present.

The event of the evening was the reading of Charles G. Yale's poem. After darkness set the yachts were lighted with lanterns and made a pretty picture as they glided down the creek for home. Among those present were: Captain Morrell, Commodore Gutte, Captain Bartlett, Captain Sutherland and ex-Commodore McCarty.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Gymnasium Work Active and Wheeling in Vogue.

General activity is manifesting itself at the Young Men's Christian Association. The gym is in almost constant use. Several improvements have been made in the matter of new equipment.

Monday night from 8 to 9 o'clock is devoted to general gymnastics. After that the Turners have the floor. On Thursday night the same plan is followed. The "gym" is devoted to hand ball after an hour of general gymnastics. Saturday is free night and the boys give some exhibitions which surprise their friends.

Last Thursday the eight mile relay and mile race were run at the Oakland Trotting Park. The blues had little trouble in winning in the time of 2:39 3-5 sec. The mile race was a much closer if not a better race. J. Taggart won in 2:51 with Frank Bock, the boy smuggler, a close second in 2:50.

Friday evening the boys with their lady friends will take a spin to Alameda by way of High street. The Friday night runs are very popular. This will be the fourth and next to the last one this season. The boys have enjoyed them so much that they may arrange another series.

Training is in order for the five mile road race to take place soon on the San Leandro-Haywards course. As yet the date has not been set, but entries are pouring in and final arrangements will soon be made.

In a couple of weeks the boys will hold a field day with the Oakland High School athletes. As many Y. M. C. A. boys are O. H. S. boys too, the field day will not be a competitive one between the two clubs. They will simply combine and give a field day which promises to be a very good one.

Preparatory to this the High School boys or rather Dawson, Lynch, Keler, Jenkins and Smith representing them, have fixed their Market street track up in fine style. They worked hard on it all day Saturday and converted it from a pile of ashes to a respectable cinder path.

CRIMSON AND BLACK.

Colors of a New Berkeley Ladies Club.

The cycling annex of the Crescent Athletic Club is no longer without a rival in the college town. A new bicycle club has been organized which promises to outshine the speedy Crescents. It also enjoys the novelty of being the only ladies' cycling club on this side of the bay.

The [illegible] have kept very quiet regarding their plans to organize. But now they have come boldly out, adopted colors, selected costumes and chosen officers.

Miss Edda Rider is captain, Miss Edith Huddart president, Miss Pearl Judson, secretary, Miss Jennie Mason, treasurer. Crimson and black are the colors which the ladies will wear on their long and speedy spins.

As yet they have had no races and none of them have been timed but those who have seen them ride say that they are record breakers and can put some of the men to shame.

TENNIS TOPICS.

A Tournament to Be Given by the Lakeside Club.

At last Sam Hardy is seeing the result of his hard work to reestablish tennis in Oakland. The Lakeside club now holds the position that the Oakland club enjoyed. With such players as the Hardys, Magees, Driscoll, Sanborn and lesser lights it ranks as the first on the coast.

Next Saturday the largest tournament given by the club this year will take place. It is to be a class affair for gentlemen of the club. There are to be three classes, the winners in each class to play in the finals. As this gives every member a chance to win a match, however poor a player he may be, every one will enter.

Driscoll, the Hardys, Sanborn and the Magees will doubtless be of the first class, though yet the entries are not completed or the matches drawn. Twenty dollars has been expended in prizes and all things considered the tournament promises to be a great success.

TROUBLED FOOTBALLERS.

A Clash in the Oakland High School Team.

There is trouble in the Oakland High School football team. Harry Chickering wants to retain his place as captain and the eleven has chosen young Anderson in his stead. Chickering was elected last term at a banquet. Last night the team selected Anderson, but Chickering refuses to be downed. There promises to be a difference of views when the team goes out for practice works.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

Reliance Football Men Discuss Their Itinerary.

The Reliance football team is preparing for its trip to the East. Proposals have been submitted to meet the teams of the Denver Athletic Club, the Omaha Club, and the Chicago Athletic Association. The Reliance boys will leave here about October 15th. It is likely a game will be arranged with the University team before they depart. The first game outside of the State will be played at Denver. The second will be the contest on the Omaha gridiron and then they will proceed directly to Chicago. The Chicago-Reliance game of last year in San Francisco will long be remembered. The Windy City lads are aching for a chance to redeem themselves and the Reliance men are willing to give the vanquished footballers another chance. The Reliance lads have hopes that they may be able to extend their trip further Eastward than Chicago. If financial success is met, the team will go to New York, Philadelphia and will return via the north. They expect to make arrangements for games at Seattle, Tacoma and Portland.

FIGURING ON FOOTBALL.

The Reliance Men Intend to Get a Strong Team.

With the advent of Professor Al Lean into the Reliance Club an increased interest will be taken in gymnasium work at that institution. As yet the football men have not begun work under his instruction but in about a fortnight they will settle down to it. Mr. Lean is at the club Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights, besides drilling the younger members on Tuesday afternoons and Saturday mornings.

Last Thursday the board of directors met and officially announced that a team would be sent East to visit Omaha, Denver and Chicago. Secretary Berry was instructed to communicate with the clubs in these cities, arranging dates, terms etc. Captain McMillan was also instructed to select and train a team.

Before going the boys will play matches with both universities. If their trip is a financial success as far as Chicago they will be sent on to New York and probably return by way of Portland, Or. When back they will again meet Berkeley and Stanford. This is the general plan and as the athletes form an exceptionally strong team this year they expect to cover themselves with glory.

As yet no manager has been chosen. Those who are competent have not the time, but Cal Ewing thinks that he can pilot the boys through. Cal. was the manager who first brought the team into prominence and all are satisfied that he is the right man for the right place. With a good team with McMillan as captain and Ewing as manager backed by a strong club the Reliance boys are confident of great things.

But though football is booming cycling is not dead. The boys are training hard for their five-mile road race next Sunday and intend to show unbelievers a thing or two concerning their speed.

Charles Bates is making an effort to have a meet here on the 9th of next month. If he can complete arrangements Oakland will be treated to some good racing. Bates is a hard worker and the boys are heartily in favor of the scheme, so in all probability it will be carried out.

SPEEDY RUNNERS.

Good Sport at the Bay District Track.

Racing the year round means something in California now. Never before in the history of horse racing in the State has there been such a season as the Bay District Association of San Francisco has given the lovers of horse flesh. The races have been excellent and patrons of the turf, realize it by the extensive support they have given the Bay District track this year. President Thomas H. Williams has placed racing on a solid foundation in California.

One for Bicyclists.

A resident of Rochester, N. Y., is about to commence a novel suit for damages in the Supreme Court. He seeks to recover $5000 for injuries which he claims to have received through the explosion of a bicycle tire, or, strictly speaking, the forcible ejectment from the tire of a plug which had been used to repair a puncture and was not secure enough to stand the pressure of the air.

The complainant was riding his wheel behind another wheelman whose bicycle was fitted with a single tube or hose pipe tires, when suddenly he heard a noise like the report of a pistol and felt a stinging sensation in his left eye. He dismounted, and at the same time the rider in front of him was obliged to dismount on account of the collapse of one of his tires. The apparent puncture was in the exact spot where a puncture had previously been received but the plug which had stopped the leak was nowhere to be found.

The injured optic grew rapidly worse and, although the missile which was the cause of the damage cannot be produced in court, the plaintiff thinks he is warranted in charging his hurt to the innocent rider who was in front of him.

Molasses Bicycle Tires.

It is said that a French chemist proposes to make a substitute for India rubber from the same ingredients as are used for the manufacture of printer's rollers—i. e., a mixture formed of variable proportions of glue, glycerine, and molasses. This composition is to be covered with canvas, ordinary rubber "or other suitable material," to protect it against humidity, great heat or mechanical action. Although the ingredients named form the fundamental basis of the composition, the inventor reserves the right to modify the product by the addition of other substances.

Cheap Tea.

The extra value 50-cent teas of the Great American Importing Tea Company are the best in the market for the price. They are equal to any 75-cent teas. They are of a new crop. The purchaser gets more than his money's worth in buying them. But this week the Great American Importing Tea Company offers a special inducement to every purchaser. It will give an excellent premium with every pond of 50-cent tea purchased. There is a large assortment of goods from which to select these premiums, including tumblers, coffee, bread and butter sets, porcelain cups and saucers, tin buckets, rustic pitchers, butter dishes and a large number of beautiful and useful articles. This will result in a big saving to housekeepers. The stores of the Great American Importing Tea Company are at 1053 Washington street, 917 Broadway, 131 San Pablo avenue, 616 East Twelfth street, Oakland, and at Park street and Alameda avenue, Alameda.

Where Cyclists Congregate.

Last night there was a gathering of bicyclists in fron of the Central Bank building on Fourteenth street so large that it looked to a stranger as if a big country run had just been brought to a close. The gathering, however, is almost a nightly occurrence. It comprised leading male and female riders who are patrons of the Central Cyclery, which is located immediately opposite the entrance to the Macdonough Theater, in the Central Bank building, with the entrance on Fourteenth street. The Central Cyclery is managed and owned by B. C. Lund, who is an expert in his line. He has Cleveland, Ben Hur and Tribune wheels on hand and sells them at the lowest rates.

for the purpose of giving public expression to the ATER WASTE now going on at Alvarado, whereby 3,000,000 gallons of Water are daily pumped into the Bay.

HON. MACK WEBBER

will preside, and several gentlemen well known will speak.

On Sunday last the following gentlemen visited the scene of destruction and they have been named as Vice-Presidents, some of whom will have something to say concerning what they saw:

SOCIETY SAW THE SHOW.

A Fashionable Audience at the Lyceum Company's Play.

Excellent Pieces Staged During the Engagement Hero.

A brilliant audience assembled at the Macdonough last night to participate in the opening of the brief engagement here of the Lyceum Theater Company. The attendance augurs well for the success of the season which comprises a matinee, "The Wife," today; "An Ideal Husband" tonight, and "The Amazons" tomorrow night.

The play last night was "The Case of Rebellious Susan," and served as a medium to introduce the hobbies of the hour, notably those of the new woman. One of the characters had "a message for the age" and believed that the brutality of men should be destroyed by the exercise against it of brute force. The part was acceptably played by Miss Elizabeth Tyree and was an admirable counter to that of her impractical husband, Ferguson Dybus, a character sustained by Fred Williams.

Isabel Irving assumed the rôle of Lady Susan Herbin, who, with good cause to find fault with her gay young husband, snaps her fingers in his face, leaves him and is about to commit even greater indiscretions than did her liege lord, when her men-of-the-world uncle, Sir Richard Kate, Herbert Kelcey skillfully defines her back to her husband's side. Susan is a character that makes many demands upon the versatility of an actress. It is one in which she may rant and joust and storm, and may still be unctuous. Miss Irving, however, seemed to feel everything she did and her performance was consistent and natural.

Herbert Gresham had a congenial character and played it admirably. A successful bank of the world who has "loved" hundreds of women and "really loved" only one, who reads human nature like a book, and, withal, with his convictions, he moved with the air of master in the midst of all their contentions, with the satisfaction of eventually restoring peace and tranquility.

Stephen Grattan as James Hamblin made the most out of the somewhat uncertain part, and, as was expected, the old Governor W. J. Le Moyne, was bluff, hearty and simple as Admiral Darby. Mr. Le Moyne was warmly received on his appearance.

Annie Irish invested Mrs. Inez Questnel with a rare charm, and one of the most delightful scenes of the play was that between her and Kate, where both look into their past lives with so much tenderness and so much nature as to charm the audience. The other well-known members of the company in the caste were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wallcot and Walter S. Hale.

The performance as a whole was artistic in the highest sense and was generously received by the audience, which was demonstrative in its appreciation.

Among those noted in the audience were: Mrs. Cogbill, Mrs. Judge Stanly, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Bowles, Mrs. G. W. Hume, Miss Hume, Miss May Hume, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dwight, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Magee Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Magee, Mr. and Mrs. John P. This afternoon "The Wife" is being played to a big house and tonight "An Ideal Husband" will be presented. It is the story of Richard Chiltern, a young cabinet minister, who is respected as a man above reproach. His wife, who shares in this belief, has placed him upon such a pinnacle that she does not believe he could possibly be guilty of a wrong action. But Chiltern, in the first year of his diplomatic career, had sold a state secret to a speculator, thereby laying the foundation for his fortune and his present political eminence. Since that time he has been strictly honest, and as years rolled by, believed himself safe from the dangers of his early sin. In the height of his prosperity, however, disclosure is threatened. Besides the destroying of his career, he feels this disclosure will cost him the love and respect of his wife. In the agony of the moment a friend prevents the public disclosure. Chiltern confesses to his wife, and, after a struggle upon her part, he is forgiven. "But life is never the same again."

Tomorrow night the engagement closes with "The Amazons."

AS OTHERS SEE US.

The committee which visited Stockton to see the operating of the Hayes fire truck and Oakland to see the operating of the Babcock truck, have returned and will meet Wednesday to come to some decision as to which truck is the more desirable for Fresno.—Fresno Expositor.

It is a bad sign to see the factories about the bay here closing up or moving. The latest that is announced to go is the Oakland jute mill. We should think the Oakland people would manage somehow to keep it. They ought to have as much money and as keen a perception of the advantages of factories as any one. In this connection it may be timely to remind that Alameda contains three of the largest factories in the State, and one of the largest in its line in the world. All the three are flourishing. Alameda also has a flourishing shipyard.—Alameda Argus.

County Clerk Jordan has prepared plans for a new system of checks upon the county's expenditure. He will keep a detailed account and each month will furnish a report showing where every cent in each department of the county government has gone. The intention of the scheme is simply to keep an accurate record of each claim and of all department expenditures. Clerk Jordan is doing something besides drawing his salary.—Alameda Telegram.

Yesterday's services, both morning and evening, in the Trinity M. E. church south, were in the nature of a farewell. They are the last services that will be held in the church before it is removed from its present site on Broadway to the new lot on Grand avenue, near Ninth street. More than that Rev. A. C. Bane, who has been the pastor of Trinity church for the last two years, and formerly of Asbury M. E. church, of Oakland, will leave next month for the Pacific conference, which is said to be held in San Francisco, and the services were therefore doubly significant. Mr. Bane will not return to Los Angeles after the conference. His term expires here September 26th and he will go into the field as an evangelist. Who will succeed him here will not be known until the conference meets. The church was made very attractive with flowers yesterday, and at the morning service Mr. Bane spoke on the subject From Pastorate to Evangelism—A Divine Call.—Los Angeles Herald.

AN UNDERGROUND CITY.

A Discovery by Russian Explorers in Asia.

The Russians have made a singular discovery in Central Asia. In Turkestan, on the right bank of the Amou Daria, is a chain of rocky hills near the Bokharan town of Karki, and a number of large caves which, upon examination, were found to lead to an underground city, built apparently long before the Christian era. According to effigies, inscriptions and designs upon the gold and silver money unearthed from among the ruins, the existence of the town dates back to some two centuries before the birth of Christ. The underground Bokharan city is about two versts long, and is composed of an enormous labyrinth of corridors, streets and squares, surrounded by houses and other buildings two or three stories high. The edifices contain all kinds of domestic utensils, pots, urns, vases and so forth. In some of the streets falls of earth and rock have obstructed the passages, but generally the visitor can walk about freely without so much as lowering the head.

The high degree of civilization attained by the inhabitants of the city is shown by the fact that they built in several stories, by the symmetry of the streets and squares, and by the beauty of the baked clay and metal utensils, and the ornaments and coins which have been found. It is supposed that long centuries ago this city, so carefully concealed in the bowels of the earth, provided an entire population with a refuge from the incursions of nomadic savages and robbers.

THE BEST PIPE TOBACCO.

TOOK THE TAG.

County Clerk Jordan's Pet Spaniel Has a Caller.

County Clerk Jordan is the victim of a petty sneak thief's operations. He has no clew to the operator but he says some unscrupulous person corraled his pet spaniel last night and stole the license tag from off the collar which encircled the pet's throat. The job was neatly done with a pair of pinchers. It was not discovered until this morning and then Frank was very wroth. He had not time to make further investigation as he was obliged to leave for Sacramento at noon.

A strange man was seen prowling about the Jordan mansion in East Oakland last night but no description of the intruder was secured.

PUBLIC WORKS.

The Commissioners Dispose of the Routine Business.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Public Works last evening the street superintendent reported that C. E. H. Reed, the owner of a dump cart was not doing satisfactory work and asked for his discharge. The superintendent was given power to act in the matter. The superintendent also recommended the purchase of a steam roller at a cost of $5000. Referred to the Committee of the Whole.

A complaint from E. Gill that Filbert street between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth had not received the same attention of a street sprinkler that adjoining property got, was referred to the street superintendent.

Ebenezer Johnson applied to be appointed keeper of Independence Square, E. P. Thomas asked for a position as gardener and J. C. Ewing wanted work in the street department. All the applications were filed.

A communication from the Oakland Fruit and Produce Company in reference to a claim against Police Officer Rogers, was referred to the Committee of the Whole.

HUSBAND VERSUS WIFE.

A Tale of Marital Mishaps Told in the Police Court.

F. E. Stack and his wife Agnes had a domestic misunderstanding Monday. Mrs. Stack, feeling herself worsted in the encounter, swore to a complaint, charging her husband with battery and the case was tried this morning before Judge Wood.

Mrs. Stack told how her husband, who was formerly a railroad man, had of late taken to drink and used his money to buy liquor instead of purchasing food for herself and three little children. Monday he went in search of work and left her with only 5 cents with which to buy food. This not being enough, she went out and borrowed food. When her husband came home he was irritable and struck her on the head. The husband told an altogether different tale. He said that it was the wife who held the belt for drinking in their family and that on the day of the trouble she was intoxicated. He said that when he came home from San Francisco he found his wife had not started to get his dinner, but was enjoying herself with a pitcher of beer. He remonstrated with her and she became hysterical.

The defense had further testimony to offer which could not be in the court in the morning and the case was continued until 3 P. M.

PLEASURE BOAT MODEL.

Handsome Local Exhibit at the Mechanics' Fair.

Messrs. Watts & Trott, whose place of business is at the southwest corner of Third and Washington streets, shipped to San Francisco yesterday for exhibition at the Mechanics' Fair, one of the handsomest and best appointed pleasure boats ever seen on the Pacific Coast. The boat is 18 feet in length, is built of British Columbia cedar with mahogany trimmings, the fixtures being of polished brass, and altogether the boat presents a beautiful appearance.

Visitors to the Fair from Oakland should make it a point to see this product of home manufacture, as it is well worth careful examination and occupies a prominent place among the exhibits at the Fair.

If this model of workmanship may be taken as a criterion of the ability of Messrs. Watts & Trott in the line of boat building they are certainly deserving of a fair share of Oakland's patronage.

Squeamish Chicago.

The Puritanical fad has struck Chicago. Her tender damsels are suffering from a violent attack of squeamishness. When a local cycling club in racing attire lined up at West Park the other day to enjoy their usual Saturday road race, a policeman notified them that they would not be allowed to race unless they covered their nether limbs. Maidens of the prim set had complained to the Park Commissioners of the frequent exposure of bare legs and arms, and had implored the officials to save them from such visual shocks in the future. For some years past bare-legged racers have been spinning around the Windy City without exciting unfavorable comment, and this eleventh hour protest is in the nature of an afterthought.

Dogs Can Read Character.

Wonderful tales have been told of the marvelous instinctive intelligence of dogs, but the idea of consulting a canine oracle when a man is contemplating matrimony is a new one. A French writer, however, says that before committing himself a man should note carefully how she whom he loves conducts herself toward her parents and friends, and, above all, how she treats ordinary domestic animals. "Beware of a person whom children and dogs dislike," he says. "Dogs may be our inferiors, but their instincts rarely deceive them, and a pronounced antipathy on their part may well be considered as a danger signal. No compassion should be felt for him who marries a girl whom dogs snarl at and dislike, for he has had fair warning of domestic storms."

SAN FRANCISCO NEWS.

Mrs. Louisa Worthington Again Found Guilty of Murder.

An Enormous Concourse Attends the Funeral of Frank Pixley.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—The second trial of Mrs. Louisa Worthington for the murder of Harry Baddeley, ended this morning, the jury returning a verdict of murder in the second degree.

In 1883, Mrs. Worthington shot at the ferry her paramour. It was said she had been urged to the murder by her husband.

Mrs. Worthington's defense was insanity.

The first jury returned a verdict in the second degree of murder with a recommendation to mercy.

The Supreme Court ordered a new trial on the ground of errors in the charge to the jury.

Judge Wallace sentenced the prisoner to twenty-five years.

The present verdict is without recommendation to mercy.

PIXLEY'S FUNERAL.

Frank M. Pixley was buried today. There was an immense funeral and pioneers and prominent citizens attended.

The pall-bearers were: P. L. Weaver, John Rosenfeld, Charles Webb Howard, Robert Harrison, Louis Sloss, Frank McCoppin, Ben Morgan, W. H. L. Barnes, J. P. Wethered, Judge John Hunt, S. T. Gage and W. E. Brown.

GIRLS RUN AWAY.

Annie Bailey a sixteen year old girl of many aliases, who has said she was a banker's daughter and has impersonated Nettie Dowd, of Monterey, to the latter's discomfiture, is the central figure of a new plan to win notoriety.

After the Dowd episode when she said she had been led astray by one Annie Jackson, she was sent to the Magdalene Asylum.

There she concoted a scheme to escape.

She enlisted several others in the plan which was to assault the Sister of Charity on guard and then to leave the house, climb the trees overhanging the wall and then drop to the ground.

This was done and Annie fell from the wall injuring herself.

She was picked up by a milkman early this morning and brought into town but was subsequently recaptured.

Other girls remained in the trees until daylight, being afraid to jump down twenty feet.

This is the first attempt to escape from the Magdalene Asylum.

WILL HAUL IT AWAY.

A Temporary Solution Found of the Garbage Problem.

The Council committee having in charge the disposal of garbage met last evening with the health officer and decided to award a temporary contract to A. B. Tennant, as the best way out of the difficulty. Mr. Tennant will build a platform in the vicinity of the Sixteenth street station upon which garbage will be dumped from carts. This refuse will in turn be loaded upon one or more covered freight cars which will be sent beyond the boundaries of Alameda county, to a place in Contra Costa county known as the Highlands and there discharged, the Highlands, and there discharged.

Secretary Schaffer has been investigating the charges made by Councilman Buckland to the effect that the crematory in Los Angeles did not prove a success and finds that such is the fact, but he also ascertained that the crematory is not one of a standard pattern. The builders of it, Ramish & Marsh, are paid at present $16,000 a year for taking the garbage of Los Angeles out of town. It is buried in trenches and only dead animals are burned.

The street light committee of the City Council will hold a meeting this evening.

The finance committee and the committee on furniture and supplies of the Board of Education will hold a meeting Friday evening.

SOON TO ACT.

The Wilmerding School Matter Being Pushed by the Regents.

The regents of the University who have in trust the bequest of $400,000 left by Mr. Wilmerding for the establishment of a trade school will probably hold a special meeting soon to consider the proposition offered for a site. A committee was appointed at a meeting of the regents yesterday that will render a report at the next meeting.

Hon. J. West Martin, one of the regents, says about five acres of land will be required. Owing to the class of the instruction and the strong frame-work required for a suitable building he does not favor locating it in the heart of the city, but favors a suburban site. It is hoped that some generous land owner will donate the necessary property. The Board of Education has offered the use of the old High School building until a more eligible site can be obtained.

School Director Moody Sued.

Suit has been brought in Justice Lawrence's court against E. A. Moody to recover on a note given by Moody in payment of a grocery bill. The note matured some two years and four months ago and the holder now thinks that Moody should pay. Defendant Moody filed a demurrer to the complaint which was promptly overruled by Judge Lawrence. The principal point made in the demurrer was that the copy of complaint stated that the note was payable "at" the First National Bank, whereas the original complaint read "to" First National Bank. The trial of the case has been set for the latter part of the week.

The Cook's Corner.

Every good cook should know by heart that large fruits such as peaches and pears are in their best condition for canning when not quite fully ripe, and that they should be put up as soon as possible after packing. Small fruits and berries should never stand over night if it is possible to avoid this. Only the best sugar should be used in canning and in the proportion of half a pound of sugar to a pound of good fruit, varying the rule of course with the sweetness of the fruit.

A good jelly, not familiarly known, is made of pie plant. Wash the stalks well and cut into an inch long. Put them into the preserving kettle with enough water to cover them and boil a quarter hour; then mash and drip juice through a jelly-bag. To each pint of this juice add a pound of loaf sugar; boil again, simmering often, and when it jellies on the skimmer, remove it from the fire and put into jars.

Bread and cake boxes require a thorough washing and scalding twice a week, after which they should be aired in the sun. Bread and cake must never be put in boxes while warm, as the steam will cause them to mould quickly.

Here is a particularly nice recipe for preserving pears. Pare the fruit and drop it into cold water to prevent it from becoming discolored. When all the fruit is pared weigh it. Put the parings into a preserving kettle or some other kettle, over which a steamer can be placed. Add to the parings three pints of water for every four pounds of fruit. When the water begins to boil put on the steamer, which should contain enough pears to cover the bottom. Watch the fruit, and as soon as it becomes tender take it up and put in a fresh supply. When all the pears have been cooked, take off the steamer and strain the liquor from the parings. To each quart add one pint of sugar. Put on the fire in the preserving kettle, and when it begins to boil skim carefully. Now add the pears and simmer for twenty minutes. Put the fruit in glass jars and cover with hot syrup. Close the jars at once. A small piece of ginger root in each jar adds flavor to the fruit. The Flemish Beauties or Sheldons are the best pears to use.

Frozen peaches make a delicious dessert for an August day. For eight persons use one pint of sugar, one of boiling water and two quarts of ripe peaches pared and sliced. Put the water, sugar and half a dozen cracked peach stones in a stew pan and boil for a quarter of an hour. Then rub the peaches through a puree sieve and strain the hot syrup on them. Stir well and then cool. When cold, freeze. Pears may be frozen in the same way.

POLICE PLACES.

J. M. Cockerton Now Entitled to Patrol a Beat.

The long standing controversy over the appointment of a regular police officer to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of William McCloud was settled by the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners yesterday. J. M. Cockerton had been recommended by Chief Schaffer shortly before the latter's retirement, but Commissioner Wilson wanted John Sherry. Cockerton, however, was finally elected by unanimous vote as a compromise candidate, Chief Lloyd having also recommended him. W. F. Woods was elected a substitute police officer.

Further recommendations from the police chief were: To reappoint Sam Mitchell police court bailiff. Continued until next meeting, pending the action to be taken requiring an additional bond to be filed by that officer.

To raise the salary of the chief's clerk from $50 to $75 a month. Referred to the Committee of the Whole.

To purchase a horse for a mounted police officer on the Watt's tract. Ex-Chief Schaffer had recommended a bicycle for that beat but the new chief thought a horse would better fill the requirements. Referred to the Committee of the Whole.

The estimate of expenses for the fiscal year 1895-96 furnished by Chief Lloyd was $84,038, being $13,140 more than last year. Of this sum $12,000 was for salary for ten additional officers.

The superintendent of the Fire Alarm and Police Telegraph estimated the expenses of his department for the fiscal year at $8772.

The matter of purchasing an extra team of fire engine horses was referred to the Committee of the Whole. A resolution was adopted recommending the appropriation of $200 for that purpose.

Athletics and Success.

Some new facts have been brought out in regard to the much discussed question as to whether athletic prowess when at college is of any benefit to a man in his future career. The various university boat crews of Oxford and Cambridge have been followed up, and the achievements of their members in after life noted. It has been discovered that the Oxford 'Varsity crews have contributed to the country 21 magistrates, 4 doctors, 8 commanding officers in the army and a large number of eminent divines. To the credit of Cambridge are 80 leaders of the church militant in high standing, 50 magistrates, 2 doctors, 2 generals and 3 colonel.

MILLIONS OF GALLONS.

The Wanton Waste of Water at Alvarado Denounced.

A Mass Meeting at the Tabernacle Tomorrow Night Arranged.

The mass meeting of citizens at the Tabernacle tomorrow evening to give expression to the indignation of the community against the Contra Costa Water Company will result in far reaching effects.

It is a moral principal that is at stake, involving the right of a corporation to wantonly waste one of the necessities of human existence.

It is charged that the Contra Costa Water Company is pumping millions of gallons of water upon the marshes at Alvarado in an attempt to depleate the source of supply of a rival company.

Leading citizens of Oakland who witnessed this vandalism, properly indignant that the corporation should arogate to itself the right to waste this water merely because they are able to pay for the operation of pumps, have decided to make a public protest in lieu of doubtful legal remedy, which may be invoked hereafter, and to this end the mass meeting at the Tabernacle has been arranged.

It is the duty of every citizen who has the welfare of community at heart to attend this meeting.

The question involved is not one of preference or prejudice for or against any company, corporation or individual—it is a proposition which must appeal to the sense of justice and fair play of every honest member of the community.

It is a matter in the direct interests of the people and the speakers who will address the meeting will show that the Contra Costa Corporation has transcended all its rights in the premises and is deserving of the censure of all citizens, irrespective of every question underlying any business competition that may be in progress in this city.

The object of the meeting is to demonstrate that there are a few rights of the people which even the Contra Costa Water Company may be compelled to respect.

PUBLIC SPIRIT.

The Ostrander Gun Company's Factory Is to Be Brought Here.

The prospects are good for having the Ostrander Gun Company locate its factory in this city.

Last evening Thomas M. O'Brien and Charles J. Swift, representing the gun company, appeared before the Merchants' Exchange and as a consequence of the conference the merchants have pledged themselves to secure a block of land in East Oakland 200x300 feet, a two story brick building and $3000 cash. The latter sum is for the payment of freight on the company's plant now locate in Boston. The gun company in return will pay a rental of 8 per cent yearly upon the entire value of the land and buildings and is privileged to buy the property at the expiration of five years for its original cost.

The finance committee of the Fourth of July celebration turned into the treasury of the exchange $178, the surplus left after the payment of all expenses.

Exchanging Notes

The man who had spent his vacation in Missouri had his feet on his own desk once more.

"Crops?" Yes, they are in good shape, and the farmers are as happy and contented as it is possible for farmers to be.

"Good times? Yes."

"Do any business? Yes a trifle. But—" there was trace of regret in his voice—"but I made a great mistake, a gross miscalculation."

"How?"

"Didn't take nearly enough gold bricks with me. Still, I managed to make expenses."

Then he turned to the man who had just returned from the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor Convention in Boston and murmured:

Cats for Fur.

Out of the ever-lively west comes the announcement that an immense cat-breeding farm is to be established in Cincinnati. Eight acres are to be utilized for the building and premises, and countless cats will be cultivated and cared for until their fur is old enough to have a distinct market value. The original stock is to be imported from Spain. This enterprise will be watched with breathless interest by the people of Washington and of other cities, where, in many neighborhoods, there are cats enough and to spare. The only thing that prevents residents in the infested localities from driving a lucrative trade in cat-skins is probably the fact that the variety of feline which awakens midnight echoes and fills the day with fleas and somnolency is not sufficiently select. If the Spanish cats are found equal to the Cincinnati expectations there can hardly be any reason why the imported animals should not largely take the place of the unprofitable grimalkin now in vogue—Star.

STRUNG UP TO A TREE.

A Midnight Mob Storms the County Jail at Ellensburg.

THE VINSONS TAKEN OUT.

Father and Son Then Choked to Death in the Heart of the City.

FIREBELLS GAVE THE SIGNAL

They Were Killed as the Result of a Saloon Fight Last Sunday.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ELLENSBURG, Wash., Aug. 14.—At midnight a mob battered open the steel cell in the county jail, took out Sam and Charles Vinson, the two murderers of Sunday's killing affray, father and son, took them three blocks to the residence portion of the town and strung both up to one tree.

AN EXCITING STORY

SEATTLE, Aug. 14.—An Ellensburg special to the Post-Intelligencer says:

At 12 o'clock last night the fire bell rang and a crowd was at the county jail inside of three minutes battering on the steel cage.

For an hour and a half the blows of hammers resounded on the still night air and at 1:30 Sam Vinson and his son Charles, the murderers of Sunday, were led out by the mob, with ropes around their necks.

The victims were walked three blocks, and a small silver poplar, eight inches in diameter chosen.

The ropes were thrown over the first limb and father and son hauled up by willing hands.

Their feet were not over a foot from the ground, and the two men were choked to death with their faces within six inches of each other.

After the death of "Dutch John" this afternoon an uneasy feeling began to manifest itself, and as evening came on it grew in intensity.

At 9:30 when the streets are usually deserted, knots of men could be seen all over town, and it was apparent that trouble was coming.

Sheriff Stinson was very active and had extra deputies on duty at the jail.

He had arrangements made that the ringing of the fire bell should be the signal that the mob was under way.

THE ATTACK ON THE JAIL.

Promptly at 12 o'clock the bell rang, and almost simultaneously the guards were overpowered and the outer jail doors soon passed.

The steel cage was stubborn but the mob was determined.

After the wretches were secured they assumed a dogged silence.

The old man never spoke, but Charles pulled back and struggled some.

Both were hustled along, however, and several telegraph poles were tried without suiting the leaders.

When near the fatal tree young Vinson spoke his only words, saying:

"I hate it on my mother's account. You'll be sorry for this."

The last word was uttered as the tightening rope checked off his breath.

The father was strung up a moment before the son, and some one in the crowd said, as Charles was swung up "Your pa is up there. Go up and see him."

Both men were allowed to hang for some time and the crowd slowly dispersed without firing any shots into the bodies.

There were six other prisoners in the jail, but none were molested and nobody but the two murderers were hurt during the proceedings.

WHY THEY WERE LYNCHED.

Charles Vinson was the man who gave away his comrades with whom he conspired to hold up a Northern Pacific train last April.

The robbers were caught at their rendezvous, where they were ready for work.

A jury at Ellensburg refused to convict the robbers on Vinson's testimony.

Charles Vinson and Sam Vinson, his father, were drunk and raising a disturbance all last Sunday at Ellensburg.

About 6:45 o'clock in the evening they entered the Teutonic saloon and picked a quarrel, during which Charles shot Mike Kohlopp, one of the proprietors.

The ball entered the right breast and the victim died half an hour later.

John Bergman, well known as "Dutch John" went to the defense of Kohlopp, when the elder Vinson stabbed him in the right breast, inflicting a horrible wound from which Bergman died Tuesday.

After Kohlopp was shot he grappled young Vinson, threw him to the floor and dealt him several blows, but was forced to desist by failing strength. Samuel Vinson and his son came from Allen, Mason county.

The younger man had served a year in the penitentiary.

Dyspepsia cured by using Adam's Tutti-Frutti Chewing Gum after each meal.

A FEMALE SUICIDE.

She Made a Good Job of It and Accomplished Her End.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHARLESTON, Mo. Aug. 13.—Mrs. R. T. Martin, the wife of a prominent farmer living near this place, committed suicide yesterday by hanging herself to a rafter in the smokehouse.

Before she hung herself she set fire to a lot of rubbish that was in the smokehouse and the flames burned the rope which she was hung with.

The body fell into the fire and was terribly burned.

Some cartridges that were among the rubbish were discharged by the fire.

This awoke her husband, but too late to save her.

A CHALLENGE TO ALL.

Offer to Match John R. Gentry Against All the Pacers.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Myron McHenry, the trainer of John R. Gentry, has issued the following challenge:

"I will match John R. Gentry against any pacer in the world for $500 a side.

"I will match Gentry again Joe Patchen and Robert J. in a three cornered race for $500 a horse, the distance to be within fifty feet of the wire and the winner to take the entire $1,000 and the purse offered by the association under whose auspices the race is run.

"The race must be upon the track offering the most money."

The Supervisors Armed and Ready for the Fray.

Arguments Against An Increase by the State Board.

There will be a large representation of Alameda county officials at the meeting of the State Board of Equalization at Sacramento tomorrow when the question of raising the county assessment will be heard. The notice from the State Board that was sent to the supervisors some days ago is construed to be a citation to the Board to appear and show cause why the assessment should not be raised.

Acting upon this interpretation of the notice the Supervisors decided to go before the State Board in a body and present their case. The supervisors will be flanked in their fight by County Assessor Dalton who will go to the scene of battle primed and loaded with a mass of argument to present against the proposed raise.

Accompanying Supervisors Dalley, Church Johnston, Talcott and Pelanz, who left at noon today for San Francisco, where they will proceed to the capital on the afternoon boat was County Clerk Frank Jordan.

Assessor Dalton burned the midnight oil last evening with his attorney W. R. Davis getting the data and material into shape for his fight against the proposed raise. Dalton's contention is that the assessment of this year is $1,000,000 higher than that of 1894 which was left untouched by the State Board. He claims that there are no circumstances to warrant the State Board in touching his figures. He says the total raise over last year was $8,000,000 but as this was materially cut by the Board of Supervisors it left the net increase a little over $1,000,000.

The supervisors are not anxious for an increase and will make a strenuous fight to prevent any change in the rolls as they now stand.

It is asserted that there have been no great improvements in the county during the past year which would justify the State Board in imposing a heavier burden upon the taxpayers at this time.

An estimate based upon the assessment roll at $90,000,000 would if a 5 per cent raise is ordered make a very material increase that would impose a greater burden on the taxpayers than the situation seems to justify. That is the argument made by the supervisors and Dalton on this phase of the matter.

POISONED A WELL.

The Residents of an Indiana Village Taken Sick.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CROWN POINT, Ind., Aug. 14.—Excitement is at fever heat at Horsford Park a little town near Ross Station, on the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway, seven miles north of this city.

Sheriff Hayes received a telegram that an attempt was made to poison the whole village and the sheriff with several deputies left at once for the scene.

The fifty inhabitants of that village attended a dance Monday night and as a result Charles Williams, Miss Reisig and two girls from Chicago, are not expected to live.

During the evening some person placed arsenic or strychnine in large quantities in the water pail.

The dancers drank freely of it and about twenty were poisoned before it was discovered.

They all commenced vomiting. Most of them are better this morning except the four, who will probably die.

The water was examined by a physician who pronounced the poison arsenic.

WILL WORK FOR GOD.

Miss Alice Sheffield to Join the Salvation Army.

A SACRIFICE FOR OTHERS.

She Gives Up a Fine Position Across the Bay.

CHURCHES TOO CONSERVATIVE

An East Oakland Girl Takes a Determined Step.

Miss Alice Sheffield, formerly entry clerk and stenographer for Bonestell & Co. of San Francisco, has resigned her position to devote her life to the Salvation Army.

Miss Sheffield, or as she is called by her friends "Allie," lives with her parents in a cozy little home at 1271 Fifth avenue, East Oakland. She is of the pure Anglo-Saxon type. A fair complexion with sunny hair and laughing childish eyes of blue. Her features are regular, showing a determination of character which will carry her through the hardships of her chosen life where many would fail.

When asked if the report were true that she had joined the Salvation Army she answered:

"Yes, it is perfectly true, and is a step

MISS SHEFFIELD.

I have been meditating for some time. I have always been a member of the church and worked in the cause of religion. I attended Dr. Hobart's church, the First Baptist, and am a member of the Christian Endeavor and also had a class in the West Oakland mission. I had been with Bonestell & Co. for over six years but on the 3d of this month I handed them my resignation. I could not hold my position with them and do the Army work too. I have filed my application with the Army, but as yet I have not heard from it. You have to send in your application, you know, accompanied by a recommendation from the officer in charge of the barracks from which you apply. If my application receives a favorable consideration I shall then have to submit to a medical examination and if I pass that I shall enter the garrison in San Francisco to obtain the proper education for the work that is before me. This schooling lasts for at least four months. With some, of course, it takes longer. None go through in less."

"Have you chosen the branch of service you will follow?" asked the reporter. "There is more than one branch, is there not?"

"Oh, yes, there are three divisions—what we call slum work, rescue work and mission work. At the training garrison the work is selected for you. They assign you to whichever division you appear most adapted. Now, of course I have my preferences, but, under those circumstances, don't you think I would be perhaps a little forward in telling you so that you can put it in a newspaper?"

The reporter assured her that no harm could come from her telling of it.

"Well, I won't tell you anyhow," she replied, "because I don't—well, yes, I will too. I want to go into the Rescue Corps. I don't know whether or not they will assign me to that work, but I hope they will. My whole heart is wrapped up in it. If they think, however, that I am better fitted to some other branch, of course I shall go into it and work as hard as I can."

"No," she continued in response to a question, "none of my family are members of the Salvation Army, but they did not object to my joining. They just allowed me to follow the dictates of my own heart and my heart is ahead of me in my work. I want to give my whole life to it and I hope they will accept my application."

The reporter, to divert her mind from an apparently painful thought, asked if she were successful in securing a lieutenancy in the Rescue Corps would she be assigned to duty in Oakland.

"That I do not know. I shall probably be sent away some time, and I want to go where I can do the most good. Wherever I am most needed I want them to send me," replied the little woman.

"Now that you have joined the Army, will you renounce your allegiance to the church?" was asked.

"No, not necessarily," she said. "You see I joined the Army because it reaches a class of people that never go to church and the church never goes to them. Churches are all right, but to completely cover the field both church and Army are necessary. The Army work is more active and that is what I want. I think I fully appreciated the life I am to lead before I made my application."

"Yes, that is my guitar and I am taking lessons on it now," continued Miss Sheffield in response to a question. "Music is part of the Army work. We are not supposed to deprive ourselves of everything that tends to enjoyment, but my taking lessons is more to fit myself for my coming duties than my own amusement. It seemed strange to march on the streets for the first time. I have been with the Army as a soldier several times. The costume seemed strange, but I soon grew to like it and now I am as proud of my bonnet as can be."

"Is this your photograph?" asked the reporter, calling her attention to a photograph in the room.

"Oh, that, yes, but I must put that away. See how I had my hair all fluffed on my forehead and see the silk puffs and lace trimmings on the waist. We are not supposed to dress showily now and that picture looks as though I might be vain. So my dress I have on. It has no extra frills and I combed by hair back," and she ran her hand over her hair that, though combed straight back, showed its curliness in little waves. "We don't try to dress fashionably, just comfortably and neatly. Our uniform shows almost the kind of work we try to do. It is a protection to us too. We can go any place and be sure that we shall not be insulted as we might be if attired in the conventional garb of society," concluded the little woman who will give up home and all that most hold dear to fight the hard battles for the cross and charity.

ANOTHER RECRUIT.

But Miss Sheffield is not the only one who intends to spend her life in salvation work. Miss Ella Fisher of 1101 Broadway has decided to join the Army.

A call for Miss Fisher brought forth a young lady with dark hair and eyes and a pretty petite figure. Like Miss Sheffield, her hair was combed back from a well-shaped forehead and her dress was devoid of worldly trimmings. She is an orphan and lives with her cousin. Her application was filed and the board of officers have passed favorably upon it. In a few days she will go into the garrison to commence her studies for her future work.

"I have joined the Army," she said, "but I don't think I ought to tell it to you to print. It will seem as though we wanted to advertise the Army, and our work is our best recommendation. Miss Sheffield and I joined at the same time, but we have chosen different branches of work. I want to go into what we term slum work; that is, going and living right with the poor and helping them all I can. When they are sick we stay with them and act as nurses. When they are hungry we feed them and when they are poorly clad we clothe them. Of course you understand that is the work I prefer, but it rests with others to assign me, and if they think me better fitted for other kind of service I shall undertake it. Many choose missionary work and now the Salvation Army is known all over the world. In fact, I do not think there is a civilized country on the earth that we have not reached. Like Miss Sheffield, I have been a member of the First Baptist church ever since I have been in Oakland which is about five years. I have known her for some time and we joined the Army together."

Accident to the Niagara During a Crack Contest at Cowes.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

COWES, Aug. 11.—In a westerly breeze this morning, R. S. Palmer's crack American schooner cruiser Yampa and Frederick Wills' English cruising schooner Amphitrite started in a race for a prize of £100 over the old Queen's course of 30 miles.

The contest grew out of the fact that the Yampa won Lord Iveagh's £200 cup Wednesday over the same course, the Amphitrite being second. Wills protested against the cup being awarded the Yampa on the ground that the latter carried nine men in her crew in excess of the number allowed by the rules governing the contest.

The Yampa allowed the Amphitrite 7 minutes, 41 seconds today.

At the start at 10 o'clock the American schooner had the weather berth but in the beat to the first mark at Lymington spit the Amphitrite drew ahead and rounded it with a lead of 12 minutes, 50 seconds.

At Ryde pier the Amphitrite had a lead of 13 minutes, 28 seconds.

CRIMES OF THE CONTRA COSTA

Unscrupulous Competition Is Subjected to Criticism.

Editor Tribune—Sir: It is possible that the Contra Costa Water Company has overreached itself at last.

During many thrifty years it has profited by overreaching the citizens of Oakland, and so accustomed has the grasp of the corporation become to the throats of the people that rather than relish the pleasure of a grip which it now feels steadily but surely loosening, it has lifted a suicidal clutch to its own throttle.

It has been decreed by the supersensitive and maudlin contingent who yelp at the heels of individual members of the corporation that any attack upon that immaculate aggregation of capital and guil must immediately result in "sympathy" for the poor, down trodden, persecuted ex-monopoly. Censure or criticism of the acts of the corporation must be incontinently construed as unwarranted, wanton, gratuitous and the martyred victim must receive aid, comfort and "sympathy" in consequence.

Human nature is the same in every age and under all conditions. The greatest criminals, the most depraved monsters have counted in their following "sympathizers" who wept because a cruel, remorseless, relentless justice had seized upon those abnormal creatures and proposed to strangle them, to the end that their continued existence should not imperil the lives of other human beings fit to enjoy the blessings of this earthly residence.

Heretofore in recording the history of the Contra Costa Water Company whenever it has been necessary to charge delinquencies and crimes upon its management this "sympathy" has arisen as a bar to further procedure—like the attitude of limitations in legal robberies it has intervened to protect the pachydermatous hide of a soulless corporation from a continuous flogging at the hands of those who might be justly aggrieved against it.

It is possible, therefore, that in the present instance this "sympathy" will be invoked, and notwithstanding the flagrant character of the outrage that has been brought home to the corporation, there will be found people who will deprecate the indignant protest of the citizens who last Sunday witnessed the willful, wanton waste of millions upon millions of gallons of pure water at Alvarado.

It will be urged in defense of the Contra Costa oaths and vandals that they have the right to waste this water because they have leased the wells and pay for the coal used in operating the pumps. The same apologists would contend that a man may beat his dog to death if he can show a title of ownership, or that he may, with a clear conscience and inhuman impunity, lay the lash upon the bare back of the child indisputably and unfortunately his own offspring.

But such specious argument will not convince men endowed with common humanity that the Contra Costa Company can acquire any such rights—the members of the corporation cannot beat their dogs or their children without at least a semblance of just cause, and they cannot be acquitted of criminal complicity in the wasting of this water on the salt marshes of Alvarado.

There must be some decency left among the stockholders of the corporation, even if the management of that concern has lost all sense of shame. It is not expected that the men who control the affairs of the company and who are directly responsible for all the crimes of the corporation would even blush to confess that they lay awake nights plotting new devilments for the discomforture of their business rival, but among those who merely own stock in the concern there must be some who have the manhood to protest against the outrages that the management is continually perpetrating.

It is not expected that these stockholders could subordinated the gratitude they owe the source of their dividends to their sense of justice so far as to acknowledge openly that the cutting of a business rival's water pipes, the destruction of his flumes, the filtering of salt water into his supply and the wasting of millions of gallons of pure, fresh water in the absurd effort to injure the business of a legitimate competition are heinous offenses worthy of emphatic and indignant condemnation. These stockholders are but human, after all. The almighty dollar is the god at whose shrine they bow down and worship, never questioning how the mire and filth came upon the feet of their idol or what may be the unclean sources of the golden blessings bestowed in answer to their prayers.

But even these people, profiting by the villainies of their fiduciary sponsors, cannot in their hearts approve of the means that are being adopted to preserve the integrity of a tottering institution. Their conscience cannot but convict them of the burden of the thought that they are beneficiaries of a concern that has merited the contempt and indignation of the best citizens of the community.

It is not often that the people are called upon to rebuke a corporation as they have decided to do in the present instance. But it cannot be urged even by "sympathizers" that such public discipline is too severe. The arrogance of this corporation as a monopoly and its contemptible conduct as the competitor of an enterprise that is dealing fairly and honestly by the people deserves all the censure that has been heaped upon it and all the indignation that will be expressed at the mass meeting tomorrow night.

The wasting of 3,000,000 gallons of water fit for human consumption is a matter that merits more than passing condemnation by individuals. Those who are guilty of this outrageous method of conducting their business should be made to feel that they have finally placed themselves outside the pale of the business community. They must be made to understand that they can not with impunity carry their hatred and their spite to such an extreme as has been proved against the Contra Costa Water Company. It is no longer a question of patronage or supremacy; it is no longer a contention between two companies striving for public support; it is a matter that vitally interests and intimately concerns the personal welfare of every citizen, and every lover of fair play, every honest, right-minded, justice-loving resident of Oakland will be in attendance at this assembly on Thursday evening to give moral support and countenance to a movement that will meet with the approval of the majority of the community in spite of the "sympathy" that can find flimsy excuses for the dastardly actions of the present management of the Contra Costa Water Company.

GRAPE GROWERS GAY.

A Magnificent Crop Is to Be Harvested Up North.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Aug. 14.—Prospects are looking bright for the grape growers of Sonoma county this season.

Many wineries have been doubled in their capacity and arrangements are being made for a heavy run when the grape crushing begins.

At Windsor there are three big wineries, and all have been increased in capacity.

Twelve dollars per ton is being offered for grapes now and cash will be paid.

The grape crop will be a fair one, and it looks now as if the grape growers will realize better results than any other class of fruit growers in Sonoma county.

None of the canneries are yet running at full blast. Fruit is coming in very slowly.

The growers seem to be holding off for higher prices and the canners will not pay a high price.

GENERAL INDICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The official returns for August show that the prospective fruit crop of the country, taken as a whole, is much larger than for several years.

The report of the European agent of the agricultural department for August shows fair crops in most countries except Great Britain.

A Midnight Mob Storms the County Jail at Ellensburg.

THE VINSONS TAKEN OUT.

Father and Son Then Choked to Death in the Heart of the City.

FIREBELLS GAVE THE SIGNAL.

They Were Killed as the Result of a Saloon Fight Last Sunday.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ELLENSBURG, Wash., Aug. 14.—At midnight a mob battered open the steel cell in the county jail, took out Sam and Charles Vinson, the two murderers of Sunday's killing affray, father and son, took them three blocks to the residence portion of the town and strung both up to one tree.

AN EXCITING STORY.

SEATTLE, Aug. 14.—An Ellensburg special to the Post-Intelligencer says:

At 12 o'clock last night the fire bell rang and a crowd was at the county jail inside of three minutes battering on the steel cage.

For an hour and a half the blows of hammers resounded on the still night air and at 1:30 Sam Vinson and his son Charles, the murderers of Sunday, were led out by the mob, with ropes around their necks.

The victims were walked three blocks, and a small silver poplar, eight inches in diameter chosen.

The ropes were thrown over the first limb and father and son hauled up by willing hands.

Their feet were not over a foot from the ground, and the two men were choked to death with their faces within six inches of each other.

After the death of "Dutch John" this afternoon an uneasy feeling began to manifest itself, and as evening came on it grew in intensity.

At 9:30 when the streets are usually deserted, knots of men could be seen all over town, and it was apparent that trouble was coming.

Sheriff Stinson was very active and had extra deputies on duty at the jail.

He had arrangements made that the ringing of the fire bell should be the signal that the mob was under way.

THE ATTACK ON THE JAIL.

Promptly at 12 o'clock the bell rang, and almost simultaneously the guards were overpowered and the outer jail doors soon passed.

The steel cage was stubborn but the mob was determined.

After the wretches were secured they assumed a dogged silence.

The old man never spoke, but Charles pulled back and struggled some.

Both were hustled along, however, and several telegraph poles were tried without suiting the leaders.

When near the fatal tree young Vinson spoke his only words, saying:

"I hate it on my mother's account. You'll be sorry for this."

The last word was uttered as the tightening rope checked off his breath.

The father was strung up a moment before the son, and some one in the crowd said, as Charles was swung up: "Your pa is up there. Go up and see him."

Both men were allowed to hang for some time and the crowd slowly dispersed without firing any shots into the bodies.

There were six other prisoners in the jail, but none were molested and nobody but the two murderers were hurt during the proceedings.

WHY THEY WERE LYNCHED.

Charles Vinson was the man who gave away his comrades with whom he conspired to hold up a Northern Pacific train last April.

The robbers were caught at their rendezvous, where they were ready for work.

A jury at Ellensburg refused to convict the robbers on Vinson's testimony.

Charles Vinson and Sam Vinson, his father, were drunk and raising a disturbance all last Sunday at Ellensburg.

About 6:45 o'clock in the evening they entered the Teutonic saloon and picked a quarrel, during which Charles shot Mike Kohlopp, one of the proprietors.

The ball entered the right breast and the victim died half an hour later.

John Bergman, well known as "Dutch John," went to the defense of Kohlopp, when the elder Vinson stabbed him in the right breast, inflicting a horrible wound from which Bergman died Tuesday.

After Kohlopp was shot he grappled young Vinson, threw him to the floor and dealt him several blows, but was forced to desist by failing strength. Samuel Vinson and his son came from Allen, Mason county.

The younger man had served a year in the penitentiary.

A FEMALE SUICIDE.

She Made a Good Job of It and Accomplished Her End.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHARLESTON, Mo., Aug. 13.—Mrs. R. T. Martin, the wife of a prominent farmer living near this place, committed suicide yesterday by hanging herself to a rafter in the smokehouse.

Before she hung herself she set fire to a lot of rubbish that was in the smokehouse and the flames burned the rope which she was hung with.

The body fell into the fire and was terribly burned.

Several cartridges that were among the rubbish were discharged by the fire.

This awoke her husband, but too late to save her.

A CHALLENGE TO ALL.

Offer to Match John R. Gentry Against All the Pacers.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Myron McHenry, the trainer of John R. Gentry, has issued the following challenge:

"I will match John R. Gentry against any pacer in the world for $5000 a side.

"I will match Gentry against Joe Patchen and Robert J. in a three cornered race for $5000 a horse, the distance to be within fifty feet of the wire and the winner to take the entire $15,000 and the purse offered by the association under whose auspices the race is run.

"The race must be upon the track offering the most money."

The Supervisors Armed and Ready for the Fray.

Arguments Against An Increase by the State Board.

There will be a large representation of Alameda county officials at the meeting of the State Board of Equalization at Sacramento tomorrow when the question of raising the county assessment will be heard. The notice from the State Board that was sent to the supervisors some days ago is construed to be a citation to the Board to appear and show cause why the assessment should not be raised.

Acting upon this interpretation of the notice the Supervisors decided to go before the State Board in a body and present their case. The supervisors will be flanked in their fight by County Assessor Dalton who will go to the scene of battle primed and loaded with a mass of argument to present against the proposed raise.

Accompanying Supervisors Bailey, Church, Johnston, Talcott and Pelouze, who left at noon today for San Francisco, where they will proceed to the capital on the afternoon boat was County Clerk Frank Jordan.

Assessor Dalton burned the midnight oil last evening with his attorney W. R. Davis getting the data and material into shape for his fight against the proposed raise. Dalton's contention is that the assessment of this year is $1,000,000 higher than that of 1894 which was left untouched by the State Board. He claims that there are no circumstances to warrant the State Board in touching his figures. He says the total raise over last year was $3,000,000 but as this was materially cut by the Board of Supervisors it left the net increase a little over $1,000,000.

The supervisors are not anxious for an increase and will make a strenuous fight to prevent any change in the rolls as they now stand.

It is asserted that there have been no great improvements in the county during the past year which would justify the State Board in imposing a heavier burden upon the taxpayers at this time.

An estimate based upon the assessment roll at $90,000,000 would if a 5 per cent raise is ordered make a very material increase that would impose a greater burden on the taxpayers than the situation seems to justify. That is the argument made by the supervisors and Dalton on this phase of the matter.

POISONED A WELL.

The Residents of an Indiana Village Taken Sick.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CROWN POINT, Ind., Aug. 14.—Excitement is at fever heat at Horsford Park, a little town near Ross Station, on the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway, seven miles north of this city.

Sheriff Hayes received a telegram that an attempt was made to poison the whole village and the sheriff with several deputies left at once for the scene.

The fifty inhabitants of that village attended a dance Monday night and as a result Charles Williams, Miss Reisig and two girls from Chicago, are not expected to live.

During the evening some person placed arsenic or strychnine in large quantities in the water pail.

The dancers drank freely of it and about twenty were poisoned before it was discovered.

They all commenced vomiting. Most of them are better this morning except the four, who will probably die.

The water was examined by a physician who pronounced the poison arsenic.

WILL WORK FOR GOD.

Miss Alice Sheffield to Join the Salvation Army.

A SACRIFICE FOR OTHERS.

CHURCHES TOO CONSERVATIVE

An East Oakland Girl Takes a Determined Step.

Miss Alice Sheffield, formerly entry clerk and stenographer for Bonestell & Co. of San Francisco, has resigned her position to devote her life to the Salvation Army.

Miss Sheffield, or as she is called by her friends "Allie," lives with her parents in a cozy little home at 1271 Fifth avenue, East Oakland. She is of the pure Anglo-Saxon type. A fair complexion with sunny hair and laughing childish eyes of blue. Her features are regular, showing a determination of character which will carry her through the hardships of her chosen life where many would fail.

When asked if the report were true that she had joined the Salvation Army she answered:

"Yes, it is perfectly true, and is a step

MISS SHEFFIELD.

I have been meditating for some time. I have always been a member of the church and worked in the cause of religion. I attended Dr. Hobart's church; the First Baptist, and am a member of the Christian Endeavor and also had a class in the West Oakland mission. I had been with Bonestell & Co. for over six years, but on the 3d of this month I handed them my resignation. I could not hold my position with them and do the Army work too. I have filed my application with the Army, but as yet I have not heard from it. You have to send in your application, you know, accompanied by a recommendation from the officer in charge of the barracks from which you apply. If my application receives a favorable consideration I shall then have to submit to a medical examination and if I pass that I shall enter the garrison in San Francisco to obtain the proper education for the work that is before me. This schooling lasts for at least four months. With some, of course, it takes longer. None go through in less."

"Have you chosen the branch of service you will follow?" asked the reporter. "There is more than one branch, is there not?"

"Oh, yes, there are three divisions—what we call slum work, rescue work and mission work. At the training garrison the work is selected for you. They assign you to whichever division you appear most adapted. Now, of course I have my preferences, but, under those circumstances, don't you think I would be perhaps a little forward in telling you so that you can put it in a newspaper?"

The reporter assured her that no harm could come from her telling of it.

"Well, I won't tell you anyhow," she replied, "because I don't—well, yes, I will, too. I want to go into the Rescue Corps. I don't know whether or not they will assign me to that work, but I hope they will. My whole heart is wrapped up in it. If they think, however, that I am better fitted to some other branch, of course, I shall go into it and work as hard as I can."

"No," she continued in response to a question, "none of my family are members of the Salvation Army, but they did not object to my joining. They just allowed me to follow the dictates of my own heart and my heart is ahead of me in my work. I want to give my whole life to it and I hope they will accept my application."

The reporter, to divert her mind from an apparently painful thought, asked if she were successful in securing a lieutenancy in the Rescue Corps would she be assigned to duty in Oakland.

"That I do not know. I shall probably be sent away some time, and I want to go where I can do the most good. Wherever I am most needed I want them to send me," replied the little woman.

"Now that you have joined the Army, will you renounce your allegiance to the church?" was asked.

"No, not necessarily," she said. "You see I joined the Army because it reaches a class of people that never go to church and the church never goes to them. Churches are all right, but to completely cover the field both church and Army are necessary. The Army work is more active and that is what I want. I think I fully appreciated the life I am to lead before I made my application."

"Yes, that is my guitar and I am taking lessons on it now," continued Miss Sheffield in response to a question. "Music is part of the Army work. We are not supposed to deprive ourselves of everything that tends to enjoyment, but my taking lessons is more to fit myself for my coming duties than my own amusement. It seemed strange to march on the streets for the first time. I have been with the Army as a soldier several times. The costume seemed strange, but I soon grew to like it and now I am as proud of my bonnet as can be."

"Is this your photograph?" asked the reporter, calling her attention to a photograph in the room.

"Oh, that; yes, but I must put that away. See how I had my hair all fluffed on my forehead and see the silk puffs and lace trimmings on the waist. We are not supposed to dress showily now and that picture looks as though I might be vain. See my dress I have on. It has no extra frills and I combed by hair back," and she ran her hand over her hair that, though combed straight back, showed its curliness in little waves. "We don't try to dress fashionably; just comfortably and neatly. Our uniform shows almost the kind of work we try to do. It is a protection to us, too. We can go any place and be sure that we shall not be insulted as we might be if attired in the conventional garb of society," concluded the little woman who will give up home and all that most hold dear to fight the hard battles for the cross and charity.

ANOTHER RECRUIT.

But Miss Sheffield is not the only one who intends to spend her life in salvation work. Miss Ella Fisher of 1101 Broadway has decided to join the Army.

A call for Miss Fisher brought forth a young lady with dark hair and eyes and a pretty petite figure. Like Miss Sheffield, her hair was combed back from a well-shaped forehead and her dress was devoid of worldly trimmings. She is an orphan and lives with her cousin. Her application was filed and the board of officers have passed favorably upon it. In a few days she will go into the garrison to commence her studies for her future work.

"I have joined the Army," she said, "but I don't think I ought to tell it to you to print. It will seem as though we wanted to advertise the Army and our work is our best recommendation. Miss Sheffield and I joined at the same time, but we have chosen different branches of work. I want to go into what we term slum work; that is, going and living right with the poor and helping them all I can. When they are sick we stay with them and act as nurses. When they are hungry we feed them and when they are poorly clad we clothe them. Of course you understand that is the work I prefer, but it rests with others to assign me, and if they think me better fitted for other kind of service I shall undertake it. Many choose missionary work and now the Salvation Army is known all over the world. In fact, I do not think there is a civilized country on the earth that we have not reached. Like Miss Sheffield, I have been a member of the First Baptist church ever since I have been in Oakland, which is about five years. I have known her for some time and we joined the Army together."

"Yes, I appreciate that the work will be hard," she concluded, "but it is not work to me to be forever doing good; to know that I was always helping some one would be the greatest pleasure that this life could give."

It is not often that the people are called upon to rebuke a corporation as they have decided to do in the present instance. But it cannot be urged even by "sympathizers" that such public discipline is too severe. The arrogance of this corporation as a monopoly and its contemptible conduct as the competitor of an enterprise that is dealing fairly and honestly by the people deserves all the censure that has been leveled at it and all the indignation that will be expressed at the mass meeting tomorrow night.

The wasting of 3,000,000 gallons of water fit for human consumption is a matter that merits more than passing condemnation by individuals. Those who are guilty of this outrageous method of conducting their business should be made to feel that they have finally placed themselves outside the pale of the business community. They must be made to understand that they can not with impunity carry their hatred and their spite to such an extreme as has been proved against the Contra Costa Water Company. It is no longer a question of patronage or supremacy; it is no longer a contention between two companies striving for public support; it is a matter that vitally interests and intimately concerns the personal welfare of every citizen, and every lover of fair play, every honest, right-minded, justice-loving resident of Oakland will be in attendance at this assembly on Thursday evening to give moral support and countenance to a movement that will meet with the approval of the majority of the community irrespective of the "sympathy" that can find flimsy excuses for the dastardly actions of the present management of the Contra Costa Water Company.

GRAPE GROWERS GAY.

A Magnificent Crop Is to Be Harvested Up North.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SANTA ROSA, Cal., Aug. 14.—Prospects are looking bright for the grape growers of Sonoma county this season.

Many wineries have been doubled in their capacity and arrangements are being made for a heavy run when the grape crushing begins.

At Windsor there are three big wineries, and all have been increased in capacity.

Twelve dollars per ton is being offered for grapes now and cash will be paid.

The grape crop will be a fair one, and it looks now as if the grape growers will realize better results than any other class of fruit growers in Sonoma county.

None of the canneries are yet running at full blast. Fruit is coming in very slowly.

The growers seem to be holding off for higher prices and the canners will not pay a high price.

GENERAL INDICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The official returns for August show that the prospective fruit crop of the country, taken as a whole, is much larger than for several years.

The report of the European agent of the agricultural department for August shows fair crops in most countries except Great Britain.

CHANGING HIS STORY.

Muhlner Now Says He Made a Mistake About the Time.

The Dying Girl's Father Tells of the Prisoner's Actions.

HIS DESPERATE LOVE-MAKING.

Some Remarks Which Are Now Being Construed as Threats.

Jennie Lewis, the unfortunate young woman who was shot at the residence of Professor Mooar of the Pacific Theological Seminary, 450 Edwards street, last Monday evening, is still lying in a comatose condition at the receiving hospital. It is the unconsciousness that will terminate in death, though it can not now be told when dissolution will take place. The girl is regularly attended to by Dr. Johnson, who is assisted by Drs. Hamlin and Dunn, and receives the closest attention from Steward Victory and Matron Bennet of the institution.

Their care is supplemented by that of Miss Lewis' mother, who arrived from San Rafael last night, her uncle, Chas. Garrison, who is a baggageman on the railroad between Tiburon and Ukiah; a cousin, Mrs. Stepp of Tiburon, and a number of friends of the family, of whom there are many in this city. There have been many callers at the hospital, mainly young ladies, all of whom have displayed the greatest solicitude for the condition of the wounded girl.

They have tendered their kind offices and expressed a willingness to aid the parents of the unfortunate girl in any manner possible. These tenders of sympathy and assistance are gratefully received by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, both of whom are bearing up bravely under their misfortune. Mr. Lewis has had only two hours' sleep since the news of his daughter's shooting reached him in San Rafael. He is an intelligent little man, and, though greatly troubled by the unjustifiable act of the miscreant, still he displays no animosity toward Muhlner, the man who is now in jail suspected of shooting the girl. He believes, however, that no person save Muhlner had anything to do with shooting Jennie, though he expresses himself in measured terms on the painful subject. He was interviewed by a Tribune reporter this morning, and in response to questions said:

"There is no doubt in my mind as to who shot my daughter. I believe it was Muhlner, because of what I know of the relations which existed between him and Jennie and because of what I have heard since my arrival here. Muhlner was devotedly attached to Jennie. He wanted her to marry him and persisted in his requests almost whenever he met her. He was getting good wages at Point Reyes, perhaps $75 a month. He used to spend a great deal of this buying presents for Jennie, which he wanted her to accept or to wear for a time anyway, even if she were not disposed to accept them as the gift of a lover. But Jennie would not accept any of them and could not bear to have anything to do with his presents.

"One time Muhlner bought a gold watch valued at $75 or $80 and offered it to her in the presence of a number of people in the residence of P. Reinhold at Point Reyes. He wanted her to accept the watch and to then and there pledge herself to become his wife. But Jennie told him she could not accept the watch, that she could not consent to marry him, and that she did not want to discuss the subject with him. He put the watch in her hand and she put it back in his. She would not keep it. He had a diamond ring at the time. He put it on her finger and it fitted her well, I believe, and she handed that back to him also. He begged her to wear it for a time anyway, if only as a friend, but she would not keep the ring under any circumstances. Jennie acted in this way under my instructions, because I have always told my children not to accept presents from gentlemen.

"When Muhlner found that Jennie had come here to friends he followed her, though she maintained the same distant relations with him that she did up in the country. She kept me informed of what was going on. But she was so kind-hearted she could not hurt his feelings by throwing him off and compelling him to leave her alone. She used to think that if she did any more than tell him that she did not love him it would hurt his feelings. He continued, however, to try and induce her to accept presents from him, but she refused them and she wrote me several times that she had come to tear him when it became necessary to decline his presents.

THE MONEY MATTERS.

The reporter then referred to the fact that one of Muhlner's letters to Jennie contained a reference to money as follows: "About the money, well you need not be uneasy about it. Keep it as long as you choose. I am in no hurry about it and never had any idea you got it just to fool me. I know you too well to be as mean as that."

"I will explain that as well as I can," said Mr. Lewis. "Muhlner used to insist upon Jennie getting her teeth fixed and I believe he offered her money to get them done by a dentist. She wrote to me about it and I told her that if it was necessary to have her teeth repaired I would work around and, after a while get the money for her, but that, as her teeth were not in bad condition, she might as well wait to have the repairing done until she had money enough herself to pay for the work. I believe she did have a little work done on her teeth, but whether the bill is all paid yet or whether Muhlner advanced money to enable Jennie to pay for the work I don't know. I don't know whether the dental work was done in this city or San Francisco."

THE THREATS.

On the subject of the alleged threats by Muhlner against Jennie, Mr. Lewis was disposed to be reticent. It was only after earnest persuasion on the part of the reporter that the father of the girl consented to touch on the subject at all.

"Muhlner threatened Jennie right in my own house in San Rafael. But I did not hear of it until after my arrival here and Jennie had been shot. Since my wife's arrival here, she has told her brother, Mr. Garrison and a lady, a cousin of Jennie's of the threats heard by the members of my family. My wife is now at a friend's house here for a short time.

"Last Saturday, on his way to this city, Muhlner stopped at my house in San Rafael. I was away from home that day. I did not return until late at night. Muhlner told my wife that he had learned that Jennie was going to a ball in Germania Hall in this city, that night. He said he had found it out in a certain manner and that he was going to Oakland and would 'fix Jennie in such a manner that she would never go to that hall.' He left San Rafael, came to this city and now Jennie is shot. My wife forgot to tell me about the threat, I guess, or else she was afraid that I might cause some trouble if I noticed that she had some fear that the threat would be carried into execution."

Muhlner arrived here Saturday afternoon, called on Jennie soon after his arrival, and, according to his own story, learned from her that she was going to the ball with Charles Miller. He did not carry out his threat, however.

In this connection, it may be stated that, since the publication of Muhlner's story in yesterday's Tribune, the suspect has seen fit to change the recital of his goings and comings to and from the Mooar residence on the day of the shooting. Muhlner is a crafty fellow. He has been reading the papers and, in the Tribune which appeared his story that he had called at the Mooar residence at 2:20 P. M., Monday and remained there until 2:45 P. M., he found published also the story of Miss Mooar that she had left home at 2:30 o'clock P. M. or thereabout and that Muhlner was not there at that time. That was one contradiction. Then there was the story that Professor Mooar had worked around the parterre in front and on the side of the house, until about 3 P. M. and that, up to that time, Muhlner had not been seen at the Mooar residence. The professor also left home in the vicinity of 3:15 P. M. going to the cars on Telegraph avenue en route to San Francisco, and at that time, his latest corrected time, Muhlner was not there.

Then P. J. Shafter says that Muhlner, whom he had known in the vicinity of Point Reyes, passed his (Shafter's) residence, going east on Edwards street toward the Mooar residence at 3:30 o'clock. Muhlner admits the fact of passing Shafter's but says that it was at a much earlier hour than that of which Shafter is positive.

That was Muhlner's story yesterday when, he said, he had passed the time between 2:30 and 2:45 P. M. at Mooar's, but now that he claims he left Jennie at 2:15 o'clock P. M., another change as to the time of his going thither must also be made.

These stories of Muhlner are intended to try and establish an alibi as are also the stories as to his having visited the Montana saloon at Ninth and Broadway and the Oak saloon at Seventh and Washington streets. In the first place, however, Muhlner is unknown and at the second place his presence there cannot be located more definitely than between 3 and 5 o'clock P. M. Shafter of course will be an important witness, as will also Letter Collector Leber, who, when collecting his mail opposite Shafter's house on Edwards street at 4 P. M. Monday, informed Shafter of the trouble at the Mooar residence.

The shooting took place somewhere between 3:30 and 4 P. M. and thus far none of the people to whom Muhlner has referred to corroborate his story as to his whereabouts between 3:30 P. M. and the time he alleges he took the 4 P. M. train for San Francisco have afforded him any assistance.

His later statements as to having played cards in San Francisco at 5 P. M. Monday may be true, but he could have been at the Mooar residence at 3:30 P. M. and even later and still have taken the boat so as to arrive in San Francisco in time to indulge in cards at the hour mentioned.

Another circumstance considered suspicuous is the fact of his surrendering himself to the police so early Tuesday morning, the day after the shooting. Ordinarily, a man who is off on a vacation prefers to rest in the morning.

But Muhlner must have risen with the lark that morning because he surrendered at 5:45 o'clock A. M.

The fact of his surrender is construed by some friends to be an evidence of Muhlner's innocence, but the police say he brought his cunning into play, knowing that he could not escape the officers of the law who were watching for him everywhere, also that an attempt at escape would be proof of his guilt.

THE PRISONER'S ACTIONS.

Muhlner is placed beyond the visits of reporters under Chief Lloyd's order, and no one will be allowed to see him until further notice.

He was called on by his mother and his brother's sister Mrs. W. F. Muhlner yesterday evening. His mother's home is at 32 Fell street, San Francisco. She was overcome with grief when she met her boy in jail. Muhlner was sitting on a bench. When his mother met him and threw her arms around his neck he did not arise from his sitting position. The mother was given her son's watch and about $20 in cash which he had on his person when arrested. On his fingers at the time of his arrest Muhlner had two rings of the style generally worn by women. Each was of gold wire, one containing three small green stones in a band across the top of the finger. The other had a solitaire diamond. This is the ring, which, Jennie's father says, Muhlner wished her to wear.

The police, however, refused to allow these rings to leave their possession, for the reason that they may have something to do with the case.

This morning Muhlner received a telephone message from Point Reyes. He was brought to the 'phone in the chief's office, when the substitute in his position at Point Reyes consulted him as regards proposed improvements about six miles from the Point.

A GLIMPSE OF CONSCIOUSNESS.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon Jennie Lewis, while surrounded by her father, mother, Charles Miller, and the matron of the hospital, opened her eyes and looked in an intelligent manner at those near her. Everybody thought she was going to speak. After a gaze of about a minute the eyes of the girl closed again and the silence she has maintained since Monday evening remained unbroken.

THE OLD BOARD WINS.

Omaha's Police Tangle Will Be Settled by the Courts.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

OMAHA, Aug. 14.—The situation of the Omaha police muddle has not changed materially.

Since an early hour the City Hall has been surrounded by a large crowd, mostly curiosity-seekers.

No effort has been made to disperse them.

The A. P. A. commission met at 10 o'clock at the rooms reserved for their use by the City Council. The quarters were crowded by probably 200 sympathizers.

The old commission agreed and a meeting is now in progress in the mayor's office.

After an animated discussion the old fire and police commissioners refusing any compromise except on a basis of permitting the Supreme Court to pass on the situation the A. P. A. commission consented and it was agreed the old commission should continue to conduct the offices of the city until the decision is rendered.

This was considered a definite settlement.

Lyons on a Tear.

Inspector Lyons, who is in charge of a sewer that is being laid in North Oakland, took to much liquor yesterday, and entering Barbarias' saloon, discharged his pistol several times. The proprietor chased him with a hatchet, but the two subsequently effected a reconciliation on the promise that Barbarias would be recompensed for the damage to his place.

A PLOT THAT FAILED.

THEY WANTED TO BREAK JAIL.

Sheriff White Intercepted All the Letters in Time.

The drug store robbers' trial in Judge Frick's court developed a sensation this noon, when Assistant District Attorney Church introduced a letter in evidence which contained details of a scheme by which Berry Holland hoped to smuggle weapons into his cell and fight his way to liberty.

Holland had inveigled his wife Rose into the scheme and had laid out a course for her to follow in getting the pistols which he intended to use to effect his escape.

The plot was discovered by Jailer White, who has been making copies of all the mail matter sent out from the prison by the Hollands and Oppenheimer.

The following is a copy of a letter sent by Berry Holland to his wife. It was copied by Jailer Lane. The original was mailed and Mrs. Holland admitted on the witness stand she had received it.

The letter is as follows, immaterial matter being omitted:

"Aug. 4, 1895.

"Dear Rose: . . . I was sorry when you sent my clothes there was no date on the shirt, as I have been living in hopes all the last week. I suppose you know as well as I do that this is the only way I can get out, and if I don't make it this week I am good for life, which is not very pleasant to think of neither for you not for me, for if I have to go to trial it will take all of our property to fight the cases, and even then we are sure to go over for life after what Ross said, and it seems like a —— shame for us to go to States prison when those things only cost a few dollars, and even a child could send them in when all they have to do is to come up and tie them on a line. And we will do the rest. If it is not done in the next few days there won't be anybody to put the line out for them and it will be all over with us. I expected you to use part of that money to get them with and you would have enough left to live on until I get out, and I will have some money to send you to live on before I am out two days.

". . . Now you must get the things ready to get them in the next few days, the sooner, the better. And you must try and get in to see me as soon as possible so as to let me know the night so that I can have the line out. You must have a note written and in the note you must say that Mr. Lancaster from Berkeley will have some money for me on a certain day and that he wants me to make out a receipt for it to give to you for him and whatever date you put down I will know that is the night you are going to send the things in. . . . Now don't forget. You have a diagram of the cells and wall where I am. If there ain't a string out of the cell I marked down, it will be out of the other cell window, in the same part of the jail, and it may be in the cell up near the office. You can feel the line by running your hand along the wall and there is no one in the office after it gets late in the night. There is no danger at all, if there is no noise made. It is the wall across from the mill where Alice Long works and faces Washington street. . . ."

A postscript says: "Dearest Rose, whatever you do please don't drink anything this week as long as I am here, for they won't even let you in to see me if you do, and I want you to work for me, for you are the only one I can trust and they watch me like a hawk in here. You did not say anything to Dan, I hope, when you went to ask him for the tobacco. Please look out for yourself, now, for if you don't you may do me more harm than good and I am in a bad enough fix already. BERRY."

MORE PREPARATIONS.

Another letter written Tuesday morning following related further preparations of the plotter. It read:

"Dear Rose: For fear the jailers won't give me a note if you send it in I will tell you how you can let me know the night you are going to send the guns in. If it is Tuesday night you must bring me some round steak; Wednesday night, some pork chops; Thursday night, some mutton chops; Friday night, some fish of some kind; Saturday night, some raw sliced ham; Sunday night, some salt pork and a dozen eggs; Monday night a piece of cheese. . . . I hope I will soon be out of this place so that I can see you both once in a while, and before long I can have you both with me in another State.

"BERRY."

As indicating the desperate character of the writer of the letters Jailer White was informed by one of the prisoners that Berry Holland had said he would kill every man on the floor of the jail and fight his way out over their dead bodies if an attempt was made to check his escape.

THE DAY'S EVIDENCE.

There were no other important features developed. Captain Wilson and ex-Chief of Police Schaffer testified as to masks, clothing, pistols and other property found in the possession of the Hollands when they were arrested in San Francisco. Several employes of the Standard lodging house of San Francisco testified that the Hollands had occupied the rooms in that house where they were arrested.

Clerk Crawford of the Police Court testified to one prior conviction of Berry Holland. Then Mrs. Holland, William Lane and Sheriff White testified as to the foregoing letter.

Mrs. Holland never attempted to carry out the plan. A close watch was kept, but she did not attempt to assist her husband. It was believed she became frightened because of the exposure of a prior plot.

The prosecution closed its case with the introduction of the letter.

Colonel T. F. Garrity waived an opening statement for the defense. His first witness was Mrs. Rose Holland.

BROKE THE RECORD.

The St. Louis Makes a Flying Trip Across the Atlantic.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SOUTHAMPTON, Aug. 14.—The American line steamer St. Louis arrived at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and has broken the best eastward record.

The St. Louis left New York August 7th, clearing Sandy Hook lightship at 1:11 P. M. of that day.

Her time passage was 6 days, 19 hours, 43 minutes.

The best previous eastward record was made July 3d last and was 6 days 22 hours 5 minutes.

The best eastward record was held by the Fuerst Bismarck.

SNOW IS SATISFIED.

He Will Not Assess the Seventh Street Railroad Line.

City Assessor Snow is of opinion that the Seventh street railroad line should be assessed by him, in view of the fact that the State Board has already assessed it as part of the general system of the railroad company. The county assessor has assessed the line at $667,000, but Mr. Snow says no doubt the railroad will refuse to pay its taxes on the road in case he should assess it the second time. In that event the city would be obliged to buy in the road, as it would be sold for delinquent taxes. No doubt litigation would ensue which would prove extremely expensive for the city. Mr. Snow says he is satisfied from personal observation and experiment on his part that the road is part of the main line.

Superintendent Wilder, it will be remembered, testified that a ticket could be purchased at the ticket office near Seventh and Broadway for any point on the line of the road and that no extra charges would be made for permitting a person with such a ticket to ride to the mole. Mr. Snow recently put this contention to a test and found that Mr. Wilder was correct in his statement.

Brother Arrests Brother.

D. Kinner and his wife were taken into custody today for disturbing the peace. They called at a planing mill at Second and Washington streets and upbraided Sidney Kinner, the foreman and brother of the arrested man, accusing him of trying to defraud them of $500. The arrested man and his wife were somewhat under the influence of liquor at the time.

NO WRIT OF MANDATE.

A. D. Thomson Loses His Fight for the Livermore Road.

Judge Ellsworth Gives a Decision In Favor of the Board.

Attorney Sam Bell McKee and District Attorney Snook resumed their argument this morning before Judge Ellsworth in the matter of the application of Arthur D. Thomson for a writ of mandate to compel the Supervisors to accept his bid for a franchise for an electric road from Fruitvale to Livermore.

Judge Ellsworth asked the counsel many questions showing that he leaned to the opinion that all the bids in the case were illegal. He was inclined to the view that the proposition of both Thomson and Vandercook to pay a percentage of the income of the roads was uncertain in that the proposition did not stipulate the trips, passengers or traffic that would be done upon which to base the estimates of income. He saw it would be impossible to arrive at how much the county could realize from either bid. The statue, he thought, contemplated that the franchise should be awarded to the highest bidder, for so much money. The bids were identical as to the money consideration of $25, but the question then arose whether or not Thomson's second bid was legal.

"Was it in the power of the board to give one of the bidders," asked Judge Ellsworth, "an opportunity to put in still another bid after the previous tenders had been read?"

It did not seem to the court that such a course would be fair in a private transaction.

Attorney McKee contended that the statue did not recite anything on that point. He said the law did not prescribe the bidders to make formal written tenders. They could, he contended, be made viva voce, if desired.

The argument, however, was mainly directed to the question whether the bids could be considered as cash offers on the basis of the percentage propositions. Judge Ellsworth inclined very strongly to the view that they were not and hence were illegal.

THE JUDGE DENIES.

This afternoon Judge Ellsworth denied the application for the writ of mandate on two grounds: first, that the Board of Supervisors has discretion in the matter of awarding franchises, and secondly because there must be a cash bid. He held that both Vandercook and Thomson had offered a cash bid, namely, $25 each, although the offer of Thomson was not made until after the original bids had been opened and read in the meeting of the Supervisors. These cash bids, the court held, negatived each other.

Sam Bell McKee, counsel for Thomson, gave notice of appeal. He says the court's decision, in effect, nullifies the requirement of the statute that the Supervisors in the matter of granting franchises must award the same to the highest bidder.

TO FORCE THE FIGHT.

An Attorney's Plan to Get Hawaii for Uncle Sam.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 14.—Captain Judson N. Cross, a prominent attorney, mailed President Dole this afternoon a letter containing the novel suggestion that Hawaii elect delegates to the American Congress and demand that they be seated on the same basis as territorial delegates.

Congress, Captain Cross says, would seat them.

The Siedentopf Case.

The Siedentopf case was taken up late this afternoon by Judge Ellsworth who had occupied the early portion of the day in hearing arguments in the Shomson application for a writ of mandate.

GIRARDO'S TOMALE GROTTO

The Only Place In This City Where Good Tomales May Be Eaten and Seen Made.

The palate is sensitive to no keener enjoyment than that afforded by a succulent tamale, provided the delicious and fragrant morsel is cooked and made with first-class materials and by a competent chef who understands the subtle fascinations of Spanish cookery.

There is now one place in Oakland where such a tamale may be procured—Girardo's Tamale Grotto, located at the northwest corner of Broadway and Thirteenth streets.

Oakland is fortunate in having so competent a chef as Mr. Girardo. The vague and terrible preparations sold for years on the street corners of Oakland have disgusted local lovers of tamales, and they will be glad to know that an era of clean, wholesome prime tamales has commenced.

Mr. Girardo has been a Spanish chef for twenty years in the principal seaside resorts of the East and California. He understands how to make those delicious stews which have glorified Spanish cookery, and without a doubt he makes the finest tamale ever sold in California. The tamale, as made by Mr. Girardo, is a dream, combining a mixture of the finest peppers and sauce with fragrant Spanish spices and the very best chicken. The tamales are manufactured only from 12 to 3 o'clock P. M., and the public is cordially invited to see the operation.

Although the Grotto has been open only a few days, it is already receiving an extensive patronage. Girardo's Grotto is becoming a feature of Oakland's restaurant enterprise.

There are cozy private rooms for ladies and families. Girardo's is the only place in Oakland where Spanish dishes are cooked by a first-class Spanish chef.

And withal the prices at Girardo's are reasonable, the service is perfect and everything conduces to make the establishment an exclusive resort for the Oaklander who likes good living and Spanish cooking.

A FIRST-CLASS MAN.

Frank M. Leland Has Built Up the Hayward Road's Popularity.

Frank M. Leland, the well known superintendent of the Oakland, San Leandro & Haywards electric line, has resigned from that road with a view of broadening his scope of operations. Mr. Leland is an expert in his business. Under his supervision the Haywards line was built and the work was done in a first-class manner. Having built it he was made its superintendent and in that capacity quickly displayed his executive ability and clearheadedness. He ran the road in first-class style, got the best rolling stock, handled the men satisfactorily to the company and to themselves and gave the public a splendid service.

Mr. Leland was the first to use airbrakes on electric cars and the whistle which is heard on the Haywards road is the result of his genius. He also designed and built the electric locomotive used by the company in its express business. Another of his inventions is a motor to work an airbrake in the same manner that airbrakes are operated on steam roads. During his superintendency the road has enjoyed an immunity from accidents and has earned the goodwill of the people throghout the territory in which it plies.

MAY GET HIS $600 BACK.

Tax Collector Barber Tells Why He Put Up the Money.

Whidden's Friends Say That They Have Strong Cards to Play.

County Tax Collector Barber says there has been some misunderstanding of the reason why he paid $600 of the shortage which was discovered in his office when the final settlement of last year's taxes was made in July.

"The fact is," said Barber today, "that I felt it my duty to reimburse the county for all that portion of the $1100 deficit which could not be definitely traced to other sources than those over which I had control. The amount paid represents all the deficit that has not been traced. Although the money has been paid to the county, there is an opportunity for me to recover it, provided I locate the shortage in some other administration. If it is found that my end is all right, I shall have a just claim against the county for the return of the money."

Friends of Myron Whidden declare that the situation will not be so black for him after the investigation is commenced. They say there will be some developments at that time that will place an entirely different light upon the transaction which have been made public to date in connection with the scandal.

County Expert Davis has concluded all the arrangements for commencing work upon the books, but he will make no move until he receives instructions from the grand jury.

CHANGING HIS STORY.

Muhlner Now Says He Made a Mistake About the Time.

The Dying Girl's Father Tells of the Prisoner's Actions.

HIS DESPERATE LOVE-MAKING.

Some Remarks Which Are Now Being Construed as Threats.

Jennie Lewis, the unfortunate young woman who was shot at the residence of Professor Moore of the Pacific Theological seminary, 529 Edwards street, last Monday evening, is still lying in a comatose condition at the receiving hospital. It is the unconsciousness that will terminate in death, though it can not now be told when dissolution will take place. The girl is regularly attended by Dr. Johnson, who is assisted by Drs. Hamlin and Dunn, and receives the closest attention from Steward Victory and Matron Jelinet of the institution.

Such care is supplemented by that of Miss Lewis' mother, who arrived from San Rafael last night, her uncle, Chas. Garrison, who is a baggageman on the railroad between Tiburon and Ukiah; a cousin, Mrs. Stepp of Tiburon, and a number of friends of the family, of whom there are many in this city. There have been many callers at the hospital, mainly young ladies, all of whom have displayed the greatest solicitude for the condition of the wounded girl.

They have tendered their kind offices and expressed a willingness to aid the parents of the unfortunate girl in any manner possible. These tenders of sympathy and assistance are gratefully received by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, both of whom are bearing up bravely under their misfortune. Mr. Lewis has had only two hours' sleep since the news of his daughter's shooting reached him in San Rafael. He is an intelligent little man, and, though greatly troubled by the unjustifiable act of the miscreant, still he displays no animosity toward Muhlner the man who is now in jail suspected of shooting the girl. He believes, however, that no person save Muhlner had anything to do with shooting Jennie, though he expresses himself in measured terms on the painful subject. He was interviewed by a Tribune reporter this morning, and in response to quest ons said:

"There is no doubt in my mind as to who shot my daughter. I believe it was Muhlner, because of what I know of the relations which existed between him and Jennie and because of what I have heard since my arrival here. Muhlner was devotedly attached to Jennie. He wanted her to marry him and persisted in his requests almost whenever he met her. He was getting good wages at Point Reyes, perhaps $75 a month. He used to spend a great deal of this having presents for Jennie, which he wanted her to accept or to wear for a time anyway, even if she were not disposed to accept them as the gift of a lover. But Jennie would not accept any of them and could not bear to have anything to do with his presents.

"One time Muhlner bought a gold watch valued at $75 or $80 and offered it to her in the presence of a number of people in the residence of P. Reinhold at Point Reyes. He wanted her to accept the watch and to then and there pledge herself to become his wife. But Jennie told him she could not accept the watch, that she could not consent to marry him, and that she did not want to discuss the subject with him. He put the watch in her hand and she put it back in his. She would not keep it. He had a diamond ring at the time. He put it on her finger and it fitted her well, I believe, and she handed that back to him also. He begged her to wear it for a time anyway, if only as a friend, but she would not keep the ring under any circumstances. Jennie acted in this way under my instructions because I have always told my children not to accept presents from gentlemen.

"When Muhlner found that Jennie had come here to friends he followed her, though she maintained the same distant relations with him that she did up in the country. She kept me informed of what was going on. But she was so kind-hearted she could not hurt his feelings by throwing him off and compelling him to leave her alone. She used to think that if she did any more than tell him that she did not love him it would hurt his feelings. He continued, however, to try and induce her to accept presents from him, but she refused them and she wrote me several times that she had come to fear him when it became necessary to decline his presents.

THE MONEY MATTERS.

The reporter then referred to the fact that one of Muhlner's letters to Jennie contained a reference to money as follows: "About the money, well you need not be uneasy about it. Keep it as long as you choose. I am in no hurry about it and never had any idea you got it just to fool me. I know you too well to be as mean as that."

"I will explain that as well as I can," said Mr. Lewis. "Muhlner used to insist upon Jennie getting her teeth fixed and I believe he offered her money to get them done by a dentist. She wrote to me about it and I told her that if it was necessary to have her teeth repaired I would work around and, after a while get the money for her, but that, as her teeth were not in bad condition, she might as well wait to have the repairing done until she had money enough herself to pay for the work. I believe she did have a little work done on her teeth, but whether the bill is all paid yet or whether Muhlner advanced money to enable Jennie to pay for the work I don't know. I don't know whether the dental work was done in this city or San Francisco."

THE THREATS.

On the subject of the alleged threats by Muhlner against Jennie, Mr. Lewis was disposed to be reticent. It was only after earnest persuasion on the part of the reporter that the father of the girl consented to touch on the subject at all.

"Muhlner threatened Jennie right in my own house in San Rafael. But I did not hear of it until after my arrival here and Jennie had been shot. Since my wife's arrival here, she has told her brother, Mr. Garrison and a lady, a cousin of Jennie's of the threats heard by the members of my family. My wife is now at a friend's house here for a short time.

"Last Saturday, on his way to this city, Muhlner stopped at my house in San Rafael. I was away from home that day. I did not return until late at night. Muhlner told my wife that he had learned that Jennie was going to a ball in Germania Hall in this city, that night. He said he had found it out in a certain manner and that he was going to Oakland and would 'fix Jennie in such a manner that she would never go to that ball.' He left San Rafael, came to this city and now Jennie is shot. My wife forgot to tell me about the threat, I guess, or else she was afraid that I might cause some trouble if I noticed that she had some fear that the threat would be carried into execution."

Muhlner arrived here Saturday afternoon, called on Jennie soon after his arrival, and, according to his own story, learned from her that she was going to the ball with Charles Miller. He did not carry out his threat, however.

In this connection, it may be stated that, since the publication of Muhlner's story in yesterday's Tribune, the suspect has seen fit to change the recital of his goings and comings to and from the Moore residence on the day of the shooting. Muhlner is a crafty fellow. He has been reading the papers and, in the Tribune which appeared his story that he had called at the Moore residence at 2:30 P. M., Monday and remained there until 2:45 P. M., he found published also the story of Miss Moore that she had left home at 2:30 o'clock P. M. or thereabout and that Muhlner was not there at that time. That was one contradiction. Then there was the story that Professor Moore had worked around the parterre in front and on the side of the house, until about 3 P. M. and that up to that time, Muhlner had not been seen at the Moore residence. The professor also left home in the vicinity of 3:05 P. M. going to the cars on Telegraph avenue en route to San Francisco, and at that time, his latest corrected time, Muhlner was not there.

Then P. J. Shafter says that Muhlner, whom he had known in the vicinity of Point Reyes, passed his (Shafter's) residence, going east on Edwards street toward the Moore residence at 3:30 o'clock. Muhlner admits the fact of passing Shafter's but says that it was at a much earlier hour than that of which Shafter is positive.

That was Muhlner's story yesterday when, he said, he had passed the time between 2:30 and 2:45 P. M. at Moore's, but now that he claims he left Jennie at 3:15 o'clock P. M., another change as to the time of his going thither must also be made.

These stories of Muhlner are intended to try and establish an alibi as are also the stories as to his having visited the Montana saloon at Ninth and Broadway and the Oak saloon at Seventh and Washington streets. In the first place however, Muhlner is unknown and at the second place his presence there cannot be located more definitely than between 3 and 5 o'clock P. M. Shafter of course will be an important witness, as will also Letter Collector Leber, who, when collecting his mail opposite Shafter's house on Edwards street at 4 P. M. Monday, informed Shafter of the trouble at the Moore residence.

The shooting took place somewhere between 3:30 and 4 P. M. and thus far none of the people to whom Muhlner has referred to corroborate his story as to his whereabouts between 2:30 P. M. and the time he alleges he took the 4 P. M. train for San Francisco have afforded him any assistance.

His later statements as to having played cards in San Francisco at 5 P. M. Monday may be true but he could have been at the Moore residence at 3:30 P. M. and even later and still have taken the boat so as to arrive in San Francisco in time to indulge in cards at the hour mentioned.

Another circumstance considered suspicuous is the fact of his surrendering himself to the police so early Tuesday morning, the day after the shooting. Ordinarily, a man who is off on a vacation prefers to rest in the morning.

But Muhlner must have risen with the lark that morning because he surrendered at 5:45 o'clock A. M.

The fact of his surrender is construed by some friends to be an evidence of Muhlner's innocence, but the police say he brought his cunning into play, knowing that he could not escape the officers of the law who were watching for him everywhere also that an attempt at escape would be proof of his guilt.

THE PRISONER'S ACTIONS.

Muhlner is placed beyond the visits of reporters under Chief Lloyd's order, and no one will be allowed to see him until further notice.

He was called on by his mother and his brother's sister Mrs. W. F. Muhlner yesterday evening. His mother's home is at 32 Fell street, San Francisco. She was overcome with grief when she met her boy in jail. Muhlner was sitting on a bench. When his mother met him and threw her arms around his neck he did not arise from his sitting position. The mother was given her son's watch and about $20 in cash which he had on his person when arrested. On his fingers at the time of his arrest Muhlner had two rings of the style generally worn by women. Each was of gold wire, one containing three small green stones in a band across the top of the finger. The other had a solitaire diamond. This is the ring, which, Jennie's father says, Muhlner wished her to wear.

The police, however, refused to allow these rings to leave their possession, for the reason that they may have something to do with the case.

This morning Muhlner received a telephone message from Point Reyes. He was brought to the 'phone in the chief's office, when the substitute in his position at Point Reyes consulted him as regards proposed improvements about six miles from the Point.

A GLIMPSE OF CONSCIOUSNESS.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon Jennie Lewis while surrounded by her father, mother, Charles Miller, and the matron of the hospital, opened her eyes and looked in an intelligent manner at those near her. Everybody thought she was going to speak. After a gaze of about a minute the eyes of the girl closed again and the silence she has maintained since Monday evening remained unbroken.

THE OLD BOARD WINS.

Omaha's Police Tangle Will Be Settled by the Courts.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

OMAHA, Aug. 14.—The situation of the Omaha police muddle has not changed materially.

Since an early hour the City Hall has been surrounded by a large crowd, mostly curiosity-seekers.

No effort has been made to disperse them.

The A. P. A. commission met at 10 o'clock at the rooms reserved for their use by the City Council. The quarters were crowded by probably 200 sympathizers.

The old commission agreed and a meeting is now in progress in the mayor's office.

After an animated discussion the old fire and police commissioners refusing any compromise except on a basis of permitting the Supreme Court to pass on the situation the A. P. A. commission consented and it was agreed the old commission should continue to conduct the offices of the city until the decision is rendered.

This was considered a definite settlement.

Lyons on a Tear.

Inspector Lyons, who is in charge of a sewer that is being laid in North Oakland, took too much liquor yesterday, and entering Barbarias' saloon, discharged his pistol several times. The proprietor chased him with a hatchet, but the two subsequently effected a reconciliation on the promise that Barbarias would be recompensed for the damage to his place.

A PLOT THAT FAILED.

THEY WANTED TO BREAK JAIL.

Sheriff White Intercepted All the Letters in Time.

The drug store robbers' trial in Judge Frick's court developed a sensation this noon, when Assistant District Attorney Church introduced a letter in evidence which contained details of a scheme by which Berry Holland hoped to smuggle weapons into his cell and fight his way to liberty.

Holland had inveigled his wife Rose into the scheme and had laid out a course for her to follow in getting the pistols which he intended to use to effect his escape.

The plot was discovered by Jailer White, who has been making copies of all the mail matter sent out from the prison by the Hollands and Oppenheimer.

The following is a copy of a letter sent by Berry Holland to his wife. It was copied by Jailer Lane. The original was mailed and Mrs. Holland admitted on the witness stand she had received it.

The letter is as follows, immaterial matter being omitted:

"Aug. 4, 1895.

"Dear Rose: . . . I was sorry when you sent my clothes there was no date on the shirt, as I have been living in hopes all the last week. I suppose you know as well as I do that this is the only way I can get out, and if I don't make it this week I am good for life, which is not very pleasant to think of neither for you nor for me, for if I have to go to trial it will take all of our property to fight the cases, and even then we are sure to go over for life after what Ross said, and it seems like a —— shame for us to go to States prison when those things only cost a few dollars, and even a child could send them in when all they have to do is to come up and tie them on a line. And we will do the rest. If it is not done in the next few days there won't be anybody to put the line out for them and it will be all over with us. I expected you to use part of that money to get them with and you would have enough left to live on until I get out, and I will have some money to send you to live on before I am out two days.

". . . Now you must get the things ready to get them in the next few days, the sooner, the better. And you must try and get in to see me as soon as possible so as to let me know the night so that I can have the line out. You must have a note written and in the note you must say that Mr. Lancaster from Berkeley will have some money for me on a certain day and that he wants me to make out a receipt for it to give to you for him and whatever date you put down I will know that is the night you are going to send the things in. . . . Now don't forget. You have a diagram of the cells and wall where I am. If there ain't a string out of the cell I marked down, it will be out of the other cell window, in the same part of the jail, and it may be in the cell up near the office. You can feel the line by running your hand along the wall and there is no one in the office after it gets late in the night. There is no danger at all if there is no noise made. It is the wall across from the mill where Alice Long works and faces Washington street. . . ."

A postscript says: "Dearest Rose whatever you do please don't drink anything this week as long as I am here, for they won't even let you in to see me if you do, and I want you to work for me, for you are the only one I can trust and they watch me like a hawk in here. You did not say anything to Dan, I hope, when you went to ask him for the tobacco. Please look out for yourself, now, for if you don't you may do me more harm than good and I am in a bad enough fix already. BERRY."

MORE PREPARATIONS.

Another letter written Tuesday morning following related further preparations of the plotter. It read:

"Dear Rose: For fear the jailers won't give me a note if you send it in I will tell you how you can let me know the night you are going to send the guns in. If it is Tuesday night you must bring me some round steak; Wednesday night, some pork chops; Thursday night some mutton chops; Friday night, some fish of some kind; Saturday night, some raw sliced ham; Sunday night, some salt pork and a dozen eggs; Monday night a piece of cheese. . . . I hope I will soon be out of this place so that I can see you both once in a while, and before long I can have you both with me in another State.

"BERRY."

As indicating the desperate character of the writer of the letters Jailer White was informed by one of the prisoners that Berry Holland had said he would kill every man on the floor of the jail and fight his way out over their dead bodies if an attempt was made to check his escape.

THE DAY'S EVIDENCE.

There were no other important features developed. Captain Wilson and ex-Chief of Police Schaffer testified as to masks, clothing, pistols and other property found in the possession of the Hollands when they were arrested in San Francisco. Several employes of the Standard lodging house of San Francisco testified that the Hollands had occupied the rooms in that house where they were arrested.

Clerk Crawford of the Police Court testified to one prior conviction of Berry Holland. Then Mrs. Holland, William Lane and Sheriff White testified as to the foregoing letter.

Mrs. Holland never attempted to carry out the plan. A close watch was kept, but she did not attempt to assist her husband. It was believed she became frightened because of the exposure of a prior plot.

The prosecution closed its case with the introduction of the letter.

Colonel T. F. Garrity waived an opening statement for the defense. His first witness was Mrs. Rose Holland.

BROKE THE RECORD.

The St. Louis Makes a Flying Trip Across the Atlantic.

The best previous eastward record was made July 3d last and was 6 days 22 hours 5 minutes.

The best eastward record was held by the Fuerst Bismarck.

SNOW IS SATISFIED.

He Will Not Assess the Seventh Street Railroad Line.

City Assessor Snow is of opinion that the Seventh street railroad line should be assessed by him, in view of the fact that the State Board has already assessed it as part of the general system of the railroad company. The county assessor has assessed the line at $667,000, but Mr. Snow says no doubt the railroad will refuse to pay its taxes on the road in case he should assess it the second time. In that event the city would be obliged to buy in the road, as it would be sold for delinquent taxes. No doubt litigation would ensue which would prove extremely expensive for the city. Mr. Snow says he is satisfied from personal observation and experiment on his part that the road is part of the main line.

Superintendent Wilder, it will be remembered, testified that a ticket could be purchased at the ticket office near Seventh and Broadway or any point on the line of the road and that no extra charges would be made for permitting a person with such a ticket to ride in the mole. Mr. Snow recently put this contention to a test and found that Mr. Wilder was correct in his statement.

Brother Arrests Brother.

D. Kinner and his wife were taken into custody today for disturbing the peace. They called at a planing mill at Second and Washington streets and upbraided Sidney Kinner, the foreman and brother of the arrested man, accusing him of trying to defraud them of $500. The arrested man and his wife were somewhat under the influence of liquor at the time.

NO WRIT OF MANDATE.

A. D. Thomson Loses His Fight for the Livermore Road.

Judge Ellsworth Gives a Decision In Favor of the Board.

Attorney Sam Bell McKee and District Attorney Snook resumed their argument this morning before Judge Ellsworth in the matter of the application of Arthur D. Thomson for a writ of mandate to compel the Supervisors to accept his bid for a franchise for an electric road from Fruitvale to Livermore.

Judge Ellsworth asked the counsel many questions showing that he leaned to the opinion that all the bids in the case were illegal. He was inclined to the view that the proposition of both Thomson and Vandercook to pay a percentage of the income of the roads was uncertain in that the proposition did not stipulate the trips, passengers or traffic that would be done upon which to base the estimates of income. He saw it would be impossible to arrive at how much the county could realize from either bid. The statute, he thought, contemplated that the franchise should be awarded to the highest bidder, for so much money. The bids were identical as to the money consideration of $25, but the question then arose whether or not Thomson's second bid was legal.

"Was it in the power of the board to give one of the bidders," asked Judge Ellsworth, "an opportunity to put in still another bid after the previous tenders had been read?"

It did not seem to the court that such a course would be fair in a private transaction.

Attorney McKee contended that the statue did not recite anything on that point. He said the law did not prescribe the bidders to make formal written tenders. They could, he contended, be made viva voce, if desired.

The argument, however, was mainly directed to the question whether the bids could be considered as cash offers on the basis of the percentage propositions. Judge Ellsworth inclined very strongly to the view that they were not and hence were illegal.

THE JUDGE DENIES.

This afternoon Judge Ellsworth denied the application for the writ of mandate on two grounds; first, that the Board of Supervisors has discretion in the matter of awarding franchises, and secondly because there must be a cash bid. He held that both Vandercook and Thomson had offered a cash bid, namely, $25 each, although the offer of Thomson was not made until after the original bids had been opened and read in the meeting of the Supervisors. These cash bids, the court held, negatived each other.

Sam Bell McKee, counsel for Thomson, gave notice of appeal. He says the court's decision, in effect, nullifies the requirement of the statute that the Supervisors in the matter of granting franchises must award the same to the highest bidder.

TO FORCE THE FIGHT.

An Attorney's Plan to Get Hawaii for Uncle Sam.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 14.—Captain Judson N. Cross, a prominent attorney, mailed President Dole this afternoon a letter containing the novel suggestion that Hawaii elect delegates to the American Congress and demand that they be seated on the same basis as territorial delegates.

Congress, Captain Cross says, would seat them.

The Sledentopf Case.

The Sledentopf case was taken up late this afternoon by Judge Ellsworth who had occupied the early portion of the day, in hearing arguments in the Shomson application for a writ of mandate.

GIRARDO'S TOMALE GROTTO

Made by an Expert Spanish Chef and manufactured daily from the Finest Materials. Not to be confounded with inferior Tomales that have been foisted on the Oakland public.

PRIVATE ROOMS FOR LADIES AND FAMILIES.

GIRARDO'S TOMALE GROTTO

The Only Place in This City Where Good Tomales May Be Eaten and Seen Made.

The palate is sensitive to no keener enjoyment than that afforded by a succulent tamale, provided the delicious and fragrant morsel is cooked and made with first-class materials and by a competent chef who understands the subtle fascinations of Spanish cookery.

There is now one place in Oakland where such a tamale may be procured—Girardo's Tamale Grotto, located at the northwest corner of Broadway and Thirteenth streets.

Oakland is fortunate in having so competent a chef as Mr. Girardo. The vague and terrible preparations sold for years on the street corners of Oakland have disgusted local lovers of tamales, and they will be glad to know that an era of clean, wholesome prime tamales has commenced.

Mr. Girardo has been a Spanish chef for twenty years in the principal seaside resorts of the East and California. He understands how to make those delicious stews which have glorified Spanish cookery and without a doubt he makes the finest tamale ever sold in California. The tamale, as made by Mr. Girardo, is a dream, combining a mixture of the finest peppers and sauce with fragrant Spanish spices and the very best chicken. The tamales are manufactured only from 12 to 3 o'clock P. M., and the public is cordially invited to see the operation.

Although the Grotto has been open only a few days, it is already receiving an extensive patronage. Girardo's Grotto is becoming a feature of Oakland's restaurant enterprise.

There are cozy private rooms for ladies and families. Girardo's is the only place in Oakland where Spanish dishes are cooked by a first-class Spanish chef.

A FIRST-CLASS MAN.

Frank M. Leland Has Built Up the Hayward Road's Popularity.

Frank M. Leland, the well known superintendent of the Oakland, San Leandro & Haywards electric line, has resigned from that road with a view of broadening his scope of operations. Mr. Leland is an expert in his business. Under his supervision the Haywards line was built and the work was done in a first-class manner. Having built it he was made its superintendent and in that capacity quickly displayed his executive ability and clearheadedness. He ran the road in first-class style, got the best rolling stock, handled the men satisfactorily to the company and to themselves and gave the public a splendid service.

Mr. Leland was the first to use airbrakes on electric cars and the whistle which is heard on the Haywards road is the result of his genius. He also designed and built the electric locomotive used by the company in its express business. Another of his inventions is a motor to work an airbrake in the same manner that airbrakes are operated on steam roads. During his superintendency the road has enjoyed an immunity from accidents and has earned the goodwill of the people throghout the territory in which it plies.

MAY GET HIS $600 BACK.

Tax Collector Barber Tells Why He Put Up the Money.

Whidden's Friends Say That They Have Strong Cards to Play.

County Tax Collector Barber says there has been some misunderstanding of the reason why he paid $600 of the shortage which was discovered in his office when the final settlement of last year's taxes was made in July.

"The fact is," said Barber today, "that I felt it my duty to reimburse the county for all that portion of the $1100 deficit which could not be definitely traced to other sources than those over which I had control. The amount paid represents all the deficit that has not been traced. Although the money has been paid to the county, there is an opportunity for me to recover it, provided I locate the shortage in some other administration. If it is found that my end is all right, I shall have a just claim against the county for the return of the money."

Friends of Myron Whidden declare that the situation will not be so black for him after the investigation is commenced. They say there will be some developments at that time that will place an entirely different light upon the transaction which has been made public to date in connection with the scandal.

County Expert Davis has concluded all the arrangements for commencing work upon the books, but he will make no move until he receives instructions from the grand jury.

WEDNESDAY.....AUGUST 14, 1895.

The raid of 6,000 Bulgarians on a Turkish town and the indiscriminate slaughter of the inhabitants, matches to some extent the raids of Turks and their retainers on Armenian towns. The Turks are still a long way ahead in these atrocities. Bulgarians, when driven to madness, may be as savage as any other border ruffians. Some day not far distant, Europe may become so weary of the unspeakable Turk as to ask him to leave, and to hasten his retirement with force.

It will not give pleasure to most people to read that 500 crates of cantaloupes and 200 crates of water melons were this week thrown into the bay by the commission men of San Francisco, together with a lot of pears and plums, because the market had been overstocked. The poor of the city would have been glad of the fruit. A notice that they could have it gratis, would have cleaned out the market. But that was not business. It might have reduced the number of buyers of the next consignment. Trade knows nothing of the poor.

When Ferdinand, the nominal Prince of Bulgaria, had taken himself out of the way for a time in order that his former prime minister, who was offensive to Russia, might be murdered, he supposed that he had so won the regard of that power that he would be confirmed in his office. He is now told substantially by Russia that he is not wanted, that he never had a valid title to the throne and never would have one. That is Ferdinand's reward for hypocrisy and treachery. It is that phase of humanity that even a throne does not elevate.

The projected railway to Mount Tamalpais has been advanced a step by the surveys and estimates that have been made. There is little doubt that this enterprise will be carried to completion. The Mount Low railroad in Southern California, ascends a much higher mountain than Tamalpais. It has met the expectations of its projectors. The road now to be constructed is within easy reach of half a million of people. It would always furnish one of the most attractive scenic mountain excursions in the world. Mount Diablo will some day invite a similar undertaking.

The rumor that Mrs. Stanford will employ 300 Japanese to gather grapes in the Vina vineyard is not a pleasant one. The employment of Asiatics would displace just about that number of white people who would be glad to have the employment. When the Central Pacific Railroad was constructed many thousands of Chinese were employed, and the profits were greatly enhanced by this cheaper labor. Some of these gains probably went into the Vina ranch. Of course it would be in the line of precedents if another force of Asiatics were now employed to gather the produce of these fields. But better things on behalf of white labor might just now be expected.

The Fruit Growers in the Tolls.

If the fruit growers of California were of one mind there would be an end of the contest in Chicago and other cities as to closed auction houses for the sale of fruit. At present the jobbers seem to have things all their own way, because the fruit men are divided in opinion and practice. Both plans of open and closed auctions have been tried. The results ought to furnish a sufficient guide for the future. If the fruit growers would refuse to make a single consignment of fruit to any house that does not admit freely the competition of all buyers, there would be nothing further in the contest. There are millions involved in the proposition. If competition can be crushed out the jobbers will make these millions at the cost of the fruit growers. They will probably have fruit to sell below what it has cost to produce and ship it. There will be the old story of returns on the wrong side, while the jobbers have put a good margin of profit in their own pockets.

Santa Clara county is raising a fund of $20,000 for the purpose of advertising abroad the fruits of that county. That is well. There is not another county in the State that has on hand a similar undertaking. But if the fruit men are to be caught in the tolls of the middlemen of Chicago and constantly fleeced, what will be gained by spending more money in advertising the fruits of one or all other counties? It would be a still greater misfortune if the fruit growers, now in full sight of victory in this contest with the Chicago jobbers, should finally lose sight of it [illegible]

By the Fast Train.

When the first railroads were constructed in this country the rate of speed did not exceed twelve miles an hour. When the strap iron rails were exchanged for the more modern ones the speed was increased from fifteen miles to twenty miles an hour. It seemed to many that such swift traveling was next to flying. Then came the heavier rails and larger locomotives, with other improvements until it was possible to travel at the rate of sixty miles an hour. The average speed of express trains is now hardly less than forty miles an hour, shading down to thirty-five miles. The fact that a locomotive can be sent over steel rails at the rate of sixty miles an hour does not establish that as the maximum rate of travel. The wear and tear are greatly increased and the cost of transportation must necessarily be greater. There has never been a rate of speed over railroads too great for the public, provided the cost was not increased.

Now comes the proposition that within five years cars will move on railways at the rate of 150 miles an hour. The new Tesla electric motor is to do the business. This is a greater speed than the swiftest bird attains by more than twenty miles an hour. There will then be no call for flying machines when passengers can be whisked over the rails swifter than any creature that has ever had wings could go through the air. But there are no railroads in the country that could sustain such a concussion as would be involved. Nor are there any cars in existence that would stand the racket. But there is the promise of responsible manufacturers that safe cars will be constructed. These conditions having been established, the tourist might start from San Francisco early in the morning of a summer day and reach Chicago in time for his dinner; and if he wanted to push through to New York he could be landed there—provided he ever landed anywhere alive—in a little more than twenty-four hours from his time of starting on this side of the continent. A lawyer was once examining a locomotive engineer in a damage case as to what would be the difference in results to passengers in flying the track at thirty miles or fifty miles of speed. The engineer said he thought the lower rate of travel would do the business, so that it would not make any difference with the passengers. But if the new electric cars were to leave the track at the enormous rate of speed proposed, it is not likely that any of the pasengers would ever be called on as witnesses.

There are, of course, economic considerations that will always have weight in regulating high rates of speed. No railway corporation will do business long for the fun of it. The old dream of flying is evidently to be revived. There is a wonderful fascination about it. If a railroad company were to offer to transport passengers from San Francisco to Chicago by daylight there would probably be a rush for the swift train. But at present, most conservative people must be content with sixty miles an hour, with the assurance that if they go off the track at that rate they will have little occasion to call for the flyers.

No Extra Session.

Some of the eastern journals are raising the question about the extra session of Congress, the occasion being the stronger outflow of gold to Europe and the vacancy on the Supreme bench. Neither of these facts, nor both together, would justify the calling of an extra session. The financial condition of the country is better than it was when Congress adjourned. In the first half of July the expenditure of the Government exceeded the receipts by about $18,000,000; but in the last half the receipts were brought up so that the deficit for the month was about $9,500,000. If that rate were kept up the deficit for the year would exceed a hundred millions. The income tax has been thrown overboard, and that of course has increased the gap.

The reserve has again been drawn down until it now does not much exceed $100,000,000. President Cleveland has not heretofore thought it expedient to call an extra session of Congress to meet any such crisis, but has ordered a sale of bonds to meet the case. He is vested with authority to do the same thing again. The decline of the gold reserve is not an encouraging fact. Congress will be in regular session in less than four months. There is no pressing exigency for the immediate appointment of another Federal Judge. The vacancy was made by a man who for years had been able to render very little service on the bench. The vacancy does not make matters much worse. No judge appointed by the President would consent to sit until he had been confirmed by the Senate. Unless a very great financial crisis should occur—and that is not expected—there will be little occasion for an extra session of Congress.

The Speaker in Parliament.

A Speaker of the English House of Commons has just been re-elected by that body, in which there is a large majority not of his own party. As a matter of fact, when a Speaker takes office he has no party. His politics must be absolutely colorless. The large Conservative majority could have elected a man from their own party. But they selected a Liberal from the minority on the ground of his superior qualifications. Such proceeding as the election of a speaker of Congress from an opposition minority was never witnessed in this country. The present Democratic House would not have elected a Republican speaker. The next House with its large Republican majority would not give the minority party the slightest chance for such an election.

There is another difference. The speaker of Congress is always a strong party man. He leads his party in the House. He has more power in this respect than the President. He appoints a majority of every committee from his own party. For the time being he shapes to a large extent the policy of the country. When his term expires he falls back into the ranks and nearly or quite disappears from public life. He does not carry the dignity nor the emoluments of his office into private life. The English speaker cannot shape the legislation of the country. He has little or no patronage. He satisfies the nation when he presides with absolute impartiality. After a term of honorable service he has a pension comporting with the dignity of his new title when he is elevated to the House of Lords.

Ex-Speaker Crisp, who witnessed this English election, must have found a striking illustration of the difference in the two offices. The American speaker may have even more ability, as he certainly has far more power for a time. But he cannot look forward to any pension, nor to any elevation to a higher office unless he may have some ambition to be President. The speakership does not lead in that direction. Thomas B. Reed may be the next speaker of Congress. It will be enough for him that he takes his politics into office, and that he will rule with such a strong hand as to sustain his title of "Czar" of the House.

If the report is true that there are now 1,000 laborers at work on the Panama canal and that there is money enough on hand to employ 10,000 men for two years, it would look as if that great work might yet be carried to completion. Of the $200,000,000 expended not more than half of that amount ever went into honest work on the canal. Another hundred millions would probably accomplish more than has been done up to this date. The fact that work has been resumed there may expedite work on the Nicaragua canal.

IN THE EYE OF THE WORLD.

A translation into French is in preparation of the historical and critical essays of John Morley.

Princess Maud, the youngest daughter of the Prince of Wales, wears a monocle in her eye whenever she appears in public.

Persigny the most unscrupulous of Napoleon's agents in bringing about the coup d'etat, left memoirs, which are soon to be published in Paris.

What was probably the last appearance of Gladstone in the House of Commons was made on March 1, 1894, when he quitted the treasury bench.

Editor D. B. Cook of the Niles (Mich.) Mirror has been a printer 66 years. He is now 80 years old, but can stick type as rapidly as any compositor in his office.

In his life of Henry M. Stanley, Mr. Thomas George says that the explorer's real name is Howell Jones, and that he was born at Isgar, in Wales, Nov. 16, 1840. His father was a bookbinder.

Mme. Casimir-Perier has followed the example of her husband, the ex-President of France, has learned to ride on the bicycle. She practices daily with Mme. De Boqueney, the wife of the former "introducer of ambassadors."

John Burroughs, the essayist and naturalist, says the golden orioles bother him a great deal. These birds are regular topers in their love for grape juice. They stick their beaks into the grapes, suck up the juice, and three or four birds are able to ruin several tons of grapes in short time.

Mr. Fustarao Tokano thinks the contentment of the lower classes of Japanese a great misfortune. Their artistic simplicity which foreigners admire he considers a great obstacle to progress, and he thinks it the imperative duty of Japanese friends of humanity to agitate until Japanese labor becomes as discontented as American.

Descartes' works are to be published in a complete edition for the first time by a committee of French scholars, aided by the government. Printing will begin next year, and it is hoped will be finished by 1900. The committee asks for help in collecting copies of letters and manuscripts preserved in public libraries and private collections.

LOUISIANA'S MOLASSES.

Millions of Gallons Yearly That Planters Don't Get Rid Of.

At the last meeting of the Louisiana Sugar Planter's Association the old and vexatious problem of what to do with the surplus molasses which now accumulates with every cane crop was discussed and it was determined to make the fact known that the planters had this excess of molasses every year and would like to get rid of it for almost anything. The molasses is of a low grade, worth only a few cents a gallon, not enough to pay for the barrelling and shipping to market. Last year some planters dug immense ditches or ponds in their fields, in which the molasses was dumped, to be kept there in case any demand arose for it.

It was hoped at that time that it could be used in the manufacture of rum. A factory was established for the purpose, but it utilized only a very small part of the molasses; indeed, the Louisiana molasses crop would easily make 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 gallons of rum annually or far more than the country needs, enough to keep it drunk for months at a time. When the late cane crop was harvested and manufactured into sugar and molasses, there being no demand for the latter, it was largely dumped into the Mississippi and its tributary bayous. This made little difference to the Mississippi, but Bayou Teche, considered the most beautiful stream in Louisiana, and a favorite place of residence, has been almost ruined by molasses. Enough of the latter was poured into it to cause fermentation, kill the fish, and create odors worse than those which blow from Hunter's Point.

But in spite of the rum refinery, the dumping of millions of gallons of molasses into the river and bayous, and the use as fuel for the sugar houses and as food for stock, there are still some 25,000,000 gallons of molasses left over from last year's grinding which the planters are anxious to get rid of or to find some use for. They will soon begin grinding again and will turn, turn out another 25,000,000 gallons of surplus molasses, and they have no room for it. The molasses is worth nominally 6 to 8 cents a gallon, or say, $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 for the crop. It was worth $6,000,000 or more a few years ago.—New York Sun.

Science and Industry.

The introduction of doors made of glass is a novelty, originating, it appears, in Boston, and of which the following explanation is given by the papers of that city. A sheet of ground or plain glass is taken of any desired size and clouded on one side with a liquid dye of the proper color to represent any preferred wood, the dye being applied by means of a sponge in delineating the grain of the wood to be exhibited upon the surface of the glass, the shading being softened by the use of a badger brush. Photographer's varnish is then made to flow on the glass leaving the grain clear and fast, without resorting to any gelatinous substance, with its liability to crack and of course damage the whole effect. In completing the operation the glass is slightly heated, and the various shades of dyes required for the particular wood to be represented are dexterously applied to it by means of a syringe. To prevent the fine shadings from merging into each other the glass is heated, the whole being then made of semi-transparent appearance by applying another coat of photographer's varnish, thus preventing the dyes from being effaced while the exterior surface exhibits all the characteristics of a highly polished and solid wood finish.

CALIFORNIA'S USEFUL BUGS.

Farmers Wonder What They Will Eat When the Parasites Go.

California is having great luck in her experiments of importing insects to prey on and exterminate the various parasitic pests that have caused so much damage to vines and orchards; but a few cautious people are the less bit worried over the voracious appetites of the imported insects and the possibilities of what they may turn to feed upon when all the parasites to their taste have disappeared.

The golden winged lady bird, imported from Australia a few years ago to eat up the cottony cushion scale, has completed that work in most of the southern counties of the State, and has turned its attention and appetite to the woolly aphis on the apple trees. Another beetle, imported to destroy the red and black scale, has also cleared the parasites from several counties, and lately has appeared in great numbers in the corn fields. Just what its mission there is has not been accurately determined. The experts believe, and the farmers hope, that it will destroy the larvae of a destructive bug which eats and destroys much of the sweet corn raised on the coast. What the farmers are beginning to pray fearfully is that the little beetles may not develop vegetarian appetites, and they are also beginning to wonder what the constantly increasing hordes of the now beneficial insects will live on when their natural prey is exterminated. They hope they will contract consumption or some other convenient disease, and reason that doubtless nature will kindly fix up the matter satisfactorily. Some of them bear in mind the fact that the mongoose was imported into the island of Jamaica to kill off the rats which ate up the sugar cane, but now the mongoose has eaten up almost every living thing in the island less than a lamb in size, and the Government would give a year's revenue to be rid of the pest.—N. Y. Sun.

EAT SHRIMPS ALIVE.

Chinese Also Like Eggs in an Adolescent State.

The ambitious housekeeper has nothing to learn, apparently, in the gentle art of cookery from the Chinese, save one good principle and the theory of boiling rice, says the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette. The Chinese appetite so far as their cookery books have been investigated leans too far toward flesh and fruits that are an abomination to the stomach of a Westerner, and what they dredge out of the sea in the way of dainty tidbits he would put into the garbage can with shivers of disgust. Their ways, as well, of approaching some species of food an American regards as little short of cannibalistic.

For example, shrimp, that above all other sea products a Chinese esteems, at a well served table are brought on swimming about in a glass bowl of water flavored with oil and vinegar, which renders the creature hysterically alive. With an unerring thumb and forefinger, the Chinese diner-out pluck forth the struggling fish, nips off the tail at one bite and casts the useless head behind him. Shocking as it may seem to the moral New York housekeeper, the older the egg in China the more perfect from an epicurean standpoint does it become, for no Chinese who has a right regard for his palate eats a fresh one or a boiled egg. Taken fresh, eggs are set to soak, after having been washed, in a tub of aromatic water. After a time they are removed and the water used in mixing a paste of lime and salt, in which the eggs are packed in jars. These they hermetically seal and set away to stand for a month, when they are supposed to be fit for eating. Those left packed in the salt and lime for twelve months or more, when opened, are found to have a changed color, solidified partly, and are odorless.

The chief care of the Chinese is to eat nothing cold; warm or hot food they absorb in abundance, but rightly they maintain that cold food lowers the temperature of the stomach beyond the point where digestion can continue and so the whole health of the body is endangered.

Fashion Notes.

The dashing plaid silks will be much used this fall for waists to be worn with plain cloth skirts.

The much-admired box plait now forms part of the back of many of the fashionable skirts. Its graceful effect is due to an interlinig of fibre chamois.

Garden party hats are larger than ever. The daintiest are of white silk mull, trimmed with bunches of white daisies. Those of pink mull with clusters of pink rosebuds are also pretty.

The latest in sleeves is a modernized bishop, which is full from the shoulder to the wrist. It has a lining of fibre chamois to retain its graceful contour.

A new mohair with an almost corded weave will be one of the favorite fabrics for autumn gowns. All-wool Bedford cords will also be the vogue.

The summer girl is wearing a belt of Dresden ribbon which is interlined with fibre chamois. The belt never wrinkles and the ribbon may be changed according to one's fancy. The modish swing of the skirt is also effected by the interlining of fibre chamois.

A ROYAL SHOP.

There Is a Photographic Outfit at Windsor Castle.

There is a brand new project in the household of the Queen at Windsor, a royal department of astronomy having just been established. For several years past Her Majesty has been in the habit of having events that have taken place about the castle and in the grounds photographed that she might have on hand a sort of continuous historical record. This habit has grown very strongly upon her within the past few months, and so many pictures have been taken that the Lord Chamberlain has finally ordered the purchase of a camera and a full set of photographic apparatus. Several of the servants about the castle have had private lessons from a professional photographer on the art of taking pictures and developing them, and a wonderfully complete "dark room" has been fitted up.

Two objects have been accomplished in this way. The first is that privacy is assured and there is no risk whatsoever of the publication of the pictures taken. The Queen is morbidly sensitive in regard to this matter in general, though she does not mind the printing of pictures of herself and an occasional group.

The first pictures taken by the amateurs of the court were a series of photographs of certain farm products. These were a great success, and the Queen has expressed much satisfaction in this new departure. It is planned, as soon as all the details can be arranged, to have all the reports that come to Her Majesty from the various royal palaces of the kingdom accompanied with well mounted photographs.

Mr. Herreshoff's Offer.

Mr. Nat Herreshoff of Newport has made an offer to the Navy Department to build a torpedo boat capable of attaining twenty-seven and one-half knots an hour for $150,000. A short time ago Congress made an appropriation of $150,000 to be used in the construction of three torpedo boats capable of twenty-six knots an hour.

If Mr. Herreshoff's offer is accepted he will use in the construction of the new boat all the principles which have combined to make the Defender a fast yacht.—Star.

The poor of the city would have been glad of the fruit. A notice that they could have it gratis, would have cleaned out the market. But that was not business. It might have reduced the number of buyers of the next consignment. Trade knows nothing of the poor.

When Ferdinand, the nominal Prince of Bulgaria, had taken himself out of the way for a time in order that his former prime minister, who was offensive to Russia, might be murdered, he supposed that he had so won the regard of that power that he would be confirmed in his office. He is now told substantially by Russia that he is not wanted, that he never had a valid title to the throne and never would have one. That is Ferdinand's reward for hypocrisy and treachery. It is that phase of humanity that even a throne does not elevate.

The projected railway to Mount Tamalpais has been advanced a step by the surveys and estimates that have been made. There is little doubt that this enterprise will be carried to completion. The Mount Low railroad in Southern California, ascends a much higher mountain than Tamalpais. It has met the expectations of its projectors. The road now to be constructed is within easy reach of half a million of people. It would always furnish one of the most attractive scenic mountain excursions in the world. Mount Diablo will some day invite a similar undertaking.

The rumor that Mrs. Stanford will employ 300 Japanese to gather grapes in the Vina vineyard is not a pleasant one. The employment of Asiatics would displace just about that number of white people who would be glad to have the employment. When the Central Pacific Railroad was constructed many thousands of Chinese were employed, and the profits were greatly enhanced by this cheaper labor. Some of these gains probably went into the Vina ranch. Of course it would be in the line of precedents if another force of Asiatics were now employed to gather the produce of these fields. But better things on behalf of white labor might just now be expected.

The Fruit Growers in the Toils.

If the fruit growers of California were of one mind there would be an end of the contest in Chicago and other cities as to closed auction houses for the sale of fruit. At present the jobbers seem to have things all their own way, because the fruit men are divided in opinion and practice. Both plans of open and closed auctions have been tried. The results ought to furnish a sufficient guide for the future. If the fruit growers would refuse to make a single consignment of fruit to any house that does not admit freely the competition of all buyers, there would be nothing further in the contest. There are millions involved in the proposition. If competition can be crushed out the jobbers will make these millions at the cost of the fruit growers. They will probably have fruit to sell below what it has cost to produce and ship it. There will be the old story of returns on the wrong side, while the jobbers have put a good margin of profit in their own pockets.

Santa Clara county is raising a fund of $20,000 for the purpose of advertising abroad the fruits of that county. That is well. There is not another county in the State that has on hand a similar undertaking. But if the fruit men are to be caught in the toils of the middlemen of Chicago and constantly fleeced, what will be gained by spending more money in advertising the fruits of one or all other counties? It would be a still greater misfortune if the fruit growers, now in full sight of victory in this contest with the Chicago jobbers, should finally lose sight of it.

By the Fast Train.

When the first railroads were constructed in this country the rate of speed did not exceed twelve miles an hour. When the strap iron rails were exchanged for the more modern ones the speed was increased from fifteen miles to twenty miles an hour. It seemed to many that such swift traveling was next to flying. Then came the heavier rails and larger locomotives, with other improvements until it was possible to travel at the rate of sixty miles an hour. The average speed of express trains is now hardly less than forty miles an hour, shading down to thirty-five miles. The fact that a locomotive can be sent over steel rails at the rate of sixty miles an hour does not establish that as the maximum rate of travel. The wear and tear are greatly increased and the cost of transportation must necessarily be greater. There has never been a rate of speed over railroads too great for the public, provided the cost was not increased.

Now comes the proposition that within five years cars will move on railways at the rate of 150 miles an hour. The new Tesla electric motor is to do the business. This is a greater speed than the swiftest bird attains by more than twenty miles an hour. There will then be no call for flying machines when passengers can be whisked over the rails swifter than any creature that has ever had wings could go through the air. But there are no railroads in the country that could sustain such a concussion as would be involved. Nor are there any cars in existence that would stand the racket. But there is the promise of responsible manufacturers that safe cars will be constructed. These conditions having been established, the tourist might start from San Francisco early in the morning of a summer day and reach Chicago in time for his dinner; and if he wanted to push through to New York he could be landed there—provided he ever landed anywhere alive—in a little more than twenty-four hours from his time of starting on this side of the continent. A lawyer was once examining a locomotive engineer in a damage case as to what would be the difference in results to passengers in flying the track at thirty miles or fifty miles of speed. The engineer said he thought the lower rate of travel would do the business, so that it would not make any difference with the passengers. But if the new electric cars were to leave the track at the enormous rate of speed proposed, it is not likely that any of the passengers would ever be called on as witnesses.

There are, of course, economic considerations that will always have weight in regulating high rates of speed. No railway corporation will do business long for the fun of it. The old dream of flying is evidently to be revived. There is a wonderful fascination about it. If a railroad company were to offer to transport passengers from San Francisco to Chicago by daylight there would probably be a rush for the swift train. But at present, most conservative people must be content with sixty miles an hour, with the assurance that if they go off the track at that rate they will have little occasion to call for the flyers.

No Extra Session.

Some of the eastern journals are raising the question about the extra session of Congress, the occasion being the stronger outflow of gold to Europe and the vacancy on the Supreme bench. Neither of these facts, nor both together, would justify the calling of an extra session. The financial condition of the country is better than it was when Congress adjourned. In the first half of July the expenditure of the Government exceeded the receipts by about $18,000,000; but in the last half the receipts were brought up so that the deficit for the month was about $8,500,000. If that rate were kept up the deficit for the year would exceed a hundred millions. The income tax has been thrown overboard, and that of course has increased the gap.

The reserve has again been drawn down until it now does not much exceed $100,000,000. President Cleveland has not heretofore thought it expedient to call an extra session of Congress to meet any such crisis, but has ordered a sale of bonds to meet the case. He is vested with authority to do the same thing again. The decline of the gold reserve is not an encouraging fact. Congress will be in regular session in less than four months. There is no pressing exigency for the immediate appointment of another Federal Judge. The vacancy was made by a man who for years had been able to render very little service on the bench. The vacancy does not make matters much worse. No Judge appointed by the President would consent to sit until he had been confirmed by the Senate. Unless a very great financial crisis should occur—and that is not expected—there will be little occasion for an extra session of Congress.

The Speaker in Parliament.

A Speaker of the English House of Commons has just been re-elected by that body, in which there is a large majority not of his own party. As a matter of fact, when a Speaker takes office he has no party. His politics must be absolutely colorless. The large Conservative majority could have elected a man from their own party. But they selected a Liberal from the minority on the ground of his superior qualifications. Such proceeding as the election of a speaker of Congress from an opposition minority was never witnessed in this country. The present Democratic House would not have elected a Republican speaker. The next House with its large Republican majority would not give the minority party the slightest chance for such an election.

There is another difference. The speaker of Congress is always a strong party man. He leads his party in the House. He has more power in this respect than the President. He appoints a majority of every committee from his own party. For the time being he shapes to a large extent the policy of the country. When his term expires he falls back into the ranks and nearly or quite disappears from public life. He does not carry the dignity nor the emoluments of his office into private life. The English speaker cannot shape the legislation of the country. He has little or no patronage. He satisfies the nation when he presides with absolute impartiality. After a term of honorable service he has a pension comportable with the dignity of his new title when he is elevated to the House of Lords.

Ex-Speaker Crisp, who witnessed this English election, must have found a striking illustration of the difference in the two offices. The American speaker may have even more ability, as he certainly has far more power for a time. But he cannot look forward to any pension, nor to any elevation to a higher office unless he may have some ambition to be President. The speakership does not lead in that direction. Thomas B. Reed may be the next speaker of Congress. It will be enough for him that he takes his politics into office, and that he will rule with such a strong hand as to sustain his title of "Czar" of the House.

If the report is true that there are now 1,000 laborers at work on the Panama canal and that there is money enough on hand to employ 10,000 men for two years, it would look as if that great work might yet be carried to completion. Of the $200,000,000 expended not more than half of that amount ever went into honest work on the canal. Another hundred millions would probably accomplish more than has been done up to this date. The fact that work has been resumed there may expedite work on the Nicaragua canal.

LOUISIANA'S MOLASSES.

Millions of Gallons Yearly That Planters Don't Get Rid Of.

At the last meeting of the Louisiana Sugar Planter's Association the old and vexatious problem of what to do with the surplus molasses which now accumulates with every cane crop was discussed and it was determined to make the fact known that the planters had this excess of molasses every year and would like to get rid of it for almost anything. The molasses is of a low grade, worth only a few cents a gallon, not enough to pay for the barrelling and shipping to market. Last year some planters dug immense ditches or ponds in their fields, in which the molasses was dumped, to be kept there in case any demand arose for it.

It was hoped at that time that it could be used in the manufacture of rum. A factory was established for the purpose, but it utilized only a very small part of the molasses; indeed, the Louisiana molasses crop would easily make 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 gallons of rum annually or far more than the country needs, enough to keep it drunk for months at a time. When the late cane crop was harvested and manufactured into sugar and molasses, there being no demand for the latter, it was largely dumped into the Mississippi and its tributary bayous. This made little difference to the Mississippi, but Bayou Teche, considered the most beautiful stream in Louisiana, and a favorite place of residence, has been almost ruined by molasses. Enough of the latter was poured into it to cause fermentation, kill the fish, and create odors worse than those which blow from Hunter's Point.

But in spite of the rum refinery, the dumping of millions of gallons of molasses into the river and bayous, and the use as fuel for the sugar houses and as food for stock, there are still some 25,000,000 gallons of molasses left over from last year's grinding which the planters are anxious to get rid of or to find some use for. They will soon begin grinding again and will turn turn out another 25,000,000 gallons of surplus molasses, and they have no room for it. The molasses is worth nominally 6 to 8 cents a gallon, or say, $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 for the crop. It was worth $6,000,000 or more a few years ago.—New York Sun.

Science and Industry.

The introduction of doors made of glass is a novelty originating, it seems, in Boston, and of which the following explanation is given by the papers of that city. A sheet of ground or plain glass is taken of any desired size and clouded on one side with a liquid dye of the proper color to represent any preferred wood, the dye being applied by means of a sponge in delineating the grain of the wood to be exhibited upon the surface of the glass, the shading being softened by the use of a badger brush. Photographer's varnish is then made to flow on the glass leaving the grain clear and fast without resorting to any gelatinous substance, with its liability to crack and of course damage the whole effect. In completing the operation the glass is slightly heated and the various shades of dyes required for the particular wood to be represented are dexterously applied to it by means of a syringe. To prevent the fine shadings from merging into each other the glass is heated, the whole being then made of semi-transparent appearance by applying another coat of photographer's varnish, thus preventing the dyes from being effaced while the exterior surface exhibits all the characteristics of a highly polished and solid wood finish.

CALIFORNIA'S USEFUL BUGS.

Farmers Wonder What They Will Eat When the Parasites Go.

California is having great luck in her experiments of importing insects to prey on and exterminate the various parasitic pests that have caused so much damage to vines and orchards; but a few cautious people are the least bit worried over the voracious appetites of the imported insects and the possibilities of what they may turn to feed upon when all the parasites to their taste have disappeared.

The golden winged lady bird, imported from Australia a few years ago to eat up the cottony cushion scale, has completed that work in most of the Southern counties of the State, and has turned its attention and appetite to the woolly aphis on the apple trees. Another beetle, imported to destroy the red and black scale, has also cleared the parasites from several counties, and lately has appeared in great numbers in the corn fields. Just what its mission there is has not been accurately determined. The experts believe, and the farmers hope, that it will destroy the larvae of a destructive bug which eats and destroys much of the sweet corn raised on the coast. What the farmers are beginning to pray fearfully is that the little beetles may not develop vegetarian appetites, and they are also beginning to wonder what the constantly increasing hordes of the now beneficial insects will live on when their natural prey is exterminated. They hope they will contract consumption or some other convenient disease, and reason that doubtless nature will kindly fix up the matter satisfactorily. Some of them bear in mind the fact that the mongoose was imported into the Island of Jamaica to kill off the rats which ate up the sugar cane, but now the mongoose has eaten up almost every living thing in the Island less than a lamb in size, and the Government would give a year's revenue to be rid of the pest.—N. Y. Sun.

EAT SHRIMPS ALIVE.

Chinese Also Like Eggs in an Adolescent State.

The ambitious housekeeper has nothing to learn, apparently, in the gentle art of cookery from the Chinese, save one good principle and the theory of boiling rice, says the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette. The Chinese appetite so far as their cookery books have been investigated leans too far toward flesh and fruits that are an abomination to the stomach of a Westerner, and what they dredge out of the sea in the way of dainty tidbits he would put into the garbage can with shivers of disgust. Their ways, as well of approaching some species of food an American regards as little short of cannibalistic.

For example, shrimp, they above all other sea products a Chinese esteems, at a well served table are brought on swimming about in a glass bowl of water flavored with oil and vinegar, which renders the creature hysterically active. With an unerring thumb and forefinger, the Chinese diner-out pluck forth the struggling fish, nips off the tail at one bite and casts the useless head behind him. Shocking as it may seem to the moral New York housekeeper, the older the egg in China the more perfect from an epicurean standpoint does it become for no Chinese who has a right regard for his palate eats a fresh one or a boiled egg. Taken fresh, eggs are set to soak, after having been washed, in a tub of aromatic water. After a time they are removed and the water used in mixing a paste of lime and salt, in which the eggs are packed in jars. These they hermetically seal and set away to stand for a month when they are supposed to be fit for eating. Those left packed in the salt and lime for twelve months or more, when opened, are found to have a changed color, solidified partly, and are odorless.

The chief care of the Chinese is to eat nothing cold; warm or hot food they absorb in abundance, but rightly they maintain that cold food lowers the temperature of the stomach beyond the point where digestion can continue and so the whole health of the body is endangered.

Fashion Notes.

The dashing plaid silks will be much used this fall for waists to be worn with plain cloth skirts.

The much-admired box plait now forms part of the back of many of the fashionable skirts. Its graceful effect is due to an interlinig of fibre chamois.

Garden party hats are larger than ever. The daintiest are of white silk mull, trimmed with bunches of white daisies. Those of pink mull with clusters of pink rosebuds are also pretty.

The latest in sleeves is a modernized bishop, which is full from the shoulder to the wrist. It has a lining of fibre chamois to retain its graceful contour.

A new mohair with an almost corded weave will be one of the favorite fabrics for autumn gowns. All-wool Bedford cords will also be the vogue.

The summer girl is wearing a belt of Dresden ribbon which is interlined with fibre chamois. The belt never wrinkles and the ribbon may be changed according to one's fancy. The modish swing of the skirt is also effected by the interlining of fibre chamois.

A ROYAL SHOP.

There Is a Photographic Outfit at Windsor Castle.

There is a brand new project in the household of the Queen at Windsor, a royal department of astronomy having just been established. For several years past Her Majesty has been in the habit of having events that have taken place about the castle and in the grounds photographed that she might have on hand a sort of continuous historical record. This habit has grown very strongly upon her within the past few months, and so many pictures have been taken that the Lord Chamberlain has finally ordered the purchase of a camera and a full set of photographic apparatus. Several of the servants about the castle have had private lessons from a professional photographer on the art of taking pictures and developing them, and a wonderfully complete "dark room" has been fitted up.

Two objects have been accomplished in this way. The first is that privacy is secured and there is no risk whatsoever of the publication of the pictures taken. The Queen is morbidly sensitive in regard to this matter in general, though she does not mind the printing of pictures of herself and in occasional group.

The first pictures taken by the amateurs of the court were a series of photographs of certain farm products. These were a great success, and the Queen has expressed much satisfaction in this new departure. It is planned, as soon as all the details can be arranged, to have all the reports that come to Her Majesty from the various royal palaces of the kingdom accompanied with well mounted photographs.

Mr. Herreshoff's Offer.

Mr. Nat Herreshoff of Newport has made an offer to the Navy Department to build a torpedo boat capable of attaining twenty-seven and one-half knots an hour for $150,000. A short time ago Congress made an appropriation of $150,000 to be used in the construction of three torpedo boats capable of twenty-six knots an hour.

If Mr. Herreshoff's offer is accepted he will use in the construction of the new boat all the principles which have combined to make the Defender a fast yacht.—Star.

THE UMPIRE.

It is very reliably reported that baseball will be seen this winter on the diamonds of at least three prominent California cities. John S. Barnes of St. Paul has secured a lease of Central park in San Francisco and negotiations are said to have been completed for the location of a team in Oakland and one in Los Angeles. There will unquestionably be some good ball playing, for the cream of some of the Eastern leagues will be drawn upon for material to compose the nines. My authority for this bit of interesting intelligence is a dispatch from St. Paul that is quoted in the Sporting News of St. Louis. It appears under the caption of "California to have winter baseball," and is as follows:

"Asked if he had completed arrangements for taking a hand in the winter baseball deal on the coast, John S. Barnes reached into his inside pocket and hauled forth a formidable document, saying as he did so, 'Here is the lease to Central park, San Francisco.' It is hardly likely that John S. will demand any exorbitant price from the managers of the other four teams which will take part in the tournament, because this evening he closed a deal with Comiskey, who wouldn't have closed had any 'squeezing' process been applied. He has, he says, a lease of all the parks of Los Angeles, and has an option on the ball park at Oakland. He will pick a team from the Western and National leagues and locate in San Francisco. Comiskey and his team will locate at Oakland, and Manning very probably at Los Angeles. Manning and Barnes will confer today and settle their part of it one way or the other. Barnes is also negotiating to take two teams to England—one of white men and the other team colored."

* * *

The ball season closes in the East about September 15th. Powers of California fame says the year has been a good one for the game. "There has been hearty support accorded the game," says Powers, "by lovers of the sport on the one hand and on the other the management in each city has done its best to merit commendation, and the players have provided a quality of ball that has not been excelled in previous years." This speaks well for the future.

* * *

The Sunday question is agitating Eastern ball clubs. It has become a source of considerable agitation in baseball circles and things look very much as if there would be a decided split on that rock before another season opens. In a number of localities where the game is largely patronized the question is receiving so much attention from the authorities that ball playing on that day has ceased entirely. It looks as if there would be a geographical division on the subject. An Eastern baseball authority sizes up the situation in a way that gives grounds for the belief that there will be little Sunday playing next year in either the Eastern or Western clubs. It is stated in official circles that the Baltimore, Washington and Brooklyn clubs will refuse to play any Sunday games next year.

"That will leave Sunday baseball with the West alone," says the observant Critic, "and to a great extent will put an end to Sunday playing in the West. This will be due to the fact that the Eastern teams will refuse to permit games to be scheduled for Sunday dates while they are playing in the West. For instance if Boston is scheduled to play in Cincinnati on Monday it will not agree to the transfer or arrangement of a game between Cincinnati and some Western team on the Sunday preceding the Boston date, for that would mean that the Sunday crowd would take away the patronage of the team following. As Pittsburg, of the Western teams, is opposed to Sunday baseball, it is apparent that the anti-Sunday sentiment will be very strong another season. While the Western teams are playing with each other it will be possible to arrange Sunday games between them. When the Eastern teams come to the West there will be no longer any attraction for the Sunday patrons."

With such conditions it looks very much as if something would drop in the big leagues before next year's schedules are built. The Sunday question has reached much farther West and out as far as the Mississippi river the issue is being made.

The downfall of a once bright star in the local baseball firmament is sadly recorded in the following story from a Sacramento correspondent:

"Al Hupeman has been leading a rather dissolute life since the National game became unpopular. He has become a loafer, putting in the most of his time as the associate of disreputable women.

"Last night on lower L street, he was arrested by Officers Bagley and Rutherford for committing a battery upon Sadie Clark, a woman with whom he had been living. The woman was arrested and charged with vagrancy.

"This morning in the police court Hupeman was found guilty and sentenced to six months imprisonment in the county jail. The Clark woman was sent to jail for four months."

Another local player of some repute has gone to his last account. Poverty and disease overcame Alfred Traynor and his body was taken from the county hospital to the morgue a few days ago. Traynor died from consumption. He was 27 years old and was some years ago a bright and popular ball player in this city.

* * *

Some of our old California friends are conspicuous.

Carsey is highly commended for his fine work in the box.

Treadway is making a big record as a heavy batter.

Stallings, now of the Nashvilles has declined an offer as manager of the Grand Rapids, Mich., club.

McGreevey now of Quincy, Ill., was married last week.

Van Haltren has lost caste as a stealer of bases.

Jerry Denny, the old reliable third-baseman is to locate in Norwich, Conn. He has deserted the diamond for a furnishing goods shop, which is much frequented by old-time players.

THE UMPIRE.

THE PADDED RING.

Acmes Will Give a Clever Exhibition.

All is in readiness for the Acme's gentlemen's night to be held in the club rooms tomorrow night. The gymnasium has been especially prepared and everything completed to make the affair a splendid success. There are to be several sparring and wrestling bouts which promise to be exciting.

The event of the evening about which the most interest centers is the four round contest between James Delaney of the Acme Club and James McMahon of the Olympics for points. The P. A. A. has sanctioned the match and unless the unforeseen happens a lively battle will ensue. The men are evenly matched and are clever boxers. Who the victor will be is hard to predict.

The other matches are arranged as follows: Charles Slamberg, (Acme) vs. C. Frye (Acme); L. A. Rudolph (Acme) vs. F. Thurman (Acme); E. Sullivan (Olympic) vs. Carter (Olympic); G. Bates (S. F. A. C.) vs. Wiggins (S. F. A. C.); J. Drew (Acme) vs. J. Coyne (Acme); W. B. Hugh (Acme) vs. Van Buskirk (Olympic); J. Drew (Acme) vs. L. Lochren (Acme); S. Vieini (Olympic) vs. Morris Lee (unattached); J. S. Fox (Acme) vs. G. Payne (S. F. A. C.).

Jack Kitchen's great blind run is over although it will live a long time in the history of the club. After escorting Cornell and Loher as far as San Leandro they were headed to Oakland up and down the streets and finally out Broadway to Lake Temescal where they met the tramps. The latter had a great time and were in a mood to welcome their club mates. It was a hot day and plenty of ice had been taken along to keep the water cool. There being a surplus the boys utilized it by cooling each other's anatomy by that old time method of stuffing it down the back between the clothing and the skin.

After electing officers the outers spent the afternoon in games and yarns and sports.

The following were elected to take charge of the tramper's annex for the coming year: Captain, James Shanly; first lieutenant, Harry J. Rothermann; second lieutenant, Charlie Conlon; secretary, Fred Kohler; sergeant-at-arms, J. M. Bird; commissary commissioners, Fred Simmons, E. J. Erickson and H. J. Rothermon.

A Jolly Gathering Last Saturday Night.

The California Yacht Club gave a delightful reception to the San Francisco Yacht Club last Saturday evening. Over a dozen yachts carrying about seventy-five persons came over the bay. At Goat Island they were met by Captain Von Schmidt and escorted up the creek to the club house. There speeches were made by Commodores Bruce and Gutte and other prominent yachtsmen present.

The event of the evening was the reading of Charles G. Yale's poem. After darkness set the yachts were lighted with lanterns and made a pretty picture as they glided down the creek for home. Among those present were: Captain Morrell, Commodore Gutte, Captain Bartlett, Captain Sutherland and ex-Commodore McCarty.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Gymnasium Work Active and Wheeling in Vogue.

General activity is manifesting itself at the Young Men's Christian Association. The gym is in almost constant use. Several improvements have been made in the matter of new equipment.

Monday night from 8 to 9 o'clock is devoted to general gymnastics. After that the Turners have the floor. On Thursday night the same plan is followed. The "gym" is devoted to hand ball after an hour of general gymnastics. Saturday is free night and the boys give some exhibitions which surprise their friends.

Last Thursday the eight mile relay and mile race were run at the Oakland Trotting Park. The blues had little trouble in winning in the time of 2.39 3-5 sec. The mile race was a much closer if not a better race. J. Taggart won in 2:51 with Frank Bock, the boy smuggler, a close second in 2:50.

Friday evening the boys with their lady friends will take a spin to Alameda by way of High street. The Friday night runs are very popular. This will be the fourth and next to the last one this season. The boys have enjoyed them so much that they may arrange another series.

Training is in order for the five mile road race to take place soon on the San Leandro-Haywards course. As yet the date has not been set, but entries are pouring in and final arrangements will soon be made.

In a couple of weeks the boys will hold a field day with the Oakland High School athletes. As many Y. M. C. A. boys are O. H. S. boys too, the field day will not be a competitive one between the two clubs. They will simply combine and give a field day which promises to be a very good one.

Preparatory to this the High School boys or rather Dawson, Lynch, Keeler, Jenkins and Smith representing them, have fixed their Market street track up in fine style. They worked hard on it all day Saturday and converted it from a pile of ashes to a respectable cinder path.

CRIMSON AND BLACK.

Colors of a New Berkeley Ladies Club.

The cycling annex of the Crescent Athletic Club is no longer without a rival in the college town. A new bicycle club has been organized which promises to outshine the speedy Crescents. It also enjoys the novelty of being the only ladies' cycling club on this side of the bay.

The young ladies though rolling a great deal have kept very quiet regarding their plans to organize. But now they have come boldly out, adopted colors, selected costumes and chosen officers.

Miss Edda Rider is captain, Miss Edith Haddart, president, Miss Pearl Judson, secretary, Miss Jennie Mason, treasurer. Crimson and black are the colors which the ladies will wear on their long and speedy spins.

As yet they have had no races and none of them have been timed but those who have seen them ride say that they are record breakers and can put some of the men to shame.

TENNIS TOPICS.

A Tournament to Be Given by the Lakeside Club.

At last Sam Hardy is seeing the result of his hard work to reestablish tennis in Oakland. The Lakeside club now holds the position that the Oakland club enjoyed. With such players as the Hardys, Magees, Driscoll, Sanborn and lesser lights it ranks as the first on the coast.

Next Saturday the largest tournament given by the club this year will take place. It is to be a class affair for gentlemen of the club. There are to be three classes, the winners in each class to play in the finals. As this gives every member a chance to win a match, however poor a player he may be, every one will enter.

Driscoll, the Hardys, Sanborn and the Magees will doubtless be of the first class, though yet the entries are not completed or the matches drawn. Twenty dollars has been expended in prizes and all things considered the tournament promises to be a great success.

TROUBLED FOOTBALLERS.

A Clash in the Oakland High School Team.

There is trouble in the Oakland High School football team. Harry Chickering wants to retain his place as captain and the eleven has chosen young Anderson in his stead. Chickering was elected last term at a banquet. Last night the team selected Anderson, but Chickering refuses to be downed. There promises to be a difference of views when the team goes out for practice works.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

Reliance Football Men Discuss Their Itinerary.

The Reliance football team is preparing for its trip to the East. Proposals have been submitted to meet the teams of the Denver Athletic Club, the Omaha Club, and the Chicago Athletic Association. The Reliance boys will leave here about October 15th. It is likely a game will be arranged with the University team before they depart. The first game outside of the State will be played at Denver. The second will be the contest on the Omaha gridiron and then they will proceed directly to Chicago. The Chicago-Reliance game of last year in San Francisco will long be remembered. The Windy City lads are aching for a chance to redeem themselves and the Reliance men are willing to give the vanquished footballers another chance. The Reliance lads have hopes that they may be able to extend their trip further Eastward than Chicago. If financial success is not, the team will go to New York, Philadelphia and will return via the north. They expect to make arrangements for games at Seattle, Tacoma and Portland.

FIGURING ON FOOTBALL.

The Reliance Men Intend to Get a Strong Team.

With the advent of Professor Al Lean into the Reliance Club an increased interest will be taken in gymnasium work at that institution. As yet the football men have not begun work under his instruction, but in about a fortnight they will settle down to it. Mr. Lean is at the club Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights, besides drilling the younger members on Tuesday afternoons and Saturday mornings.

Last Thursday the board of directors met and officially announced that a team would be sent East to visit Omaha, Denver and Chicago. Secretary Berry was instructed to communicate with the clubs in these cities, arranging dates, terms, etc. Captain McMillan was also instructed to select and train a team.

Before going the boys will play matches with both universities. If their trip is a financial success as far as Chicago they will be sent on to New York and probably return by way of Portland, Or. When back they will again meet Berkeley and Stanford. This is the general plan and as the athletes form an exceptionally strong team this year they expect to cover themselves with glory.

As yet no manager has been chosen. Those who are competent have not the time but Cal Ewing thinks that he can pilot the boys through. Cal. was the manager who first brought the team into prominence and all are satisfied that he is the right man for the right place. With a good team with McMillan as captain, and Ewing as manager backed by a strong club the Reliance boys are confident of great things.

But though football is booming cycling is not dead. The boys are training hard for their five-mile road race next Sunday and intend to show unbelievers a thing or two concerning their speed.

Charles Bates is making an effort to have a meet here on the 9th of next month. If he can complete arrangements Oakland will be treated to some good racing. Bates is a hard worker and the boys are heartily in favor of the scheme, so in all probability it will be carried out.

SPEEDY RUNNERS.

Racing the year round means something in California now. Never before in the history of horse racing in the State has there been such a season as the Bay District Association of San Francisco has given the lovers of horse flesh. The races have been excellent and patrons of the turf, realize it by the extensive support they have given the Bay District track this year. President Thomas H. Williams has placed racing on a solid foundation in California.

One for Bicyclists.

A resident of Rochester, N. Y., is about to commence a novel suit for damages in the Supreme Court. He seeks to recover $5000 for injuries which he claims to have received through the explosion of a bicycle tire, or, strictly speaking, the forcible ejectment from the tire of a plug which had been used to repair a puncture and was not secure enough to stand the pressure of the air.

The complainant was riding his wheel behind another wheelman whose bicycle was fitted with a single tube or hose pipe tires, when suddenly he heard a noise like the report of a pistol and felt a stinging sensation in his left eye. He dismounted, and at the same time the rider in front of him was obliged to dismount on account of the collapse of one of his tires. The apparent puncture was in the exact spot where a puncture had previously been received, but the plug which had stopped the leak was nowhere to be found.

The injured optic grew rapidly worse and, though the missile which was the cause of the damage cannot be produced in court the plaintiff thinks he is warranted in charging his hurt to the innocent rider who was in front of him.

Molasses Bicycle Tires.

It is said that a French chemist proposes to make a substitute for India rubber from the same ingredients as are used for the manufacture of printer's rollers—i. e., a mixture formed of variable proportions of glue, glycerine, and molasses. This composition is to be covered with canvas, ordinary rubber "or other suitable material," to protect it against humidity, great heat or mechanical action. Although the ingredients named form the fundamental basis of the composition, the inventor reserves the right to modify the product by the addition of other substances.

Cheap Tea.

The extra value 50-cent teas of the Great American Importing Tea Company are the best in the market for the price. They are equal to any 75-cent teas. They are of a new crop. The purchaser gets more than his money's worth in buying them. But this week the Great American Importing Tea Company offers a special inducement to every purchaser. It will give an excellent premium with every pond of 50-cent tea purchased. There is a large assortment of goods from which to select these premiums, including tumblers, coffee, bread and butter sets, porcelain cups and saucers, tin buckets, rustic pitchers, butter dishes and a large number of beautiful and useful articles. This will result in a big saving to housekeepers. The stores of the Great American Importing Tea Company are at 1051 Washington street, 917 Broadway, 141 San Pablo avenue, 616 East Twelfth street, Oakland, and at Park street and Alameda avenue, Alameda.

Where Cyclists Congregate.

Last night there was a gathering of bicyclists in front of the Central Bank building on Fourteenth street so large that it looked to a stranger as if a big country run had just been brought to a close. The gathering, however, is almost a nightly occurrence. It comprised leading male and female riders who are patrons of the Central Cyclery, which is located immediately opposite the entrance to the Macdonough Theater, in the Central Bank building, with the entrance on Fourteenth street. The Central Cyclery is managed and owned by B. C. Lund, who is an expert in his line. He has Cleveland, Ben Hur and Tribune wheels on hand and sells them at the lowest rates.

TIEO GIER, 915 Washington street for Sauterne, Riesling, Hock, Cabinet Burgundy and Zinfandel, product of the Ruby Hill Vineyard Co. (John Crellin & Sons), Livermore Valley has the highest standing in the market. Awarded gold medal at World's Fair, Chicago, and Midwinter Fair, San Francisco.

Clever Boxers to Give an Exhibition at the Acme Club.

LIVELY CONTESTS EXPECTED.

The Umpire Trying Hard to Get Baseball Out of a Trance.

The Acme Club has made preparations for a great time on Thursday evening. The "gentlemen's night" promises to be a huge success.

The Reliance Club is arranginty the itinerary for the football team's Eastern trip.

A ladies' cycling club has been organized at Berkeley.

The Young Men's Christian Association will hold a field day within a few weeks in conjunction with the Oakland High school.

The California Yacht Club held an enjoyable "jinks" last Saturday night.

THE UMPIRE.

It is very reliably reported that baseball will be seen this winter on the diamonds of at least three prominent California cities. John S. Barnes of St. Paul has secured a lease of Central park in San Francisco and negotiations are said to have been completed for the location of a team in Oakland and one in Los Angeles. There will unquestionably be some good ball playing, for the cream of some of the Eastern leagues will be drawn upon for material to compose the nines. My authority for this bit of interesting intelligence is a dispatch from St. Paul that is quoted in the Sporting News of St. Louis. It appears under the caption of "California to have winter baseball," and is as follows:

"Asked if he had completed arrangements for taking a hand in the winter baseball deal on the coast, John S. Barnes reached into his inside pocket and hauled forth a formidable document, saying as he did so, 'Here is the lease to Central park, San Francisco.' It is hardly likely that John S. will demand any exorbitant price from the managers of the other four teams which will take part in the tournament, because this evening he closed a deal with Comiskey, who wouldn't have closed had any 'squeezing' process been applied. He has, he says, a lease of all the parks of Los Angeles, and has an option on the ball park at Oakland. He will pick a team from the Western and National leagues and locate in San Francisco. Comiskey and his team will locate at Oakland, and Manning very probably at Los Angeles. Manning and Barnes will confer today, and settle their part of it one way or the other. Barnes is also negotiating to take two teams to England—one of white men and the other team colored."

* * *

The ball season closes in the East about September 15th. Powers of California fame says the year has been a good one for the game. "There has been hearty support accorded the game," says Powers, "by lovers of the sport on the one hand and on the other the management in each city has done its best to merit commendation, and the players have provided a quality of ball that has not been excelled in previous years." This speaks well for the future.

* * *

The Sunday question is agitating Eastern ball clubs. It has become a source of considerable agitation in baseball circles and things look very much as if there would be a decided split on that rock before another season opens. In a number of localities where the game is largely patronized the question is receiving so much attention from the authorities that ball playing on that day has ceased entirely. It looks as if there would be a geographical division on the subject. An Eastern baseball authority sizes up the situation in a way that gives grounds for the belief that there will be little Sunday playing next year in either the Eastern or Western clubs. It is stated in official circles that the Baltimore, Washington and Brooklyn clubs will refuse to play any Sunday games next year.

"That will leave Sunday baseball with the West alone," says the observant Critic, "and to a great extent will put an end to Sunday playing in the West. This will be due to the fact that the Eastern teams will refuse to permit games to be scheduled for Sunday dates while they are playing in the West. For instance, if Boston is scheduled to play in Cincinnati on Monday it will not agree to the transfer or arrangement of a game between Cincinnati and some Western team on the Sunday preceding the Boston date, for that would mean that the Sunday crowd would take away the patronage of the team following. As Pittsburg, of the Western teams, is opposed to Sunday baseball, it is apparent that the anti-Sunday sentiment will be very strong another season. While the Western teams are playing with each other it will be possible to arrange Sunday games between them. When the Eastern teams come to the West there will be no longer any attraction for the Sunday patrons."

With such conditions it looks very much as if something would drop in the big leagues before next year's schedules are built. The Sunday question has reached much farther West and out as far as the Mississippi river the issue is being made.

The downfall of a once bright star in the local baseball firmament is sadly recorded in the following story from a Sacramento correspondent:

"Al Hapeman has been leading a rather dissolute life since the National game became unpopular. He has become a loafer, putting in the most of his time as the associate of disreputable women.

"Last night, on lower J street, he was arrested by Officers Bagley and Rutherford for committing a battery upon Sadie Clark, a women with whom he had been living. The woman was arrested and charged with vagrancy.

"This morning in the police court Hapeman was found guilty and sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the county jail. The Clark woman was sent to jail for four months."

* * *

Another local player of some repute has gone to his last account. Poverty and disease overcame Alfred Traynor and his body was taken from the county hospital to the morgue a few days ago. Traynor died from consumption. He was 27 years old and was some years ago a bright and popular ball player in this city.

Some of our old California friends are conspicuous.

Carsey is highly commended for his fine work in the box.

Treadway is making a big record as a heavy batter.

Stallings, now of the Nashvilles, has declined an offer as manager of the Grand Rapids, Mich., club.

McGreevey, now of Quincy, Ill., was married last week.

Van Haltren has lost caste as a stealer of bases.

Jerry Denny, the old reliable third-baseman, is to locate in Norwich, Conn. He has deserted the diamond for a furnishing goods shop, which is much frequented by old-time players.

THE PADDED RING.

Acmes Will Give a Clever Exhibition.

All is in readiness for the Acme's gentlemen's night to be held in the club rooms tomorrow night. The gymnasium has been especially prepared and everything completed to make the affair a splendid success. There are to be several sparring and wrestling bouts which promise to be exciting.

The event of the evening about which the most interest centers is the four round contest between James Delaney of the Acme Club and James McMahon of the Olympics for points. The P. A. A. has sanctioned the match and unless the unforeseen happens a lively battle will ensue. The men are evenly matched and are clever boxers. Who the victor will be is hard to predict.

The other matches are arranged as follows: Charles Slamberg, (Acme) vs. C. Fryo (Acme); L. A. Rudolph (Acme) vs. F. Thurman (Acme); E. Sullivan (Olympic) vs. Carter (Olympic); G. Bates (S. F. A. C.) vs. Wiggins (S. F. A. C.); J. Drew (Acme) vs. J. Coyne (Acme); W. B. Hugh (Acme) vs. Van Buskirk (Olympic); J. Drew (Acme) vs. L. Lochren (Acme); S. Vieini (Olympic) vs. Morris Lee (unattached); J. S. Fox (Acme) vs. G. Payne (S. F. A. C.)

Jack Kitchen's great blind run is over although it will live a long time in the history of the club. After escorting Cornell and Loher as far as San Leandro they were headed to Oakland up and down the streets and finally out Broadway to Lake Temescal where they met the trampers. The latter had a great time and were in a mood to welcome their club mates. It was a hot day and plenty of ice had been taken along to keep the water cool. There being a surplus the boys utilized it by cooling each other's anatomy by that old time method of stuffing it down the back between the clothing and the skin.

After electing officers the outers spent the afternoon in games and yarns and sports.

The following were elected to take charge of the tramper's annex for the coming year: Captain, James Sharly; first lieutenant, Harry J. Rotherman; second lieutenant, Charlie Conlon; secretary, Fred Kohler; sergeant-at-arms, J. M. Bird; commissary commissioners, Fred Simmons, E. J. Erickson and H. J. Rothermon.

A Jolly Gathering Last Saturday Night.

The California Yacht Club gave a delightful reception to the San Francisco Yacht Club last Saturday evening. Over a dozen yachts carrying about seventy-five persons came over the bay. At Goat Island they were met by Captain Von Schmidt and escorted up the creek to the club house. There speeches were made by Commodores Bruce and Gutte and other prominent yachtsmen present.

The event of the evening was the reading of Charles G. Yale's poem. After darkness set the yachts were lighted with lanterns and made a pretty picture as they glided down the creek for home. Among those present were: Captain Morrell, Commodore Gutte, Captain Bartlett, Captain Sutherland and ex-Commodore McCarty.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Gymnasium Work Active and Wheeling in Vogue.

General activity is manifesting itself at the Young Men's Christian Association. The gym is in almost constant use. Several improvements have been made in the matter of new equipment.

Monday night from 8 to 9 o'clock is devoted to general gymnastics. After that the Turners have the floor. On Thursday night the same plan is followed. The "gym" is devoted to hand ball after an hour of general gymnastics. Saturday is free night and the boys give some exhibitions which surprise their friends.

Last Thursday the eight mile relay and mile race were run at the Oakland Trotting Park. The blues had little trouble in winning in the time of 2:39 3-5 sec. The mile race was a much closer if not a better race. J. Taggart won in 2:51 with Frank Bock, the boy smuggler, a close second in 2:50.

Friday evening the boys with their lady friends will take a spin to Alameda by way of High street. The Friday night runs are very popular. This will be the fourth and next to the last one this season. The boys have enjoyed them so much that they may arrange another series.

Training is in order for the five mile road race to take place soon on the San Leandro-Haywards course. As yet the date has not been set, but entries are pouring in and final arrangements will soon be made.

In a couple of weeks the boys will hold a field day with the Oakland High School athletes. As many Y. M. C. A. boys are O. H. S. boys too, the field day will not be a competitive one between the two clubs. They will simply combine and give a field day which promises to be a very good one.

Preparatory to this the High School boys or rather Dawson, Lynch, Keeler, Jenkins and Smith representing them, have fixed their Market street track up in fine style. They worked hard on it all day Saturday and converted it from a pile of ashes to a respectable cinder path.

CRIMSON AND BLACK.

Colors of a New Berkeley Ladies Club.

The cycling annex of the Crescent Athletic Club is no longer without a rival in the college town. A new bicycle club has been organized which promises to outshine the speedy Crescents. It also enjoys the novelty of being the only ladies' cycling club on this side of the bay.

The young ladies though going a great deal have kept very quiet regarding their plans to organize. But now they have come boldly out, adopted colors, selected costumes and chosen officers.

Miss Edda Rider is captain; Miss Edith Huddart, president; Miss Pearl Judson, secretary; Miss Jennie Mason, treasurer. Crimson and black are the colors which the ladies will wear on their long and speedy spins.

As yet they have had no races and none of them have been timed but those who have seen them ride say that they are record breakers and can put some of the men to shame.

TENNIS TOPICS.

A Tournament to Be Given by the Lakeside Club.

At last Sam Hardy is seeing the result of his hard work to reestablish tennis in Oakland. The Lakeside club now holds the position that the Oakland club enjoyed. With such players as the Hardys, Magees, Driscoll, Sanborn and lesser lights it ranks as the first on the coast.

Next Saturday the largest tournament given by the club this year will take place. It is to be a class affair for gentlemen of the club. There are to be three classes, the winners in each class to play in the finals. As this gives every member a chance to win a match, however poor a player he may be, every one will enter.

Driscoll, the Hardys, Sanborn and the Magees will doubtless be of the first class, though yet the entries are not completed or the matches drawn. Twenty dollars has been expended in prizes and all things considered the tournament promises to be a great success.

TROUBLED FOOTBALLERS.

A Clash in the Oakland High School Team.

There is trouble in the Oakland High School football team. Harry Chickering wants to retain his place as captain and the eleven has chosen young Anderson in his stead. Chickering was elected last term at a banquet. Last night the team selected Anderson, but Chickering refuses to be downed. There promises to be a difference of views when the team goes out for practice works.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

Reliance Football Men Discuss Their Itinerary.

The Reliance football team is preparing for its trip to the East. Proposals have been submitted to meet the teams of the Denver Athletic Club, the Omaha Club, and the Chicago Athletic Association. The Reliance boys will leave here about October 15th. It is likely a game will be arranged with the University team before they depart. The first game outside of the State will be played at Denver. The second will be the contest on the Omaha gridiron and then they will proceed directly to Chicago. The Chicago-Reliance game of last year in San Francisco will long be remembered. The Windy City lads are aching for a chance to redeem themselves and the Reliance men are willing to give the vanquished footballers another chance. The Reliance lads have hopes that they may be able to extend their trip further Eastward than Chicago. If financial success is met, the team will go to New York, Philadelphia and will return via the north. They expect to make arrangements for games at Seattle, Tacoma and Portland.

FIGURING ON FOOTBALL.

The Reliance Men Intend to Get a Strong Team.

With the advent of Professor Al Lean into the Reliance Club an increased interest will be taken in gymnasium work at that institution. As yet the football men have not begun work under his instruction, but in about a fortnight they will settle down to it. Mr. Lean is at the club Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights, besides drilling the younger members on Tuesday afternoons and Saturday mornings.

Last Thursday the board of directors met and officially announced that a team would be sent East to visit Omaha, Denver and Chicago. Secretary Berry was instructed to communicate with the clubs in these cities, arranging dates, terms, etc. Captain McMillan was also instructed to select and train a team.

Before going the boys will play matches with both universities. If their trip is a financial success as far as Chicago they will be sent on to New York and probably return by way of Portland, Or. When back they will again meet Berkeley and Stanford. This is the general plan and as the athletes form an exceptionally strong team this year they expect to cover themselves with glory.

As yet no manager has been chosen. Those who are competent have not the time, but Cal Ewing thinks that he can pilot the boys through. Cal. was the manager who first brought the team into prominence and all are satisfied that he is the right man for the right place. With a good team with McMillan as captain and Ewing as manager backed by a strong club the Reliance boys are confident of great things.

But though football is booming cycling is not dead. The boys are training hard for their five-mile road race next Sunday and intend to show unbelievers a thing or two concerning their speed.

Charles Bates is making an effort to have a meet here on the 9th of next month. If he can complete arrangements Oakland will be treated to some good racing. Bates is a hard worker and the boys are heartily in favor of the scheme, so in all probability it will be carried out.

SPEEDY RUNNERS.

Good Sport at the Bay District Track.

Racing the year round means something in California now. Never before in the history of horse racing in the State has there been such a season as the Bay District Association of San Francisco has given the lovers of horse flesh. The races have been excellent and patrons of the turf, realize it by the extensive support they have given the Bay District track this year. President Thomas H. Williams has placed racing on a solid foundation in California.

One for Bicyclists.

A resident of Rochester, N. Y., is about to commence a novel suit for damages in the Supreme Court. He seeks to recover $5000 for injuries which he claims to have received through the explosion of a bicycle tire, or, strictly speaking, the forcible ejectment from the tire of a plug which had been used to repair a puncture and was not secure enough to stand the pressure of the air.

The complainant was riding his wheel behind another wheelman whose bicycle was fitted with a single tube or hose pipe tires, when suddenly he heard a noise like the report of a pistol and felt a stinging sensation in his left eye. He dismounted, and at the same time the rider in front of him was obliged to dismount on acount of the collapse of one of his tires. The apparent puncture was in the exact spot where a puncture had previously been received, but the plug which had stopped the leak was nowhere to be found.

The injured optic grew rapidly worse and, although the missile which was the cause of the damage cannot be produced in court, the plaintiff thinks he is warranted in charging his hurt to the innocent rider who was in front of him.

Molasses Bicycle Tires.

It is said that a French chemist proposes to make a substitute for India rubber from the same ingredients as are used for the manufacture of printer's rollers—i. e., a mixture formed of variable proportions of glue, glycerine, and molasses. This composition is to be covered with canvas, ordinary rubber "or other suitable material," to protect it against humidity, great heat or mechanical action. Although the ingredients named form the fundamental basis of the composition, the inventor reserves the right to modify the product by the addition of other substances.

Cheap Tea.

The extra value 50-cent teas of the Great American Importing Tea Company are the best in the market for the price. They are equal to any 75-cent teas. They are of a new crop. The purchaser gets more than his money's worth in buying them. But this week the Great American Importing Tea Company offers a special inducement to every purchaser. It will give an excellent premium with every pond of 50-cent tea purchased. There is a large assortment of goods from which to select these premiums, including tumblers, coffee, bread and butter sets, porcelain cups and saucers, tin buckets, rustic pitchers, butter dishes and a large number of beautiful and useful articles. This will result in a big saving to housekeepers. The stores of the Great American Importing Tea Company are at 1053 Washington street, 317 Broadway, 131 San Pablo avenue, 616 East Twelfth street, Oakland, and at Park street and Alameda avenue, Alameda.

Where Cyclists Congregate.

Last night there was a gathering of bicyclists in front of the Central Bank building on Fourteenth street so large that it looked to a stranger as if a big country run had just been brought to a close. The gathering, however, is almost a nightly occurrence. It comprised leading male and female riders who are patrons of the Central Cyclery, which is located immediately opposite the entrance to the Macdonough Theater, in the Central Bank building, with the entrance on Fourteenth street. The Central Cyclery is managed and owned by B. C. Lund, who is an expert in his line. He has Cleveland, Ben Hur and Tribune wheels on hand and sells them at the lowest rates.

SOCIETY SAW THE SHOW.

A Fashionable Audience at the Lyceum Company's Play.

Excellent Pieces Staged During the Engagement Here.

A brilliant audience assembled at the Macdonough last night to participate in the opening of the brief engagement here of the Lyceum Theater Company. The attendance augurs well for the success of the season which comprises a matinee, "The Wife," today; "An Ideal Husband" tonight, and "The Amazons" tomorrow night.

The play last night was "The Case of Rebellious Susan," and served as a medium to introduce the hobbies of the hour, notably those of the new woman. One of the characters had "a message for the age" and believed that the brutality of men should be destroyed by the exercise against it of brute force. The part was acceptably played by Miss Elizabeth Tyree and was an admirable counter to that of her impractical husband, Ferguson Pybus, a character sustained by Fritz Williams.

Isabel Irving assumed the role of Lady Susan Harabin, who, with good cause to find fault with her gay young husband, snaps her fingers in his face, leaves him and is about to commit even greater indescretions than did her liege lord, when her man-of-the-world uncle, Sir Richard Kato, (Herbert Kelcey) skillfully brings her back to her husband's side. Susan is a character that makes many demands upon the versatility of an actress. It is one in which she may rant and pout and storm, and may still be unsuccessful. Miss Irving, however, seemed to feel everything she did and her performance was consistent and natural.

Herbert Kelcey had a congenial character and played it admirably. A successful man of the world who has "loved" hundreds of women and "really loved" only one, who reads human nature like a book, and, withal, with his connections, he moved with the air of master in the midst of all their contentions, with the satisfaction of eventually restoring peace and tranquility.

Stephen Grattan, as James Harabin, made the most out of the somewhat unenviable part, and, as was expected, the old favorite W. J. Le Moyne, was bluff, hearty and simple as Admiral Darby. Mr. Le Moyne was warmly received on his appearance.

Annie Irish invested Mrs. Inez Quesnel with a rare charm, and one of the most delightful scenes of the play was that between her and Kato, where both look into their past lives with so much tenderness and so much nature as to charm the audience. The other well-known members of the company in the caste were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walcot and Walter S. Hale.

The performance as a whole was artistic in the highest sens and was so considered by the audience, which was demonstartive in its appreciation.

Among those noted in the audience were: Mrs. Cogbill, Mrs. Judge Stanly, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Bowles, Mrs. G. W. Hume, Miss Hume, Miss May Hume, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dalght, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Magee Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Magee, Mr. and Mrs. John F. This afternoon "The Wife" is being played to a big house and tonight "An Ideal Husband" will be presented. It is the story of Richard Chiltren, a young cabinet minister, who is respected as a man above reproach. His wife, who shares in this belief, has placed him upon such a pinnacle that she does not believe he could possibly be guilty of a wrong action. But Chiltren, in the first year of his diplomatic career, had sold a state secret to a speculator, thereby laying the foundation for his fortune and his present political eminence. Since that time he has been strictly honest, and as years rolled by, believed himself safe from the dangers of his early sin. In the height of his prosperity, however, disclosure is threatened. Besides the destroying of his career, he feels this disclosure will cost him the love and respect of his wife. In the agony of the moment a friend prevents the public disclosure, Chiltren confesses to his wife, and, after a struggle upon her part, he is forgiven. "But life is never the same again."

Tomorrow night the engagement closes with "The Amazons."

THE ROYAL MARIONETTES.

AS OTHERS SEE US.

The committee which visited Stockton to see the operating of the Hayes fire truck and Oakland to see the operating of the Babcock truck, have returned and will meet Wednesday to come to some decision as to which truck is the more desirable for Fresno.—Fresno Exposition.

It is a bad sign to see the factories about the bay here closing up or moving. The latest that is announced to go is the Oakland jute mill. We should think the Oakland people would manage somehow to keep it. They ought to have as much money and as keen a perception of the advantages of factories as any one. In this connection it may be timely to remind that Alameda contains three of the largest factories in the State, and one of the largest in its line in the world. All the three are flourishing. Alameda also has a flourishing shipyard.—Alameda Argus.

County Clerk Jordan has prepared plans for a new system of checks upon the county's expenditure. He will keep a detailed account and each month will furnish a report showing where every cent in each department of the county government has gone. The intention of the scheme is simply to keep an accurate record of each claim and of all department expenditures. Clerk Jordan is doing something besides drawing his salary.—Alameda Telegram.

Yesterday's services, both morning and evening, in the Trinity M. E. church south, were in the nature of a farewell. They are the last services that will be held in the church before it is removed from its present site on Broadway to the new lot on Grand avenue, near Ninth street. More than that Rev. A. C. Bane, who has been the pastor of Trinity church for the last two years, and formerly of Asbury M. E. church, of Oakland, will leave next month for the Pacific conference, which is said to be held in San Francisco, and the services were therefore doubly significant. Mr. Bane will not return to Los Angeles after the conference. His term expires here September 26th and he will go into the field as an evangelist. Who will succeed him here will not be known until the conference meets. The church was made very attractive with flowers yesterday, and at the morning service Mr. Bane spoke on the subject From Pastorate to Evangelism—A Divine Call.—Los Angeles Herald.

AN UNDERGROUND CITY.

A Discovery by Russian Explorers in Asia.

The Russians have made a singular discovery in Central Asia. In Turkestan, on the right bank of the Amou Daria, is a chain of rocky hills near the Bokharan town of Karkl, and a number of large caves which, upon examination, were found to lead to an underground city, built apparently long before the Christian era. According to effigies, inscriptions and designs upon the gold and silver money unearthed from among the ruins, the existence of the town dates back to some two centuries before the birth of Christ. The underground Bokharan city is about two versts long, and is composed of an enormous labyrinth of corridors, streets and squares, surrounded by houses and other buildings two or three stories high. The edifices contain all kinds of domestic utensils, pots, urns, vases and so forth. In some of the streets falls of earth and rock have obstructed the passages, but generally the visitor can walk about freely without so much as lowering the head.

The high degree of civilization attained by the inhabitants of the city is shown by the fact that they built in several stories, by the symmetry of the streets and squares, and by the beauty of the baked clay and metal utensils, and the ornaments and coins which have been found. It is supposed that long centuries ago this city, so carefully concealed in the bowels of the earth, provided an entire population with a refuge from the incursions of nomadic savages and robbers.

THE BEST PIPE TOBACCO.

TOOK THE TAG.

County Clerk Jordan's Pet Spaniel Has a Caller.

County Clerk Jordan is the victim of a petty sneak thief's operations. He has no clew to the operator but he says some unscrupulous person corraled his pet spaniel last night and stole the license tag from off the collar which encircled the pet's throat. The job was neatly done with a pair of pinchers. It was not discovered until this morning and then Frank was very wroth. He had not time to make further investigation as he was obliged to leave for Sacramento at noon.

A strange man was seen prowling about the Jordan mansion in East Oakland last night but no description of the intruder was secured.

PUBLIC WORKS.

The Commissioners Dispose of the Routine Business.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Public Works last evening the street superintendent reported that C. E. H. Reed, the owner of a dump cart was not doing satisfactory work and asked for his discharge. The superintendent was given power to act in the matter. The superintendent also recommended the purchase of a steam roller at a cost of $5000. Referred to the Committee of the Whole.

A complaint from E. Gill that Filbert street between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth had not received the same attention of a street sprinkler that adjoining property got, was referred to the street superintendent.

Ebenezer Johnson applied to be appointed keeper of Independence Square, E. P. Thomas asked for a position as gardener and J. C. Ewing wanted work in the street department. All the applications were filed.

A communication from the Oakland Fruit and Produce Company in reference to a claim against Police Officer Rogers, was referred to the Committee of the Whole.

HUSBAND VERSUS WIFE.

A Tale of Marital Mishaps Told in the Police Court.

F. E. Stack and his wife Agnes had a domestic misunderstanding Monday. Mrs Stack, feeling herself worsted in the encounter, swore to a complaint, charging her husband with battery and the case was tried this morning before Judge Wood.

Mrs. Stack told how her husband, who was formerly a railroad man, had of late taken to drink and used his money to buy liquor instead of purchasing food for hersif and three little children. Monday he went in search of work and left her with only 5 cents with which to buy food. This not being enough, she went out and borrowed food. When her husbdan came home he was irritable and struck her on the head. The husband told an altogether different tale. He said that it was the wife who held the belt for drinking in their family and that on the day of the trouble she was intoxicated. He said that when he came home from San Francisco he found his wife had not started to get his dinner, but was enjoying herself with a pitcher of beer. He remonstrated with her and she became hysterical.

The defense had further testimony to offer which could not be in the court in the morning and the case was continued until 3 P. M.

PLEASURE BOAT MODEL.

Handsome Local Exhibit at the Mechanics' Fair.

Messrs. Watts & Trott, whose place of business is at the southwest corner of Third and Washington streets, shipped to San Francisco yesterday for exhibition at the Mechanics' Fair, one of the handsomest and best appointed pleasure boats ever seen on the Pacific Coast. The boat is 18 feet in length, is built of British Columbia cedar with mahogany trimmings, the fixtures being of polished brass, and altogether the boat presents a beautiful appearance.

Visitors to the Fair from Oakland should make it a point to see this product of home manufacture, as it is well worth careful examination and occupies a prominent place among the exhibits at the Fair.

If this model of workmanship may be taken as a criterion of the ability of Messrs. Watts & Trott in the line of boat building they are certainly deserving of a fair share of Oakland's patronage.

Squeamish Chicago.

Dogs Can Read Character.

Wonderful tales have been told of the marvelous instinctive intelligence of dogs, but the idea of consulting a canine oracle when a man is contemplating matrimony is a new one. A French writer, however, says that before committing himself a man should note carefully how she whom he loves conducts herself toward her parents and friends, and, above all, how she treats ordinary domestic animals. "Beware of a person whom children and dogs dislike," he says. "Dogs may be our inferiors, but their instincts rarely deceive them, and a pronounced antipathy on their part may well be considered as a danger signal. No compassion should be felt for him who marries a girl whom dogs snarl at and dislike, for he has had fair warning of domestic storms."

SAN FRANCISCO NEWS.

Mrs. Louisa Worthington Again Found Guilty of Murder.

An Enormous Concourse Attends the Funeral of Frank Pixley.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—The second trial of Mrs. Louisa Worthington for the murder of Harry Baddeley, ended this morning, the jury returning a verdict of murder in the second degree.

In 1893, Mrs. Worthington shot at the ferry her paramour. It was said she had been urged to the murder by her husband.

Mrs. Worthington's defense was insanity.

The first jury returned a verdict in the second degree of murder with a recommendation to mercy.

The Supreme Court ordered a new trial on the ground of errors in the charge to the jury.

Judge Wallace sentenced the prisoner to twenty-five years.

The present verdict is without recommendation to mercy.

GIRLS RUN AWAY.

Annie Bailey a sixteen year old girl of many aliases, who has said she was a banker's daughter and has impersonated Nettie Dowd, of Monterey, to the latter's discomiture, is the central figure of a new plan to win notoriety.

After the Dowd episode when she said she had been led astray by one Annie Jackson, she was sent to the Magdalene Asylum.

There she concoted a scheme to escape.

She enlisted several others in the plan which was to assault the Sister of Charity on guard and then to leave the house, climb the trees overhangng the wall and then drop to the ground.

This was done and Annie fell from the wall injuring herself.

She was picked up by a milkman early this morning and brought into town but was subsequently recaptured.

Other girls remained in the trees until daylight, being afraid to jump down twenty feet.

This is the first attempt to escape from the Magdalene Asylum.

A Temporary Solution Found of the Garbage Problem.

The Council committee having in charge the disposal of garbage met last evening with the health officer and decided to award a temporary contract to A. B. Tennant, as the best way out of the difficulty. Mr. Tennant will build a platform in the vicinity of the Sixteenth street station upon which garbage will be dumped from carts. This refuse will in turn be loaded upon one or more covered freight cars which will be sent beyond the boundaries of Alameda county, to a place in Contra Costa county known as the Highlands and there discharged. the Highlands, and there discharged.

Secretary Schaffer has been investigating the charges made by Councilman Buckland to the effect that the crematory in Los Angeles did not prove a success and finds that such is the fact, but he also ascertained that the crematory is not one of a standard pattern. The builders of it, Ramish & Marsh, are paid at present $16,000 a year for taking the garbage of Los Angeles out of town. It is buried in trenches and only dead animals are burned.

The street light committee of the City Council will hold a meeting this evening.

The finance committee and the committee on furniture and supplies of the Board of Education will hold a meeting Friday evening.

SOON TO ACT.

The Wilmerding School Matter Being Pushed by the Regents.

The regents of the University who have in trust the bequest of $400,000 left by Mr. Wilmerding for the establishment of a trade school will probably hold a special meeting soon to consider the proposition offered for a site. A committee was appointed at a meeting of the regents yesterday that will render a report at the next meeting.

Hon. J. West Martin, one of the regents, says about five acres of land will be required. Owing to the class of the instruction and the strong frame-work required for a suitable building he does not favor locating it in the heart of the city, but favors a suburban site. It is hoped that some generous land owner will donate the necessary property. The Board of Education has offered the use of the old High School building until a more eligible site can be obtained.

School Director Moody Sued.

Suit has been brought in Justice Lawrence's court against E. A. Moody to recover on a note given by Moody in payment of a grocery bill. The note matured some two years and four months ago and the holder now thinks that Moody should pay. Defendant Moody filed a demurrer to the complaint which was promptly overruled by Judge Lawrence. The principal point made in the demurrer was that the copy of complaint stated that the note was payable "at" the First National Bank, whereas the original complaint read "to" First National Bank. The trial of the case has been set for the latter part of the week.

SOCIETY SAW THE SHOW.

A Fashionable Audience at the Lyceum Company's Play.

Excellent Pieces Staged During the Engagement Here.

A brilliant audience assembled at the Macdonough last night to participate in the opening of the brief engagement here of the Lyceum Theater Company. The attendance augurs well for the success of the season which comprises a matinee, "The Wife," today; "An Ideal Husband" tonight, and "The Amazons" tomorrow night.

The play last night was "The Case of Rebellious Susan," and served as a medium to introduce the hobbies of the hour, notably those of the new woman. One of the characters had "a message for the age" and believed that the brutality of men should be destroyed by the exercise against it of brute force. The part was acceptably played by Miss Elizabeth Tyree and was an admirable counter to that of her impractical husband, Fergeson Pybus, a character sustained by Fritz Williams.

Isabel Irving assumed the role of Lady Susan Harabin, who, with good cause to find fault with her gay young husband, snaps her fingers in his face, leaves him and is about to commit even greater indiscretions than did her liege lord, when her man-of-the-world uncle, Sir Richard Kato (Herbert Kelcey) skillfully brings her back to her husband's side. Susan is a character that makes many demands upon the versatility of an actress. It is one in which she may rant and pout and storm, and may still be a character. Miss Irving, however seemed to feel everything she did and her performance was consistent and natural.

Herbert Kelcey had a congenial character and played it admirably. A successful man of the world who has "loved hundreds of women and "really loved" only one, who reads human nature like a book, and, withal with his contentions, he moved with the air of master in the midst of all their contentions, with the satisfaction of eventually restoring peace and tranquility.

Stephen Grattan, as James Harabin made the most out of the somewhat unenviable part, and, as was expected, the old favorite W. J. Le Moyne was bluff hearty and simple as Admiral Darby. Mr Le Moyne was warmly received on his appearance.

Annie Irish invested Mrs. Inez Quesnet with a rare charm and one of the most delightful scenes of the play was that between her and Kato, where both look into their past lives with so much tenderness and so much nature as to charm the audience. The other well-known members of the company in the caste were Mr and Mrs. Charles Walcot and Walter S. Hale.

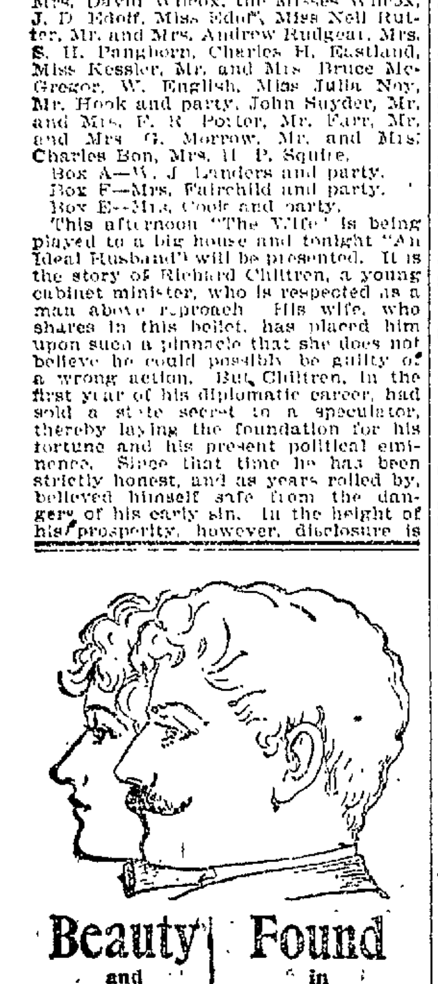

The performance as a whole was artistic in the highest sense and was so considered by the audience, which was demonstrative in its appreciation.

Among those noted in the audience were: Mrs. Coghill, Mrs Judge Stanly, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Bowles, Mrs G. W. Hume, Miss Hume, Miss May Hume, Mr and Mrs. Harry Haight, Mr and Mrs. Thomas Magee Jr., Mr and Mrs. William Magee, Mr. and Mrs. John F Conners, Mr and Mrs. Charles Rudolph, Miss Halsey, Arthur Pope, Miss Blake, Miss Pomroy, Miss Ethel Pomroy, E. This afternoon "The Wife" is being played to a big house and tonight "An Ideal Husband" will be presented. It is the story of Richard Chiltren, a young cabinet minister, who is respected as a man above reproach. His wife, who shares in this belief, has placed him upon such a pinnacle that she does not believe he could possibly be guilty of a wrong action. But Chiltren, in the first year of his diplomatic career, had sold a state secret to a speculator, thereby laying the foundation for his fortune and his present political eminence. Since that time he has been strictly honest, and as years rolled by, believed himself safe from the dangers of his early sin. In the height of his prosperity, however, disclosure is threatened. Besides the destroying of his career he feels this disclosure will cost him the love and respect of his wife. In the agony of the moment a friend prevents the public disclosure, Chiltren confesses to his wife, and, after a struggle upon her part, he is forgiven. "But life is never the same again."

Sold throughout the world. British depot: F. Newbery and Sons, 1 King Edward-st., London. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, U. S. A.

THE ROYAL MARIONETTES

AS OTHERS SEE US.

The committee which visited Stockton to see the operating of the Hayes fire truck and Oakland to see the operating of the Babcock truck, have returned and will meet Wednesday to come to some decision as to which truck is the more desirable for Fresno. —Fresno Expositor.

It is a bad sign to see the factories about the bay here closing up or moving. The latest that is announced to go is the Oakland jute mill. We should think the Oakland people would manage somehow to keep it. They ought to have as much money and as keen a perception of the advantages of factories as any one. In this connection it may be timely to remind that Alameda contains three of the largest factories in the State, and one of the largest in its line in the world. All the three are flourishing. Alameda also has a flourishing shipyard.—Alameda Argus

County Clerk Jordan has prepared plans for a new system of checks upon the county's expenditure. He will keep a detailed account and each month will furnish a report showing where every cent in each department of the county government has gone. The intention of the scheme is simply to keep an accurate record of each claim and of all department expenditures. Clerk Jordan is doing something besides drawing his salary.—Alameda Telegram.

Yesterday's services, both morning and evening, in the Trinity M. E. church south, were in the nature of a farewell. They are the last services that will be held in the church before it is removed from its present site on Broadway to the new lot on Grand avenue, near Ninth street. More than that Rev. A. C. Bane, who has been the pastor of Trinity church for the last two years, and formerly of Asbury M. E. church of Oakland, will leave next month for the Pacific conference, which is said to be held in San Francisco, and the services were therefore doubly significant. Mr. Bane will not return to Los Angeles after the conference. His term expires here September 26th and he will go into the field as an evangelist. Who will succeed him here will not be known until the conference meets. The church was made very attractive with flowers yesterday, and at the morning service Mr. Bane spoke on the subject From Pastorale to Evangelism—A Divine Call.—Los Angeles Herald.

AN UNDERGROUND CITY.

A Discovery by Russian Explorers in Asia.

The Russians have made a singular discovery in Central Asia. In Turkestan, on the right bank of the Amou Darie, is a chain of rocky hills near the Bokharan town of Karki, and a number of large caves which, upon examination, were found to lead to an underground city, built apparently long before the Christian era. According to effigies, inscriptions and designs upon the gold and silver money unearthed from among the ruins, the existence of the town dates back to some two centuries before the birth of Christ. The underground Bokharan city is about two versts long, and is composed of an enormous labyrinth of corridors, streets and squares, surrounded by houses and other buildings two or three stories high. The edifices contain all kinds of domestic utensils, pots, urns, vases and so forth. In some of the streets falls of earth and rock have obstructed the passages, but generally the visitor can walk about freely without so much as lowering the head.

The high degree of civilization attained by the inhabitants of the city is shown by the fact that they built in several stories, by the symmetry of the streets and squares, and by the beauty of the baked clay and metal utensils, and the ornaments and coins which have been found. It is supposed that long centuries ago this city, so carefully concealed in the bowels of the earth, provided an entire population with a refuge from the incursions of nomadic savages and robbers.

TOOK THE TAG.

County Clerk Jordan's Pet Spaniel Has a Caller.

County Clerk Jordan is the victim of a petty sneak thief's operations. He has no clew to the operator but he says some unscrupulous person corraled his pet spaniel last night and stole the license tag from off the collar which encircled the pet's throat. The job was neatly done with a pair of pinchers. It was not discovered until this morning and then Frank was very wroth. He had not time to make further investigation as he was obliged to leave for Sacramento at noon.

A strange man was seen prowling about the Jordan mansion in East Oakland last night but no description of the intruder was secured.

PUBLIC WORKS.

The Commissioners Dispose of the Routine Business.

At the regular meeting of the Board of Public Works last evening the street superintendent reported that C. E. H. Reed, the owner of a dump cart was not doing satisfactory work and asked for his discharge. The superintendent was given power to act in the matter. The superintendent also recommended the purchase of a steam roller at a cost of $5000. Referred to the Committee of the Whole.

A complaint from E. Gill that Filbert street between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth had not received the same attention of a street sprinkler that adjoining property got, was referred to the street superintendent.

Ebenezer Johnson applied to be appointed keeper of Independence Square, E. P. Thomas asked for a position as gardener and J. C. Ewing wanted work in the street department. All the applications were filed.

A communication from the Oakland Fruit and Produce Company in reference to a claim against Police Officer Rogers, was referred to the Committee of the Whole.

HUSBAND VERSUS WIFE.

A Tale of Marital Mishaps Told in the Police Court.

F. E. Stack and his wife Agnes had a domestic misunderstanding Monday. Mrs Stack, feeling herself worsted in the encounter, swore to a complaint, charging her husband with battery and the case was tried this morning before Judge Wood.

Mrs. Stack told how her husband, who was formerly a railroad man, had of late taken to drink and used his money to buy liquor instead of purchasing food for herslf and three little children. Monday he went in search of work and left her with only 5 cents with which to buy food. This not being enough, she went out and borrowed food. When her husbdan came home he was irritable and struck her on the head. The husband told an altogether different tale. He said that it was the wife who held the belt for drinking in their family and that on the day of the trouble she was intoxicated. He said that when he came home from San Francisco he found his wife had not started to get his dinner, but was enjoying herself with a pitcher of beer. He remonstrated with her and she became hysterical.

The defense had further testimony to offer which could not be in the court in the morning and the case was continued until 3 P. M.

PLEASURE BOAT MODEL.

Handsome Local Exhibit at the Mechanics' Fair.

Messrs. Watts & Trott, whose place of business is at the southwest corner of Third and Washington streets, shipped to San Francisco yesterday for exhibition at the Mechanics' Fair, one of the handsomest and best appointed pleasure boats ever seen on the Pacific Coast. The boat is 18 feet in length, is built of British Columbia cedar with mahogany trimmings, the fixtures being of polished brass, and altogether the boat presents a beautiful appearance.

Visitors to the Fair from Oakland should make it a point to see this product of home manufacture, as it is well worth careful examination and occupies a prominent place among the exhibits at the Fair.

If this model of workmanship may be taken as a criterion of the ability of Messrs Watts & Trott in the line of boat building they are certainly deserving of a fair share of Oakland's patronage.

Squeamish Chicago.

Dogs Can Read Character.

Wonderful tales have been told of the marvelous instinctive intelligence of dogs, but the idea of consulting a canine oracle when a man is contemplating matrimony is a new one. A French writer, however, says that before committing himself a man should note carefully how she whom he loves conducts herself toward her parents and friends, and, above all, how she treats ordinary domestic animals. "Beware of a person whom children and dogs dislike," he says. "Dogs may be our inferiors, but their instincts rarely deceive them, and a pronounced antipathy on their part may well be considered as a danger signal. No compassion should be felt for him who marries a girl whom dogs snarl at and dislike, for he has had fair warning of domestic storms."

SAN FRANCISCO NEWS.

Mrs. Louisa Worthington Again Found Guilty of Murder.

An Enormous Concourse Attends the Funeral of Frank Pixley.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—The second trial of Mrs. Louisa Worthington for the murder of Harry Baddeley, ended this morning, the jury returning a verdict of murder in the second degree.

In 1893, Mrs. Worthington shot at the ferry her paramour. It was said she had been urged to the murder by her husband.

Mrs. Worthington's defense was insanity.

The first jury returned a verdict in the second degree of murder with a recommendation to mercy.

The Supreme Court ordered a new trial on the ground of errors in the charge to the jury.

Judge Wallace sentenced the prisoner to twenty-five years.

The present verdict is without recommendation to mercy.

PIXLEY'S FUNERAL.

Frank M. Pixley was buried today. There was an immense funeral and pioneers and prominent citizens attended.

The pall-bearers were: P. L. Weaver, John Rosenfeld, Charles Webb Howard, Robert Harrison, Louis Sloss, Frank McCoppin, Ben Morgan, W. H. L. Barnes, J. P. Wethered, Judge John Hunt, S. T. Gage and W. E. Brown.

HUNTINGTON ALL RIGHT.

GIRLS RUN AWAY.

Annie Bailey a sixteen year old girl of many aliases, who has said she was a banker's daughter and has impersonated Nettie Dowd, of Monterey, to the latter's discomfiture, is the central figure of a new plan to win notoriety.

After the Dowd episode when she said she had been led astray by one Annie Jackson, she was sent to the Magdalene Asylum.

There she concocted a scheme to escape.

She enlisted several others in the plan which was to assault the Sister of Charity on guard and then to leave the house, climb the trees overhanging the wall and then drop to the ground.

This was done and Annie fell from the wall injuring herself.

She was picked up by a milkman early this morning and brought into town but was subsequently recaptured.

Other girls remained in the trees until daylight, being afraid to jump down twenty feet.

This is the first attempt to escape from the Magdalene Asylum.

A Temporary Solution Found of the Garbage Problem.

The Council committee having in charge the disposal of garbage met last evening with the health officer and decided to award a temporary contract to A. B. Tennant, as the best way out of the difficulty. Mr. Tennant will build a platform in the vicinity of the Sixteenth street station upon which garbage will be dumped from carts. This refuse will in turn be loaded upon one or more covered freight cars which will be sent beyond the boundaries of Alameda county, to a place in Contra Costa county known as the Highlands and there discharged, the Highlands, and there discharged.

Secretary Schaffer has been investigating the charges made by Councilman Buckland to the effect that the crematory in Los Angeles did not prove a success and finds that such is the fact, but he also ascertained that the crematory is not one of a standard pattern. The builders of it, Ramish & Marsh, are paid at present $16,000 a year for taking the garbage of Los Angeles out of town. It is buried in trenches and only dead animals are burned.

The street light committee of the City Council will hold a meeting this evening.

The finance committee and the committee on furniture and supplies of the Board of Education will hold a meeting Friday evening.

SOON TO ACT.

The Wilmerding School Matter Being Pushed by the Regents.

The regents of the University who have in trust the bequest of $400,000 left by Mr. Wilmerding for the establishment of a trade school will probably hold a special meeting soon to consider the proposition offered for a site. A committee was appointed at a meeting of the regents yesterday that will render a report at the next meeting.

Hon. J. West Martin, one of the regents, says about five acres of land will be required. Owing to the class of the instruction and the strong frame-work required for a suitable building he does not favor locating it in the heart of the city, but favors a suburban site. It is hoped that some generous land owner will donate the necessary property. The Board of Education has offered the use of the old High School building until a more eligible site can be obtained.

School Director Moody Sued.

Suit has been brought in Justice Lawrence's court against E. A. Moody to recover on a note given by Moody in payment of a grocery bill. The note matured some two years and four months ago and the holder now thinks that Moody should pay. Defendant Moody filed a demurrer to the complaint which was promptly overruled by Judge Lawrence. The principal point made in the demurrer was that the copy of complaint stated that the note was payable "at" the First National Bank, whereas the original complaint read "to" First National Bank. The trial of the case has been set for the latter part of the week.

The Cook's Corner.

Every good cook should know by heart that large fruits such as peaches and pears are in their best condition for canning when not quite fully ripe, and that they should be put up as soon as possible after packing. Small fruits and berries should never stand over night if it is possible to avoid this. Only the best sugar should be used in canning and in the proportion of half a pound of sugar to a pound of good fruit, varying the rule of course with the sweetness of the fruit.

A good jelly, not familiarly known, is made of pie plant. Wash the stalks well and cut into an inch long. Put them into the preserving kettle with enough water to cover them and boil a good deal more than through a sort of jelly-bag. To each pint of this juice add a pound of loaf sugar; boil again, simmering often, and when it jellies on the skimmer, remove it from the fire and put into jars.

Bread and cake boxes require a thorough washing and scalding twice a week, after which they should be aired in the sun. Bread and cake must never be put in boxes while warm, as the steam will cause them to mould quickly.

Here is a particularly nice recipe for preserving pears. Pare the fruit and drop it into cold water to prevent it from becoming discolored. When all the fruit is pared weigh it. Put the pearings into a preserving kettle or some other kettle, over which a steamer can be placed. Add to the parings three pints of water for every four pounds of fruit. When the water begins to boil put on the steamer, which should contain enough pears to cover the bottom. Watch the fruit, and as soon as it becomes tender take it up and put in a fresh supply. When all the pears have been cooked, take off the steamer and strain the liquor from the parings. To each quart add one pint of sugar. Put on the fire in the preserving kettle, and when it begins to boil skim carefully. Now add the pears and simmer for twenty minutes. Put the fruit in glass jars and cover with hot syrup. Close the jars at once. A small piece of ginger root in each jar adds flavor to the fruit. The Flemish Beauties or Sheldons are the best pears to use.

Frozen peaches make a delicious dessert for an August day. For eight persons use one pint of sugar, one of boiling water and two quarts of ripe peaches pared and sliced. Put the water, sugar and half a dozen cracked peach stones in a stew pan and boil for a quarter of an hour. Then rub the peaches through a puree sieve and strain the hot syrup on them. Stir well and then cool. When cold, freeze. Pears may be frozen in the same way.

The Cook's Corner.

Every good cook should know by heart that large fruits such as peaches and pears are in their best conditon for canning when not quite fully ripe, and that they should be put up as soon as possible after packing. Small fruits and berries should never stand over night if it is possible to avoid this. Only the best sugar should be used in canning and in the proportion of half a pound of sugar to a pound of good fruit, varying the rule of course with the sweetness of the fruit.

A good jelly, not familiarly known, is made of pie plant. Wash the stalks well and cut into ¼in inch long. Put them into the preserving kettle with enough water to cover them and boil a quarter hour; drip juice through a jelly-bag. To each pint of this juice add a pound of loaf sugar; boil again, simmering often, and when it jellies on the skimmer, remove it from the fire and put into jars.

Bread and cake boxes require a thorough washing and scalding twice a week, after which they should be aired in the sun. Bread and cake must never be put in boxes while warm, as the steam will cause them to mould quickly.

Here is a particularly nice recipe for preserving pears. Pare the fruit and drop it into cold water to prevent it from becoming discolored. When all the fruit is pared weigh it. Put the pearings into a preserving kettle or some other kettle, over which a steamer can be placed. Add to the parings three pints of water for every four pounds of fruit. When the water begins to boil put on the steamer, which should contain enough pears to cover the bottom. Watch the fruit, and as soon as it becomes tender take it up and put in a fresh supply. When all the pears have been cooked, take off the steamer and strain the liquor from the parings. To each quart add one pint of sugar. Put on the fire in the preserving kettle, and when it begins to boil skim carefully. Now add the pears and simmer for twenty minutes. Put the fruit in glass jars and cover with hot syrup. Close the jars at once. A small piece of ginger root in each jar adds flavor to the fruit. The Flemish Beauties or Sheldons are the best pears to use.

Frozen peaches make a delicious dessert for an August day. For eight persons use one pint of sugar, one of boiling water and two quarts of ripe peaches pared and sliced. Put the water, sugar and half a dozen cracked peach stones in a stew pan and boil for a quarter of an hour. Then rub the peaches through a puree sieve and strain the hot syrup on them. Stir well and then cool. When cold, freeze. Pears may be frozen in the same way.

POLICE PLACES.

J. M. Cockerton Now Entitled to Patrol a Beat.

The long standing controversy over the appointment of a regular police officer to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of William McCloud was settled by the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners yesterday. J. M. Cockerton had been recommended by Chief Schaffer shortly before the latter's retirement, but Commissioner Wilson wanted John Sherry. Cockerton, however, was finally elected by unanimous vote as a compromise candidate. Chief Lloyd having also recommended him. W. F. Woods was elected a substitute police officer.

Further recommendations from the police chief were: to reappoint Sam Mitchell police court bailiff. Continued until next meeting, pending the action to be taken requiring an additional bond to be filed by that officer.

To raise the salary of the chief's clerk from $50 to $75 a month. Referred to the Committee of the Whole.

To purchase a horse for a mounted police officer on the Watt's tract. Ex-chief Schaffer had recommended a bicycle for that beat but the new chief thought a horse would better fill the requirements. Referred to the Committee of the Whole.

The estimate of expenses for the fiscal year 1895-96 furnished by Chief Lloyd was $84,038, being $13,140 more than last year. Of this sum $12,000 was for salary for ten additional officers.

The superintendent of the Fire Alarm and Police Telegraph estimated the expenses of his department for the fiscal year at $8772.

The matter of purchasing an extra team of fire engine horses was referred to the Committee of the Whole. A resolution was adopted recommending the appropriation of $200 for that purpose.

Athletics and Success.

Some new facts have been brought out in regard to the much discussed question as to whether athletic prowess when at college is of any benefit to a man in his future career. The various university boat crews of Oxford and Cambridge have been followed up, and the achievements of their members in after life noted. It has been discovered that the Oxford 'Varsity crews have contributed to the country 31 magistrates, 4 doctors, 8 commanding officers in the army and a large number of eminent divines. To the credit of Cambridge are 80 leaders of the church militant in high standing, 50 magistrates, 2 doctors, 2 generals and 1 colonel.

MILLIONS OF GALLONS.

The Wanton Waste of Water at Alvarado Denounced.

A Mass Meeting at the Tabernacle Tomorrow Night Arranged.

The mass meeting of citizens at the Tabernacle tomorrow evening to give expression to the indignation of the community against the Contra Costa Water Company will result in far reaching effects.

It is a moral principal that is at stake, involving the right of a corporation to wantonly waste one of the necessities of human existence.

It is charged that the Contra Costa Water Company is pumping millions of gallons of water upon the marshes at Alvarado in an attempt to deplete the source of supply of a rival company.

Leading citizens of Oakland who witnessed this vandalism, properly indignant that the corporation should arrogate to itself the right to waste this water merely because they are able to pay for the operation of pumps, have decided to make a public protest in lieu of doubtful legal remedy, which may be invoked hereafter, and to this end the mass meeting at the Tabernacle has been arranged.

It is the duty of every citizen who has the welfare of community at heart to attend this meeting.

The question involved is not one of preference or prejudice for or against any company, corporation or individual—it is a proposition which must appeal to the sense of justice and fair play of every honest member of the community.

It is a matter in the direct interests of the people and the speakers who will address the meeting will show that the Contra Costa Corporation has transcended all its rights in the premises and is deserving of the censure of all citizens, irrespective of every question underlying any business competition that may be in progress in this city.

The object of the meeting is to demonstrate that there are a few rights of the people which even the Contra Costa Water Company may be compelled to respect.

PUBLIC SPIRIT.

The Ostrander Gun Company's Factory Is to Be Brought Here.

The prospects are good for having the Ostrander Gun Company locate its factory in this city.

Last evening Thomas M. O'Brien and Charles J. Swift, representing the gun company, appeared before the Merchants' Exchange and as a consequence of the conference the merchants have pledged themselves to secure a block of land in East Oakland 200x209 feet, a two story brick building and $7000 cash. The latter sum is for the payment of freight on the company's plant now locate in Boston. The gun company in return will pay a rental of 8 per cent yearly upon the entire value of the land and buildings and is privileged to buy the property at the expiration of five years for its original cost.

The finance committee of the Fourth of July celebration turned into the treasury of the exchange $178, the surplus left after the payment of all expenses.

Exchanging Notes.

The man who had spent his vacation in Missouri had his feet on his own desk once more.

"Crops?" Yes, they are in good shape, and the farmers are as happy and contented as it is possible for farmers to be.

"Good times? Yes."

"Do any business? Yes, a trifle. But—" there was trace of regret in his voice—"but I made a great mistake, a gross miscalculation."

"How?"

"Didn't take nearly enough gold bricks with me. Still, I managed to make expenses."

Then he turned to the man who had just returned from the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor Convention in Boston and murmured:

Cats for Fur.

Out of the ever-lively west comes the announcement that an immense cat-breeding farm is to be established in Cincinnati. Eight acres are to be utilized for the building and premises, and countless cats will be cultivated and cared for until their fur is old enough to have a distinct market value. The original stock is to be imported from Spain. This enterprise will be watched with breathless interest by the people of Washington and of other cities, where, in many neighborhoods, there are cats enough and to spare. The only thing that prevents residents in the infested localities from driving a lucrative trade in cat-skins is probably the fact that the variety of feline which awakens midnight echoes and fills the day with fleas and somnolency is not sufficiently select. If the Spanish cats are found equal to the Cincinnati expectations there can hardly be any reason why the imported animals should not largely take the place of the unprofitable grimalkin now in vogue—Star.

POLICE PLACES.

J. M. Cockerton Now Entitled to Patrol a Beat.

The long standing controversy over the appointment of a regular police officer to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of William McCloud was settled by the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners yesterday. J. M. Cockerton had been recommended by Chief Schaffer shortly before the latter's retirement, but Commissioner Wilson wanted John Sherry. Cockerton, however, was finally elected by unanimous vote as a compromise candidate, Chief Lloyd having also recommended him. W. F. Woods was elected a substitute police officer.

Further recommendations from the police chief were: to reappoint Sam Mitchell police court bailiff. Continued until next meeting, pending the action to be taken requiring an additional bond to be filed by that officer.

To raise the salary of the chief's clerk from $50 to $75 a month. Referred to the Committee of the Whole.

To purchase a horse for a mounted police officer on the Watt's tract. Ex-chief Schaffer had recommended a bicycle for that beat but the new chief thought a horse would better fill the requirements. Referred to the Committee of the Whole.

The estimate of expenses for the fiscal year 1895-96 furnished by Chief Lloyd was $84,038, being $13,140 more than last year. Of this sum $12,000 was for salary for ten additional officers.

The superintendent of the Fire Alarm and Police Telegraph estimated the expenses of his department for the fiscal year at $8772.

The matter of purchasing an extra team of fire engine horses was referred to the Committee of the Whole. A resolution was adopted recommending the appropriation of $200 for that purpose.

Athletics and Success.

Some new facts have been brought out in regard to the much discussed question as to whether athletic prowess when at college is of any benefit to a man in his future career. The various university boat crews of Oxford and Cambridge have been followed up, and the achievements of their members in after life noted. It has been discovered that the Oxford 'Varsity crews have contributed to the country 31 magistrates, 4 doctors, 8 commanding officers in the army and a large number of eminent divines. To the credit of Cambridge are 30 leaders of the church militant in high standing, 50 magistrates, 2 doctors, 3 generals and 1 colonel.

MILLIONS OF GALLONS.

The Wanton Waste of Water at Alvarado Denounced.

A Mass Meeting at the Tabernacle Tomorrow Night Arranged.

The mass meeting of citizens at the Tabernacle tomorrow evening to give expression to the indignation of the community against the Contra Costa Water Company will result in far reaching effects.

It is a moral principal that is at stake, involving the right of a corporation to wantonly waste one of the necessities of human existence.

It is charged that the Contra Costa Water Company is pumping millions of gallons of water upon the marshes at Alvarado in an attempt to deplete the source of supply of a rival company.

Leading citizens of Oakland who witnessed this vandalism, properly indignant that the corporation should arrogate to itself the right to waste this water merely because they are able to pay for the operation of pumps, have decided to make a public protest in lieu of doubtful legal remedy, which may be invoked hereafter, and to this end the mass meeting at the Tabernacle has been arranged.

It is the duty of every citizen who has the welfare of community at heart to attend this meeting.

The question involved is not one of preference or prejudice for or against any company, corporation or individual—it is a proposition which must appeal to the sense of justice and fair play of every honest member of the community.

It is a matter in the direct interests of the people and the speakers who will address the meeting will show that the Contra Costa Corporation has transcended all its rights in the premises and is deserving of the censure of all citizens, irrespective of every question underlying any business competition that may be in progress in this city.

The object of the meeting is to demonstrate that there are a few rights of the people which even the Contra Costa Water Company may be compelled to respect.

PUBLIC SPIRIT.

The Ostrander Gun Company's Factory Is to Be Brought Here.

The prospects are good for having the Ostrander Gun Company locate its factory in this city.

Last evening Thomas M. O'Brien and Charles J. Swift, representing the gun company, appeared before the Merchants' Exchange and as a consequence of the conference the merchants have pledged themselves to secure a block of land in East Oakland 200x200 feet, a two story brick building and $3000 cash. The latter sum is for the payment of freight on the company's plant now locate in Boston. The gun company in return will pay a rental of 8 per cent yearly upon the entire value of the land and buildings and is privileged to buy the property at the expiration of five years for its original cost.
